HEROIC SISTER.

Alice Thaw Tramps Maine Woods.

In Efforts to Release Harry Former Countess Shows Devotion.

She Follows a Rough Trail Through Downpour of Rain for Ten Miles.

Justice Mills Refuses Her Pledge of Million Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a heart-breaking tramp of ten miles over the trails of the Maine woods today, Alice Thaw failed to move Justice Mills in behalf of her brother, even when she was authorized to offer $1,000,000 in securities in pledge for his good behavior, if Harry Thaw is released in custody of his family.

Telegraphic advices tell of the hardships endured by the former Countess of Yarmouth in her efforts to reach Justice Isaac N. Mills, who is secluded on a fish and game preserve. Though the justice appreciated the brave tramp of the sincere young woman through ten miles of woods and underbrush, over a rough trail in the downpour of rain, he could listen only sympathetically to her and finally refuse her request.

Alice Thaw left White Plains on Sunday and reached Bear Island on Monday. She straightway sought a teamster to take her to Justice Mills, who is on the Mequantic preserves, and was informed it was impossible to make the trip. The rain was pouring in torrents on Monday evening, and she decided to wait until early today. She was up by daylight, and again consulted the liveryman. She was told no rig could make the trip, and that the streams were so high it was not safe for her to go by the regular road.

The former Countess is not strong of physique, but she bravely announced she would tramp over the trail if she could get a guide. None was eager for the trip in such weather, and it required an inducement in the way of double pay to get a guide to lead the young woman through the forest.

When a guide was found, she donned a rough corduroy skirt and a blouse. She declined an umbrella, knowing that in the thickets it would be a hindrance. With the rain falling heavily, she started out, chatting cheerily with her guide, and assuring him she might even outwalk him. Through the great pine forest trudged the young woman, worth several million dollars, and accustomed to luxuries and refinements. Though her feet sank in the marshy ground at times, and the underbrush scratched her face and arms, she was not downcast. The rain soaked her hair, but courageously she made her way along the trail.

She reached the Mequantic lodge after a three hours' tramp, and greatly surprised Justice Mills by her presence. Quietly and quickly she outlined to him the request that her brother be paroled in the custody of the family. She said that they were willing to give any guarantee that Thaw should be carefully guarded and never permitted to go out except in company with a guard or a member of the family. She said she and her mother stood ready to put up $1,000,000 in securities, and to agree to any stipulations to free Thaw, but Justice Mills refused all her tearful entreaties.

It was a heart-broken, footsore and weary girl that started homeward in the rain.

On receipt of this warning the Cretan authorities issued an appeal to the people not to obstruct in any way the action of the powers.

GARMENT MANUFACTURERS PLAN MODEL FACTORY.

Chicago Employers Discuss Big Central Plant With Homes, Clubhouses, Libraries and Gymnasium, Where Work of All Will Be Done With Saving in Rent and Insurance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The centralization of the combined garment manufacturing interests of this city by the erection of a group of eighty buildings, to cost approximately $5,000,000, and the abolition of the "sweatshop" by the building of homes, clubhouses, libraries and gymnasiums for 8500 employés, in brief, was the plan launched tonight by the Chicago Garment Manufacturers' Association.

The scheme devolved by Sol H. Shoninger, president of the organization, was pronounced perfectly feasible. Mr. Shoninger, together with Hugo Dubrock and Attorney Jarvis Cratty, were appointed a committee to carry out preliminary plans and search for a location. Their plants at present are scattered to various parts of the city, and a reunion of their respective industries in a central location, they desire, will mean an annual saving of thousands of dollars in rent, insurance and other items.

The combined plant will cover an area of forty acres, and drawings have already been prepared by Mr. Dubrock. At either end of the row of factory buildings will be recreation houses, including, possibly, a swimming pool, together with a library, gymnasium and rest room for employés.

MRS. BERESFORD ARRIVES.

Titled Actress from England Brings So Many Hats Customs Inspectors Gasp.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hon. Mrs. Henry Beresford, known to the stage as Kitty Gordon, arrived from Southampton today on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, to play the leading part for "Sam" Bernard in the coming production of "The Wizard." The vast number of hats in her luggage caused the customs inspectors to especially inspect the goods.

"Are you a milliner?" they asked.

"Indeed I am not," she replied, scornfully. "There isn't a hat in the lot I don't need. That's why I brought them with me."

The customs men looked a bit dubious.

"I can convince you very quickly that I have worn them all at some time or other," she went on. "You know a woman never gets her hat on straight the very first time. As I'm able to do this, you can see they are not new."

The speaker began putting on hats one after another, but before she had proceeded very far the customs men gasped and quit.

EARTHQUAKE IN ALPS.

MILAN, Aug. 17.—Two earthshocks of short duration were felt in the Alps today. No damage was done.

STOWAWAYS IN IRONS AS SPANISH TRAITORS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Manacled at wrists and ankles, three men, said to be Spanish anarchists who took a leading part in the uprising at Barcelona, are confined below decks on the Spanish liner Buenos Aires, which arrived here on Monday from Cadiz and is lying at pier No. 16, East River. Capt. P. Eldanis of the liner is said to be determined to hand these men over to the Spanish authorities at Barcelona, and he has sought to keep their presence on board a secret. His action is quite legal, as New York is merely a port of call for the Buenos Aires.

The prisoners are supposed to have stowed away on the liner at Barcelona when troops were being embarked. At Cadiz, where the troops were disembarked and fourteen of them shot because they had thrown their rifles and equipments overboard, the stowaways landed. They soon found Cadiz no refuge. The civil guards were shooting down every suspicious person. So when the ship took on passengers, the three anarchists found refuge on board.

They were not found when Spanish soldiers searched the vessel from stem to stern, and not until the liner was several days out did they show themselves. Their hunger forced them to appear. One of them is said to have been under the canvas of a lifeboat. The others had hid in the coal bunkers.

Capt. Eldanis questioned them and became convinced that they were wanted by his government. He ordered them in irons and secluded them so that even the passengers should not know they were on board.

When the Buenos Aires arrived here, however, the captain took an unusual precaution. He reported to the immigration authorities that he had no stowaways. Usually no report is made unless there are stowaways.

The Buenos Aires, after proceeding to Havana and Vera Cruz, will return to New York and then to Barcelona.

Indian Student Is Hanged.

Madha Lal Dhingra Executed at Old Bailey for Murder of Officials.

Assassin of Sir Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Lalcaca Shows No Fear.

Terrorist Maintains Air of Martyr in Jail and on the Gallows.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Marching to the gallows with the same cool bravado that has marked his demeanor ever since he startled the entire British empire July 1 by the murder of Lieut.-Col. Sir William Hunt Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Cawas Lalcaca, the Indian student and editor, Madha Lal Dhingra today paid the penalty when England broke his neck.

The hanging took place in the Old Bailey and death was instantaneous. Dhingra was not permitted to make a speech, though he desired to reiterate his claim that his act was only the forerunner of many similar killings that would continue until England ceased to oppress his native land.

At no time did he show any sign of fear. He refused to eat any breakfast, saying such an act would have been sordid and a concession to his lower nature on the verge of passing into eternity.

No opportunity was given him to make a display or gain any additional notoriety had he so desired. Those present at the execution were limited to the prison officials and the prison chaplain. Newspaper representatives were denied admission to the death chamber but were afterward given an official report of the hanging as they waited in an outer office.

Dhingra was found guilty and sentenced to death at the conclusion of a trial of less than an hour's duration. As the Lord Chief Justice concluded in pronouncing sentence, the prisoner drew himself up in military style and saluted. He said:

"I thank you, my lord. I am proud to have the honor of laying down my humble life for my country. Your sentence of death is perfectly illegal. You are all-powerful and can do what you like; but remember, we will have the power some time. That is all I have to say."

Dhingra was a well-educated and able adherent to the terrorist section of India revolutionists. He set forth his standpoint in the police court in the following words:

"I maintain that if it is patriotic for Englishmen to fight against Germans if they were to occupy this country, then it is much more justifiable and patriotic in my case to fight against the English. I hold that the English people are responsible for the murder of eighty millions of my countrymen within the past fifty years. They are also responsible for taking five hundred millions in gold every year from India." The young assassin from the Punjab added that he holds the English responsible for the hanging and deportation of his patriotic countrymen who but do as the Britons in England are bidding their own countrymen do. "If the Germans have no right to occupy this country, then the English people have no right to occupy India, and it is perfectly justifiable on our part to kill an Englishman who is polluting our sacred land."

Dhingra was a member of a highly respected family at Amritsar in the Punjab. His father is a doctor with a large practice and takes a leading part in municipal affairs. One of Dhingra's brothers is a barrister practicing in the Punjab. The latter, hearing that his brother had fallen among the extremists in London, wrote to Sir Curzon-Wyllie, whose kindness toward native students in London is known throughout India, asking him to use his good offices with Dhingra. Sir Curzon asked the secretary of the National Indian Association to invite Dhingra to the reception at the Imperial Institute, and Miss Beck, the secretary, actually paid a visit to Dhingra's lodgings with the invitation. She spoke to him at the reception.

Dhingra was regarded as somewhat eccentric, and has written several papers of a semi-religious character. He entered the University College in October, 1906, for a three-year course in civil engineering.

During his entire course he was conspicuous in Indian circles and succeeded in gathering quite a following among the extremists.

Mrs. Homer Davenport Seeks Separation on Ground of Abandonment; Asks Limited Divorce.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Daisy B. Davenport, wife of Cartoonist Homer Davenport, has sued for separation. Her attorney, George M. Judd of No. 30 Church street, admitted today that the complaint had been served upon the defendant, but refused to state if Mrs. Davenport intends to apply later for absolute divorce.

The plea for limited divorce is said to be based upon abandonment. Davenport being charged with leaving his family at his farm at Morris Plains, N. J., while he resides upon his new farm at Goshen, N. Y.

SCORCHING WEATHER.

TORRID WAVE BURNS PATH INTO SOUTHWEST.

Five Deaths in St. Louis Due to Heat—Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas All Suffer from Record-Breaking Heat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Just a little gleam of hope was given St. Louis today when the mercury failed to reach the 90 mark. For Wednesday the prediction is partly cloudy and cooler weather. Prostrations and deaths due to heat today were limited to left-over cases from the day before. Today's deaths totaled five, serious prostrations, one.

All Southwestern Missouri towns report abnormally high temperatures, Joplin reaching 104, and after the little respite of tomorrow a resumption of the hot wave is anticipated. Hot winds are reported throughout Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, burning up vegetation. Ardmore, Okla., reports the temperature there 111 today; Tulsa, 109; McAlester, 113; Eldorado, Kan., 105; Chickasha, 111.

At Little Rock, Ark., today's weather eclipsed yesterday's extreme heat by 2 degs. This morning Little Rock's temperature stood at 94 at 7 o'clock, 11 degs. above normal and the highest reading for that hour in the United States. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the government thermometer registered 103.

On Little Rock's street cars, passengers held their hats before their faces, the induced circulation of air fairly scorching their faces.

The intense hot weather caused Jim Wilder and Clay Wilbanks of Little Rock to make a unique wager today. The former bet that he could cook a raw egg inside of ten minutes on the sidewalk, where the sun would have free play. At the end of the time limit the white of the egg had turned considerably and the yolk had cooked to some extent, but the judges decided that it was a draw, because the egg was not cooked to the extent that it would have been in a frying pan.

In Missouri the early corn will be slightly damaged, as it is well advanced. Late corn will be cut very short unless rain comes within the next two days, and then it will be damaged.

Pastures which were exceedingly promising are burning up very rapidly and even with rain in the next few days they will be much damaged.

TWO DIE IN KANSAS CITY.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 17.—Severe warm weather throughout the Southwest gave way to some extent tonight to cooling breezes. The day was the most trying Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma have experienced for years. Despite the excessively high temperature, however, there were comparatively few prostrations. Two deaths were recorded in Kansas City today.

Oklahoma reported excessive heat. Government thermometers at McAlester registered 113; at Ardmore, 111; at Vinita, 110; at Oklahoma City, Guthrie and Tulsa, 106.

In Kansas City and Western Missouri the temperature was near the 100 mark all afternoon.

From Kansas points comes the report that the heat is not damaging corn seriously. Recent heavy rains put it in such good shape that the crop is practically "made."

Last night was the hottest night in Kansas City in ten years, and hundreds of persons slept outdoors.

At 9 o'clock this morning the government bureau reported a temperature of 87, three degrees hotter than at the same hour yesterday.

John Hoffman, a cab driver, prostrated yesterday, was reported dying at the general hospital. Others affected yesterday were still under treatment.

At Topeka, Kan., at 9 this morning it was 89. There the temperature reached 99 at midnight. Only one prostration was reported.

NEBRASKANS SUFFER.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NORFOLK (Neb.) Aug. 17.—The heat claimed three victims in Norfolk and vicinity last night. The dead are Carl Uhle, a prominent grocer; Carl Hughes, a retired farmer, and C. Rowe, a farmers' son.

HOTTEST DAY IN FORT WORTH.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Aug. 17.—With the weather bureau thermometer registering 111 deg. this afternoon and street thermometers recording 120 deg., today was the hottest in the history of Fort Worth so far as there is any record. Suffering was intense and business to a large extent was interfered with. Scorching hot winds sweeping across the prairies added much to the general discomfort, but no prostrations were reported.

DALLAS TORRID.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DALLAS (Tex.) Aug. 17.—Today was the hottest of the year here, the thermometer registering 108½ deg. at the government observatory.

HEAVY SNOWSTORM.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

JOHANNESBURG, Aug. 17.—The heaviest snowfall in many years occurred here today. Six inches had fallen at noon and the storm was still in progress. The telegraph and telephone services are badly disorganized and business has been almost suspended. The members of the stock exchange ceased business long enough to engage in a snowball battle.

SOUTHERN KANSAS SWELTERS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ARKANSAS CITY (Kan.) Aug. 17.—At noon today a temperature of 106 in the shade was reached, the hottest in Southern Kansas for several years.

RELIEF PROMISED.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A special announcement from the Weather Bureau today gives promise of speedy relief from the intense heat in the Middle West.

The hot spell, it is stated, will be broken in the Plains States and Missouri Valley tonight, and the fall in temperature will be attended by showers.

The next disturbance from the West will appear in the extreme Northwest Thursday, the central valley and Great Lakes Friday, and will reach the Atlantic Coast about Sunday.

SUFFERING IN SOUTH.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 17.—New heat records were established today. From all over the South and Southwest come reports of intense suffering, but few cases of prostration. The cotton growers are rejoicing over the heat wave, as they claim it is rapidly destroying the boll weevil.

STORM AT CHARLESTON.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHARLESTON (S. C.) Aug. 17.—As a result of a fierce wind and rainstorm which passed over here today, all telegraph wires leading into the city are down, and communication with the outside world is by telephone. No loss of life is reported.

The report that the city had been visited by an earthquake is a mistake.

STORM ON ATLANTIC.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

AUGUSTA (Ga.) Aug. 17.—A high windstorm approaching a hurricane in violence, prevails over the South Atlantic coast east of this point.

All telegraphic communication has been destroyed, but there are no signs of any earthquake disturbances.

PRIMARIES.

HENEY IN THE REAR.

Runs Far Behind His Ticket.

Heney's and Spreckels's Prosecutions Condemned at the Polls.

Business Men's Candidates in Lead at the Primary Elections.

Crocker Heads All Nominees for Mayoralty, Fickert for Prosecutor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The primary election which was held in this city today to select municipal candidates for the November election resulted in a close and bitter fight between two factions of the Republican party, which comprises 60 per cent of the voters of San Francisco.

The issue involved in this factional fight is really whether Heney's and Spreckels's costly prosecutions shall continue along the present lines or be dropped when it is apparent that convictions cannot be secured. William Crocker heads the business men's ticket for Mayor, while Byron Mauzy is the candidate of the Independent Republicans, representing the reform element.

At midnight a map compilation of the votes so far counted in sixty-seven precincts embracing strongholds of the various candidates in different sections of the city, which should give a very fair average of the total vote cast, show that Crocker has received 2866 votes and Mauzy 2637. If this rate holds out until the complete vote is counted, Crocker's plurality should reach a total of 2000.

The fight for the Republican nomination for District Attorney is between Charles Fickert and Francis J. Heney. The same sixty-seven precincts give Fickert 3417 and Heney 1344, indicating that Heney has actually run far behind his ticket and Mauzy's vote. This is a great surprise to everybody, for it was believed that he would receive the pledged support of the ardent supporters of the reform element to such an extent that the battle for the nomination for District Attorney would be a very close one.

Heney's name did not appear on the face of the ticket. He was running as the independent candidate of all parties, and his name had to be written on the ticket by his supporters, but it is contended by his opponents that the voters who were so ignorant as to let that fact cut any figure in their vote were not of the class who would have voted for him had his name been printed in black-faced type on the ticket.

It was the enthusiastic reformer who was supposed to give Heney his main support. It would not cause a great surprise to the knowing ones if the great graft prosecutor saw the "handwriting on the wall" and chose some other way of keeping control of the office of the public prosecutor than by allowing himself to run as an independent candidate at the election in November.

The complete returns will not all be in before late tomorrow morning. The ticket is long and complicated and counting is necessarily slow. It is claimed the entire business men's ticket will be nominated with Crocker at its head.

NOMINEES PLENTY.

NO PARTY WANTS HENEY.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—With partial returns from sixty-seven out of 149 precincts at hand, on which to base estimates, San Francisco's first trial of the direct primary for the coming municipal elections appears to have resulted in the following nominations:

For Mayor—Republican, William Crocker, candidate of the Business Men's Committee, a faction of the Republican party; Democrat, Thomas B. Leland; Union Labor, P. H. McCarthy.

Partial returns from fifty-three out of 149 precincts on the struggle for nomination for District Attorney indicates that Charles Fickert, candidate of the Business Men's Committee, has been nominated on all three tickets. The figures follow:

Crocker, Business Men, 3200.
Mauzy, Independent Republican, 2637.
Countryman, Republican, 1106.
Leland, Democratic, 728.

AGRICULTURE VS. WARSHIPS.

Chairman Yoakum's Straight Talk to Oklahomans.

Deprecates Growing Expense of Army and Navy.

Shows Farmers of Hostile State Need of Railways.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SHAWNEE (Okla.) Aug. 17.—B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the Rock Island Executive Committee, in an address today before the Farmers' Union of Oklahoma, deprecated the growing expense which the United States government is incurring in maintaining the army and navy. He declared the "grain and cotton fields of the Mississippi Valley and the West are stronger military defenses than warships."

Mr. Yoakum's subject was "The Farmer and the Railroad." He strongly advocated good roads as a means of bringing the carrier and the producer closer together.

Mr. Yoakum is making a tour of the West to observe crop and general business conditions. He said today:

"I find business conditions are good, and improvement general all along the line. Cotton is in good condition. The corn crop has been hurt in this State in some sections, but there will be more corn than last year by reason of the increased acreage.

"In other sections of the country the corn crop is magnificent."

Mr. Yoakum was tendered a luncheon by the business interests of the city, and late in the day he delivered his address before the Farmers' Union.

NATURAL PARTNERS.

"The farmers and the railroads are natural partners. The farmer must have the railroad and the railroad must have the farmer. Their interests are inseparably linked. The prosperity and success of one depends upon the prosperity and success of the other; moreover the prosperity of all business is dependent on the farmer, for the farm is the basis of the nation's credit and wealth.

"The things most needed by the farmer and the railroad, but which are neglected to the detriment of both, are a better acquaintance and closer working relations. Many controversies will arise before important questions can be settled, but they can better be thrashed out between the representatives of the two interests direct, than through political channels.

"I believe in organization. It is the only way to accomplish good results. This is a nation of organized interests, and under proper management the country is better off because of them.

"The business methods of the country are undergoing an evolution, and one of the most important problems is the proper regulation of the railroads. I am on record so often and so earnestly in favor of fair regulation by the government, that it is almost unnecessary for me to repeat what I have so frequently stated publicly, that the corporations of the country should be so regulated as to prevent discrimination or injustice to the public, giving equal and fair treatment to all, with favoritism to none.

NEEDS COMMON SENSE.

"This country now needs what our forefathers used in laying its foundation—a lot of old-fashioned common sense. Good judgment and fair dealing are found more generally among the farmers than in any other occupation, and when they earnestly take hold of public questions they will occupy a place in our political structure that will make their good judgment and fair conclusions field more and more in solving the relations of the government and its institutions.

"As a matter of comparison, let us for a moment look at this country's transportation as handled by the government and by the railroads. The splendid railroad system of the United States speaks for itself.

"Herbert Knox Smith of the Department of Commerce and Labor, in a recent report says that this government has built about forty-five hundred miles of canals, and that more than half, costing over $80,000,000, has been abandoned. This means $80,000,000 of wasted money.

"The United States government, nineteen years ago, commenced the construction of the Illinois and Mississippi Canal. Its length is seventy-five miles, and is has cost to date, with interest at 3 per cent., over $9,000,000, $120,000 per mile.

NOT OPEN FOR FREIGHT.

"To maintain this canal in its present useless condition costs the country's taxpayers $90,000 a year, exclusive of interest on the investment. A freight boat has never passed through it.

"I mention this to illustrate one undertaking of the many, which, through the lack of system or intelligent planning in advance of the construction of our inland waterways, make up the $90,000,000 that are referred to by Commissioner Smith as wasted.

"The government has expended approximately $225,000,000 on the improvement of the Mississippi River and its tributaries. The tonnage handled over the waters of the Mississippi last year was one-third less than it was twenty years ago. Professional politicians, in their public utterances, proclaim, in their efforts to prejudice the public against the railroads, that grain, coal and other commodities can be handled from St. Louis and other Mississippi and Ohio River points to New Orleans for $1 per ton, but they do not tell you that, figuring interest on the $225,000,000 of tax money expended, each ton of last year's shipment by the Mississippi River and its tributaries cost the taxpayers 96 cents a ton in interest, in addition to he freigh charges.

"I have on several occasions urged the improvement of the Mississippi River and I am not now talking against it, but only illustrating the unbusinesslike and slipshod manner in which the government is carrying on its enterprises in handling the business of its stockholders, who are the taxpayers.

FAVORS IMPROVEMENT.

"I favor improvements of our waterways to aid in the development of the country, but I favor them only when systematically and properly planned and built in such a manner that they will perform the service for which the money is expended. Otherwise the expenditure will be waste, not investment.

"Canal construction and operation are as simple as the construction and operation of railroads, when properly located and operated in an economical manner. When railroad construction is planned, every detail of cost and revenue is investigated before capital can be had for its construction. The government should use the same foresight in planning systems of waterways.

"The story of government extravagance is being told so broadly through the newspapers that the masses are beginning to realize that something is wrong. The same disregard of value of money would send the strongest private business in this country into bankruptcy. A proper use of the pruning knife in a downward revision of expenses will bring surprising results. It is not practical to itemize where reductions should be made, but they must come. The deficit should be cared for by reducing expenditures and not by raising taxes to increase revenues.

NEED OF ARMY AND NAVY.

"We should have a substantial but economically conducted army and navy. I am not speaking against the army and navy, only calling attention to the growing expense of maintaining them. Last year they cost each family of five $17, so every farmer with a family of five has a government boarder to take care of. The question is not one of the future, but of the present. We are making the initial mistake of older countries across the sea. The extension of the grain and cotton fields of the Mississippi Valley and of the West are stronger military defenses than are the warships.

"Secretary of Agriculture Wilson recently said that the most pressing needs of the United States are a greater proportion of farmers and more farming land in cultivation. We would better spend more of the money we burn up in powder in making new farms. A forty-acre farm of irrigated land will comfortably support a family of five. It costs $55,000 to make a 12-inch gun. The money that goes to pay for this gun would reclaim 1571 acres of land, providing homes for 196 people. When all the guns on all the battleships are shot one time, the government blows off in noise and smoke $150,000. This would reclaim more than 4000 acres of land, giving homes to more than 500 farmers and their families. The money consumed in powder is lost to all future. The farmer who buys the reclaimed land must pay the government back in ten years, so it does not cost the government anything to build up the country by helping the farmer.

FUNCTIONS OF GOVERNMENT.

"The function of the government should be confined to the enforcement of such laws as will guarantee the public against injustice or discrimination, and the prosecution of all violators of such regulative laws. We should, as business men devoting our lives to special lines of work, find a way through which we can work together for the mutual benefit of the producers and the transporters. Success can only be attained through cooperation, and cooperation only through systematic organization. Once inaugurated it can be made strong and powerful in its beneficial results to both interests, commercially as well as politically, to prevent unfair legislation. We cannot overlook the fact that this is essentially a political government, with different factions striving for control, all realizing that the farmers, properly organized, will become the greatest factor in American politics.

"As has been pointed out to you by President Conners of your State Board of Agriculture, 'the farmer's product is his medium of exchange.' When he has a bale of cotton ready for market, he can always sell the cotton for the market price. The only value cotton has to the farmer is what he can sell it for, and anything that helps him get a better price puts that much more money in his pocket. Cotton is not perishable and can be carried at a light charge, in properly constructed warehouses. The larger part of the cotton crop of the south is taken from the fields to the railroad station and sold by the farmers within a period of ninety days at the prevailing prices during that short time. If you would prepare to hold your cotton crop, or a portion of it, extending the season for selling through nine or ten months, instead of being forced to dispose of it at ginning time, you could select your own time to sell.

OFFERS ASSISTANCE.

"If this is considered a desirable thing for the Farmers' Union of Oklahoma, in so far as the lines for which I can speak, and no doubt other railroad men feel as I do, we shall extend every facility we can to the officers of your organization to carry out your plan of locating a chain of warehouses so that you can store your products in your own warehouses and market them to the best advantage and at the least expense. To do this and to do it successfully, it will be necessary for this branch of your organization to be handled under the same principles and business rules that govern other commercial enterprises.

"We shall also be glad to join in formulating a plan to assist you in expeditiously marketing your perishable products. In so doing we will extend to the officers and agents of your organization every means and all reasonable facilities we can under the law to enable you to keep in touch with the cars shipped to the market so that you may know that your products are both properly transported and marketed.

"Much has been said concerning the enactment of a law to prevent one railroad company controlling another through the ownership of its stock. According to press reports, one of the plans suggested a few days ago by the Attorney-General of the United States, in addressing the Bar Association of Kentucky, was to forbid any corporation owning a majority of the stock of another engaging in interstate business. This in theory may sound well, but in practice it would result to the detriment of the farmer, as well as to all other shippers, so long as the railroads are managed in obedience to the existing laws.

WOULD HAMPER ROADS.

"Viewed from every standpoint, any man who fairly investigates the question cannot consistently arrive at any other conclusion than that the farmers and the railroads' interests are best served as the roads are now operated, and to interfere with the operation of the large systems of railroads as they are now organized would hamper them in performing their duties to the public without accomplishing any good results.

"To use a home illustration: The Frisco system ten years ago was less than one thousand miles, giving poor service in three States. It is today composed of twenty-eight different railroads, rendering good service in eleven States. Any one giving the matter serious consideration, without a desire to try out new political theories, must see the advantage to the public of operating all these different railroads under one system, rather than under separate managements.

"The large systems can help the farmers in marketing their products, but to do so to the best advantage must be supported by the farmers of the nation in asking that this important instrument of commerce be not disturbed in its efficiency to serve them best both in transportation and in market aid, and that untried political theories be not allowed to be injected into the laws of our country, changing the present system of handling its commerce.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

"Another subject, important alike to the interest of the farmer and the railroads, is good roads. We have numberless instances where the construction of a railroad has advanced the value of farm lands from $10 to $50 per acre. We also have many instances where the improvement of the public roads has increased farm values from $10 to $50 per acre. Therefore, saying nothing about the relative comforts of a good road over a bad one, good roads are a splendid investment for the farmer.

"According to the office of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, the average cost to haul a ton of farm produce one mile in this country is 25 cents. The Americana Encyclopedia tells us that similar service on European highways costs but 8 cents. We have as good teams as the farmers of Europe. It is the condition of the roads that makes the difference. The public roads office also states that on farm and mining products, by having as good roads as those in Europe, a saving could be made in the transportation of same of $250,000,000 a year, $27,000,000 of which would be saved on the three products of wheat, corn and cotton.

IN PROPER CONDITION.

"As the farmer uses both the railroads and wagon roads more than any other class of citizens, he is entitled to have them both in proper condition to handle his business as cheaply and promptly as possible.

"There are now several enterprising towns of Oklahoma which offer from $40,000 to $50,000 to secure railroads from fifty to a hundred miles in length. This should not be. The laws of the country should so protect and encourage investments in railroad construction as to prevent the necessity of citizens having to contribute to help build them. I would prefer to see cash contributions to induce railroad construction expended in improving roads leading to the farming districts from the towns making the donations, confining the railroad donations to terminals and franchises. The expenditure of the money in this way will help the farmer make a better profit and more money out of his products, which will benefit the railroads and the community at large.

"There is no work more important than to build public roads in such a manner that they will be permanent and economical in maintenance. Otherwise the money expended would be largely wasted.

"In addition to good public roads, Oklahoma needs 5000 miles of additional new railroad to properly develop the State.

"New railroad construction is one of the serious problems of the day.

"One of the greatest factors of our marvelous growth in the last twenty-five years has been the construction of the 106,000 miles of new railroads.

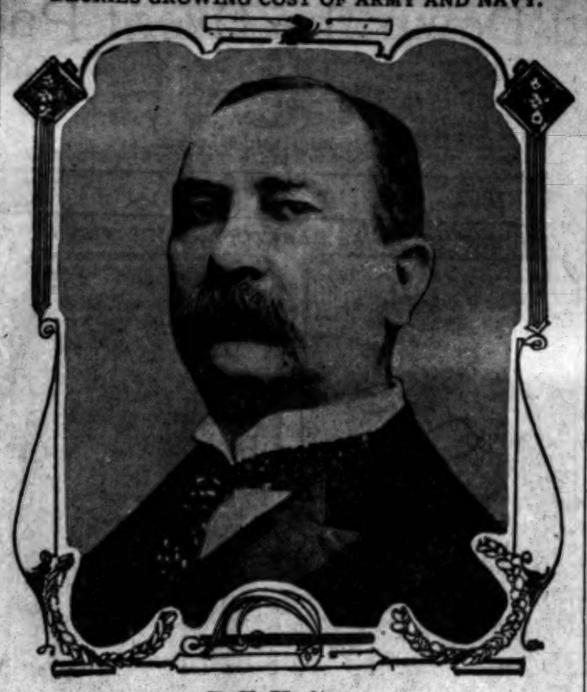
"To construct, ballast, equip and furnish terminal facilities for the 106,000 miles of railroad constructed in the last twenty-five years required an expenditure each year of not less than $200,000,000, which were paid out for labor and material.

LITTLE NEW CONSTRUCTION.

"Railroad construction has practically been abandoned. There is no great construction under way, and no encouragement for the near future. This is the one disappointing sign of the country's future growth and prosperity. New railroad construction is just as essential for the great development that should take place in the next twenty-five years as it was in the last twenty-five.

"If I were asked to name the most effective way to check this country's growth, I would say, stop railroad construction for a few more years, and our country will become a nation of industrial decadence.

"Our Secretary of State sounds the keynote for the development of China, when he says: 'The American dollar with the American man behind it and the American government behind both.' That is a broad and comprehensive policy to outline, and if we again enjoy a constructive, rather than an obstructive policy, this government must adopt as liberal an attitude towards its own country as it does towards foreign countries in giving American builders the some encouragement and support."



B. F. Yoakum,
Chairman of Rock Island Executive Committee, who yesterday addressed Oklahoma farmers.

Tempelhoefer Field Is Being Prepared for Exhibitions by American, While Count Expects to Arrive in Zeppelin III on August 23—Immense Crowds Coming to Performance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN (Germany) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Orville Wright and Count Zeppelin will be afforded an opportunity to observe each other's achievement in aerial navigation next week, as it is considered highly probable that they will meet here. Wright is expected to arrive on Friday and preparations for his reception are actively proceeding.

The starting rails and much of the other necessary equipment are already being erected on the Tempelhoefer field, the great militarp parade ground in South Berlin, where the ascents are planned to take place. It is not expected, however, that the American can fly before August 24 and the subsequent ascents will be extended over another week.

Count Zeppelin, according to the present programme, will arrive in Berlin August 23, in his dirigible Zeppelin III to remain for several days while his airship is placed on public exhibition. The opportunity to witness the performances of two of the leaders in the rival fields of aëronautics is expected to attract enormous crowds.

STRIKERS FIRE ON FERRY.

Pressed Steel Car Company Now Has Two Thousand Men Ready to Work.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—At the Pressed Steel Car Company's works at McKee's Rocks today it is claimed that more than 2000 new men are housed in the various departments and it is probable the company will today or tomorrow make the first real attempt to resume operations.

A large number of families are destitute. A score of shots were fired this morning at the ferry steamer Steel Queen by strike sympathizers. No shots struck the boat.

The State constabulary reached the river bank within a few minutes and drove the crowd to the hills. The ferry is used to carry employés of the Pressed Steel plant across the river.

ABRUZZI TO RETURN.

ALLAHABAD (India) Aug. 17.—The Duke of the Abruzzi will return from Kashmir to Bombay, whence he will proceed to Italy, as soon as his expedition has explored the entire glacier system of which the Baltero Glacier is the center. The results of the expedition are considered valuable.

Members of the American club of the City of Mexico, are forming a military company, which will tender its service to the Mexican Government for protection of American residents, if any necessity arises, according to H. N. Harrison, who is at New Orleans en route East.

STORM BREAKS ON AIRSHIPS.

Early Spectators at Rheims Panic-Stricken.

Wright Machine Narrowly Escapes Gale.

Curtiss Injured to Please Woman Visitor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RHEIMS (France) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An earnest of what may be expected during the aviation contests next week, if the elements are unpropitious, was given here late yesterday afternoon when a sudden and terrific storm flooded parts of the aërodrome and drove the few hundred spectators, panic-stricken, back to the city along a route strewn with overthrown advertisements and collapsed roadside cafés.

A shed designed for a dirigible balloon was also toppled over, and a Wright machine driven by Tesselhandler was shot along through the air by gusts of wind, traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour. The aviator succeeded in housing the machine just before the storm burst in all its fury. The immense canvas roof of the grand stand shivered in the blast, but to everybody's relief and comfort it stood the test.

When calm again prevailed, Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, made three short ascents, thus satisfying the curious, many of whom were anxious to see what sort of a figure he would cut in the competition next week. The impression he made was favorable. His machine seemed to be entirely manageable, though no great speed was attained. In order to please a woman who had been up ever since 5 o'clock a.m. to see him fly, Curtiss made a third flight, which ended in a mishap both to him and the machine. His foot got twisted from the too-sudden descent, while the shock to the machine made it necessary to spend the rest of the day in making repairs.

Mr. Curtiss declares himself to be quite satisfied with his first trials. He certainly has made himself the subject of favorable comment here.

PARIS VERSION OF WRECK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PARIS, Aug. 17.—L'Auto today gives the following account of the accident yesterday to Glenn Curtiss, the American aviator, and his aëroplane, at Rheims:

"Curtiss made two flights with beautiful facility, landing each time after two minutes to tune up. The machine then sailed away for the third time and it was evident that Curtiss was planning a longer flight. But his motor became erratic and then stopped, the wind forcing him to an abrupt descent and he fell heavily. The aëroplane is in a sad state, and it is a question whether he will be able to take part in the first day's meeting of 'Aviation Week.'"

CURTISS REPAIRS MACHINE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RHEIMS, Aug. 7.—Leaning heavily on a cane and suffering from injuries received when his aëroplane fell during a practice spin yesterday, Glen H. Curtiss, the American aviator, today superintended the repairs to his damaged machine, and tonight had the satisfaction of seeing it entirely restored and ready for flight.

Mr. Curtiss is eager to start immediately with the trials, but his friends are endeavoring to dissuade him from taking any chances, declaring that he is likely to augment his injury and prevent his participation in the races which begin next Sunday.

Mr. Curtiss describes the accident as being primarily due to a leak in the gasoline lamp which caused the motor to stop. After this, cross-currents of air forced him heavily to the ground.

French entrants for the aviation-week races made practice flights tonight. Miss Tissandier, in a Wright machine, flew for three minutes, and was followed immediately by M. Lefevre, also in a Wright bi-plane, who rose in the air without the use of a derrick, and spun around the field for twelve minutes.

M. De la Grange, with a Blariot monoplane, succeeded in making a brief flight after a false start. The races are expected to mark an epoch, and, as far as the types of aëroplanes are concerned, to demonstrate the respective values of monoplanes and biplanes. Of the thirty-eight aëroplanes entered for the races, twenty three are bi-planes and fifteen monoplanes.

At an early age his lungs became affected and he was advised to seek a warmer climate. This induced him in 1840 to go with his wife and his son, Benjamin Beinish, to Jerusalem. Salant was an eminent Talmudist.

Eccentric Hermit Built Twenty Rooms to Entertain Spirits of Friends.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEBANON (Or.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When the dead body of Andrew Hale, hermit and eccentric character, was cut down after he had committed suicide by hanging, more evidence of a strange life was found.

Hale's house had a basement of stories and an attic. He had built in all about twenty additions to it, mostly small rooms, each for the abode of a departed spirit of one of his friends. The house was filled with all sorts of curious things, gathered together to amuse the spirits of his dead friends when they should honor him with their presence.

A vast lot of shoe strings, several clocks, musical instruments and various articles were there. The collection must have cost him more than $2500.

HOW TO SEAL POACHERS.

Withdraws Subsidy Which Has Been Paid to Vessels Engaged in Fishing.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—According to a statement issued from the consulate, the Japanese government withdrawn the subsidy granted to vessels engaged in hunting seals and sea otters for the purpose of check the operations of poachers among the islands off Japan coast. The statement can not be generally known in that the Japanese government for many years subsidized vessels engaged in deep-ocean hunting, for the purpose being to encourage the development of the industry. It is now learned that the Japanese government has revised its fishing laws in such a way as to cut out all aid from the national treasury to vessels engaged in hunting seals and sea otters. The new imperial ordinance went into operation July 1, 1909."

FARM PROBLEMS DISCUSSED.

American Association of Institute Workers Elects Officers at Portland Convention.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 17.—As the speakers yesterday of the American Association of Farmers' Institute Workers dealt only with larger and broader phases of the work, so today the papers were confined almost wholly to the technical points.

The report of the Nominating Committee was adopted this afternoon, and the following officers elected: President, G. A. Putnam, Toronto, Ont.; vice-president, A. M. Soule, Athens, Ga.; secretary-treasurer, John Hamilton, Washington, D. C.; Executive Committee, W. F. Clarke, Berkeley, Cal.; Vale Keyser, Lincoln, Neb.; Franklin Dye, Trenton, N. J.

Just before adjournment this afternoon an animated discussion arose over the appropriateness of domestic science in the institute work and the value of women in the institutes. The question did not come to a vote, but there was unquestionably a heavy majority in woman's favor.

The convention passed a resolution indorsing the efforts of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations to extend agricultural training to secondary schools.

KILLS THOUSAND-POUND BEAR.

Capitalist Rids Trinity County of Monster Grizzly, Long Terror of the Ranges.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas McDonald, a well-known mining man and capitalist, has won the distinction of ridding Trinity county of the terror of the ranges by killing what is undoubtedly the biggest grizzly ever seen in the northern part of the State.

The monster grizzly, weighing close to 1000 pounds, has for years been striking terror to the hearts of the residents of the Salmon River range, killing sheep and doing other depredations.

McDonald, who is an expert rifle shot, undertook to rid the county of the nuisance, and has accomplished his task. After a short though fierce struggle, the bear was killed, and McDonald now has the trophies of the chase in the way of the biggest bear skin ever seen in the Trinity region, and has been voted a resolution of thanks by the residents of the section the bear had terrorized.

DAM STANDS CLOUDBURST.

Laguna Reclamation Work Shows No Damage from Monday's Storm. Colorado River Rising.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Aris.) Aug. 17.—The report that the Laguna dam, twelve miles above Yuma, is out as a result of yesterday's heavy storm, is entirely without foundation. Engineer L. M. Lawson, who made a trip of inspection to the dam this morning, is authority for the statement that the work of the reclamation forces at that point shows not the slightest effect of the cloudburst, everything holding to the last unit.

The Colorado River has risen three feet since yesterday morning, and is still rising. The Gila is also rising, but no danger is anticipated from either stream, as levees and ditches are all in first-class shape.

REWARD SPURS CLIMBERS.

TWO LOST ON MT. TACOMA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TACOMA, Aug. 17.—The offer of $500 reward by the family of Joseph W. Stevens, who, with T. V. Callaghan, is lost on Mount Tacoma, has spurred expert mountain climbers to renewed efforts to find the men, dead or alive. A party left for the summit this morning. Stevens was a contractor of Trenton, N. J. Callaghan was a student of nature and psychology, and lived in Portland. He went up Mount Tacoma with the purpose of obtaining data for a book he was writing.

NEW MENACE TO CATTLE.

POISON IN FEED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cattle are dying in considerable numbers in the Carson sink, east of Fallon, Nev., where they graze during this period of the year in large numbers. The cause of the epidemic is said to be the condition of the food, which, in seasons following high water, absorbs a poison from the receding waters that proves fatal to stock when eaten in large quantities. For some time the State authorities were in a quandary as to the cause of the general death of the stock. The trouble occurred entirely with the stock grazing over the lands submerged from overflows in the spring and early summer and a scientific test is being made to ascertain the nature of the poison resulting from such chemical action under these conditions. It is a new cause of alarm among the cattle men of Nevada.

TITANS AT WAR.

HARRIMAN AND HILL IN BIG BATTLE OVER OREGON LINER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sensational charges of perjury and fraud against the Oregon Trunk Railroad, and allegations that that corporation has no right to do business either in Oregon or elsewhere, because of a host of illegalities said to have characterized its course since the day of its birth under the laws of the State of Nevada, marked the opening of a gigantic legal battle between Harriman and Hill attorneys for the control of the Des Chutes Cañon and a route to Central Oregon, in the Federal court today.

The very validity of the Oregon Trunk line was bitterly assailed by Attorney W. W. Cotton of the Harriman lines in an argument that lasted for nearly three hours. He went exhaustively into the various details upon which he based his charges.

Late last evening Mr. Cotton had filed in the Federal court a mass of affidavits covering many hundreds of typewritten pages. Among these was an affidavit from the man said to have made the survey upon which the Oregon Trunk road secured the approval of the Secretary of the Interior for the road up the cañon, to the effect that no survey has ever been made by the railroad company. This affidavit further set forth that this survey, under which all the conflicting points in the rights of way of the two lines have occurred, was an old survey made before the Oregon Trunk was ever incorporated, and that it was bought by that company and the map of it filed illegally with the Secretary of the Interior as the road's own survey.

Following these affidavits, Mr. Cotton fired his second heavy broadside of the day with a long cross bill of 125 pages, filed at 11 o'clock in the morning. In this cross bill occurred the allegations that Mr. Hill's road is not legal and never has been, and that it has no more rights in the cañon than if it had never been organized.

The case before the court also took a new turn when Mr. Cotton in this cross bill prayed for a restraining order to prevent the Oregon Trunk from working on the conflicting right of way in question, where such an order is now in force against the Harriman road, until the final settlement by the court of the legal points involved. The hearing today was on the temporary injunction recently secured by Porter Bros. restraining Twohy Bros., for the Harriman interests, from working on disputed portions of twelve miles of right of way on the upper Des Chutes.

If there had been no new developments yesterday the whole controversy would have been fought out on the question as to what road had the priority of right to its survey along the disputed ground. But the delicate points of law sprung by Mr. Cotton in his cross bill and affidavits have carried the case beyond its original limits, which will require much argument and time to settle.

The relief prayed for along the conflicting twelve miles of survey in the present case, in the complaint of the Oregon Trunk and in the cross bill of the Harriman people filed yesterday, is a permanent injunction in each instance. Pending the litigation that will be involved in fighting out the issues involved, each side seeks a temporary injunction restraining the other from working on the ground in conflict.

BURNED RESCUING CHILDREN.

MOTHER'S CONDITION CRITICAL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PETALUMA, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Louis Francis was so badly burned today in rescuing her three small sleeping children from their cottage on a ranch in the Wilson district that her condition is critical. Francis and his wife were out picking blackberries, when they saw flames breaking from the roof of the house. They rushed to the rescue, and carried the children out, although both parents and all three children were severely burned.

Mrs. Francis and the youngest child were brought to a hospital here. The doctors held out little hope for the recovery of either. The home was burned to the ground. The cause of the fire is not known.

MILLIONAIRE SUES SEATTLE.

WAS ARRESTED AS A DRUNK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 17.—Samuel A. Bonnifield, owner of a bank in Beloit, Kan., president of the First National Bank of Fairbanks, Alaska, and reputed to be a millionaire, sued the city of Seattle today for $150,000 damages for false imprisonment last March when he was found helpless on the street, taken to the Police Station, booked as drunk and then taken to a hospital where he was under treatment for three weeks.

ELECTRICITY SMELTS IRON.

Carload of Pig Received at Redding from New Process Plant at Heroult.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

REDDING, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An industrial event of great importance to Shasta county and to the State, for that matter, was the receipt here today of a carload of pig iron, twenty tons, from the electric process iron smelter at Heroult on the Pitt. The iron was delivered to a local foundry at $25 a ton, or less than it could be bought for at tidewater. It is pronounced to be the finest quality for casting purposes.

The electric process iron smelter at Heroult is in operation, producing twenty-five tons of pig-iron a day without the use of any blast or coke. The plant has not settled down to a steady gait for there are a few minor defects to be remedied, but the great problem has been solved—that pig iron can be produced in commercial quantities at a profit by the electrical process, invented by Dr. Heroult, the noted French scientist, and modified by Prof. D. A. Lyon of Stanford University, who has had charge of the smelter at Heroult, while it was being rebuilt on a commercial basis and remodeled during the past year and a half.

The Noble Electric Steel Company has spent over a quarter of a million dollars at Heroult and the receipt today in Redding of a carload of pig iron from Heroult is tangible evidence that the smelter is a success.

DRYS MAKING HARD FIGHT.

Anti-Saloon League Has Glenn County Election Canceled to Secure Fair Conditions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILLOWS, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dissatisfied with the conditions under which the call for an election on the saloon question was issued by the Glenn county Board of Supervisors, leaders of the Anti-Saloon League demanded what they claimed as their rights, and when these were denied asked that the election called for October 12 be canceled.

An order was made to that effect. The Anti-Saloon League will now devote its efforts to strengthening itself in every precinct and will put its own ticket in the field at the next county election, after which it will call an election on what it calls fair conditions and settle the question of "wet or dry."

In the meantime, the league will wage warfare to drive the saloons out of Willows, the only incorporated town in the county.

FOREST FIRE LOSSES LESS.

To Date, Only One-Fifth as Large as Those of Last Year Up to Present.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Careless people who go camping have become much more careful, for the vigilance of the fire wardens has wonderfully increased, for the loss from forest and field fires so far this summer has been only one-fifth of last year's loss to date. Several arrests and convictions have been made and perhaps the careless ones have been taught to fear the fire wardens under State Forester Lull, and the ever-watchful forest rangers. To date this year there have been but four fires of any consequence and the largest single loss was $5000, from the recent Linda Vista fire, near Pasadena. The total loss is reported at $14,500 to date this year, as compared with a $75,000 loss for the same period last summer.

GAME WARDEN SAFE.

SECURED EVIDENCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] M. F. Smith, the Chico game warden who left his home last Friday and whose disappearance led to the fear that he had been killed by violators of the game laws, returned to his home yesterday. He had been over on the Sacramento River watching for a party who had been dynamiting fish in a small lake. He believes he has enough evidence to send the violators to San Quentin.

BREAKING VINTAGE RECORD.

ON VINA RANCH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A million gallons of wine is the estimated vintage of this year's grape crop on the Vina ranch in Tehama county, breaking all records. It is not generally known, but this is the largest vineyard in the world. The picking of grapes will commence next Monday, and a small army of men will be employed for two and one-half months gathering the crop. Vineyard Foreman Frank Holloman says that the crop of grapes this year will be much heavier than formerly, and much new vineyard, set out two years ago, will bear fruit. The immense wine cellar, fermenting-house and distillery have been overhauled by a force of mechanics, and are now ready for the grape crushing.

MORE TROUBLE IN SIGHT.

SEATTLE, Aug. 17.—Irrigation men of Montana, Idaho, Oregon, California and Utah scheduled to address the first National Conservation Congress convening in this city August 26, 27 and 28, have written to the executive board of the Washington Conservation Association, under the auspices of which organization the congress will be held, that they desire to reopen the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy, as they feel it will be only justice to both Ballinger and Pinchot that the trouble shall be thrashed out fully.

Although the officers of the State Conservation Association are anxious to avoid a repetition of the Spokane fight, they admit that stormy sessions of the congress will result.

TO PLANT FORESTS.

SISSON, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sites are to be established in the Shasta National Forest for ten forest nurseries, at which will be propagated all manner of forest trees for planting in this and other national forests as needed. Every native variety forest tree that is of value, and many varieties imported for experimental purposes, will be planted and shipped to various points. O. N. Tortensen, an expert in propagation of forest trees, has been sent here by the forest service, permanently detailed to the Shasta National Forest to select and plant these nurseries, and the work will be commenced immediately.

Search for the remains of Capelli, the other workman, is being continued by a large force of workmen.

Steamer Turns Turtle Near Dock.

Walks Far With Throat Cut.

KALMA (Wash.) Aug. 17.—Earl Patterson, a tramp, after walking more than a quarter of a mile with his throat cut, was found dying on the porch of C. C. Rullson's home. DECLINE IN COAL DIGGING.

Financial Depression Hits Production.

Year's Total Millions of Tons Short.

Records of Accident Victims Still Large.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The effect of the national depression beginning in 1907 and continuing in 1908, was the most powerful factor in a marked decline in the production of coal in the United States in 1908, as compared with the preceding year, according to statistics made public today by the geological survey.

The total production of coal in the United States in 1908 was 415,842,696 short tons, having a spot value of $522,314,117. Of this total 74,347,107 long tons with a spot value of $158,-178,849 was Pennsylvania anthracite, and 332,573,944 short tons, with a spot valde of $374,135,242, was bituminous coal and lignite.

The total production of both anthracite and bituminous coal used in 1908 showed a decrease of 84,550,727 short tons, or 13.43 per cent. in quantity, and $32,484,781 of 14.42 per cent. in value.

In the production of bituminous coal, however, the decrease in 1908 amounted to 62,185,168 short tons, or 15.75 per cent. in quantity, and to $77,979,574, or 17.09 per cent. in value.

The total number of men idle because of labor troubles in 1908 in the bituminous regions was 145,168.

While the record for accidents for 1908 was in favorable contrast to the year preceding, says the report, still the number of victims was regrettably large. In twenty-two States, 2450 men were killed and 6772 injured in the coal mines.

The coal mines gave employment in 1908 to a total of 696,423 men, against 680,492 in 1907.

"The surplus of labor was general throughout the country," says the report.

UNDERHANDED BLOW.

LOEB ANGRY AT UNION EDITOR.

MAY BRING SUIT AGAINST LABOR UNION LEADER.

Collector of Port at New York Writes to Samuel Denedrey Protesting Against Insinuating Article Relative to Audit System Inaugurated in Government Printing Office.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Court proceedings by William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, are said to hang over the head of a local labor leader.

Mr. Loeb has written to Samuel Denedrey, the editor of a local trades union paper, protesting vigorously against a recent article in the paper stating that Mr. Loeb contemplates appointing Charles A. Stillings, former public printer, to a position of trust in the New York customs service, and which concluded with the question:

"Who was at the head of the audit system?"

It is understood Mr. Loeb took offense at what he believed to be a veiled insinuation that he was interested in the audit system, which was inaugurated at the government printing office by Mr. Stillings and which, ultimately, was responsible primarily for the resignation of Mr. Stillings as public printer.

Mr. Loeb intimates that it is his intention to carry the matter into the courts.

Mr. Denedrey says he was absent from the city when the article appeared in his paper and does not know how it got into print.

GAS FOR MEN-OF-WAR.

NEW FUEL CONSIDERED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Gas as a motive power on men-of-war, is a possibility of the future, in the opinion of naval experts here.

It would mean a material reduction in coal consumption, and a greater steaming radius for the ships and would void the necessity of stopping too often to replenish the coal bunkers.

Admiral Cone, who commanded the torpedo flotilla on its way from the Atlantic Coast to San Francisco, and who now is chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, is gathering information on the subject, and recently sent Commander White to visit several large manufacturing plants in the West.

HIDING ON SHEEP RANCH.

John A. Dickinson Who Left Million-Dollar Indebtedness Believed to Be in West.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hunted by creditors and the police of two continents, John A. Dickinson, former head of the board of trade concern of John A. Dickinson & Co., who disappeared from Chicago last April, leaving an indebtedness of nearly $1,000,000, is now believed to be in hiding on a sheep ranch in the West.

During a short residence in Paris, following his sensational disappearance from Chicago which threw his concern into the hands of a receiver and resulted in his suspension from the Board of Trade, he is said to have ingratiated himself into the confidences of several wealthy foreigners, upon whom, it is charged, he unloaded American securities, which have proven not worth their face value. These alleged operations amounted to thousands of dollars.

He disappeared from Paris nearly a month ago, and inquiry has been made of the Chicago interests regarding his whereabouts.

At the office of his lawyer, George W. Plummer, it was said that Mr. Dickinson's present residence was not known.

Brokers who dealt through the Dickinson concern assert that the head of the company, upon his departure from Chicago, carried with him valuable securities, leaving the assets of the company very small.

The company maintained offices in several of the large cities of the country, and the failure affected many societies. For the local interests, the American Trust and Savings Bank was appointed receiver.

FREEMEN'S AID ELECTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.—The executive board of the Freemen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church here has elected Rev. J. T. Docking to be president of Rust University, at Holly Springs, Miss. The election was made necessary by the abrupt resignation of Rev. D. F. English of Cincinnati, who said he had been threatened by a mob at Ethel, Miss., because he had shaken hands with a colored presiding elder.

FLORISTS IN CONVENTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.—The Society of American Florists and Horticulturists, organized in Cincinnati twenty-five years ago, and holding a national charter granted it by President McKinley, began its twenty-fifth annual session here today. Delegates are here from all parts of the United States.

DUCKS FOR STREET CLEANERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BELLEFONTAINE (O.) Aug. 17.—The white wings of the town of Lake View, near here, are literally white wings now. They are ducks. Recently the finances of the village fell to such a shallow ebb that it was impossible to longer employ a street sweeper, so his services were dispensed with. Still there remained a few dollars in the treasury. One of the Aldermen proposed that the money be invested in a flock of ducks, which would forage in the street and eat the rubbish. Lean ducks were bought and turned loose in the streets. They started in to eat the waste from the streets at one end of the town in the morning and to eat to the other end when they are turned backward or shifted to another street.

PREACHER TO ADVISE POLICE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Aug. 17.—The Rev. Dr. Harris R. Cooley yesterday become advisory head of the police, public safety, fire and building inspection departments. He also will have charge of the charities and correction work he has built up, which has attracted national attention. Dr. Cooley, ten years ago, was pastor of Mayor Johnson's church.

TENTS FOR SICK PUPILS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DETROIT (Mich.) Aug. 17.—A special meeting of the Detroit Board of Education is to be held tomorrow evening to act upon a proposal to establish a tent or outdoor school for tuberculous children. Food, nurses and the services of a cook would be provided by the Detroit Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the school board would provide the grounds and a teacher. Infectious cases would not be admitted. It is estimated that the school would start with an attendance of fifteen pupils, and that the meals served would cost 25.7 cents per meal served for each child.

EARTHQUAKE IN ILLINOIS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—According to a special dispatch to the Globe-Democrat from Waterloo, Ill., an earthquake was felt in that town and in Columbia and Red Bud late yesterday. No damage resulted.

REVOLT FROM CITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—Two hundred citizens of Welleston, a newly-incorporated city, in St. Louis county, last night pledged themselves to a programme of defiance against the authorities of the municipality and the ordinances which the latter have enacted or may pass. Plans for a defense in the courts of such of the "insurgents" as may be arrested were adopted, and attorneys retained to look after the interests of those who may find themselves engulfed in the sea of legal complications which has complicated the launching of the new ship of state. The 200 "anarchists," as the constituted authorities of Welleston dubbed them, are charter members of the "anti-incorporation league." Without exception they contested the formation of the city, asserting that annexation to St. Louis was preferable. This struggle was carried into the courts and lost to the organizers of the city, but since then quo warranto proceedings have been instituted in the Missouri Supreme Court, and are scheduled to be heard in October. Meanwhile, the "antis" will refuse to pay licenses or taxes, will resist the enforcement of ordinances and defy the three members of the city's police force, its Mayor, Board of Aldermen and prosecuting attorney. Arrests will be welcomed and in all cases a change of venue will be asked from the St. Louis County Court, the tribunal which decided that the incorporation of the city was legal.

LEAPS ON MAN, SAVES HIM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—When Miss Ruth Rodgers leaped feet foremost from a raft in the lake at Manhattan Beach yesterday she touched with one of her feet the body of a man lying on the bed of the lake. Her cries for help, when she arose to the surface, brought former Congressman Charles H. Wharton and others, who were swimming near by. Mr. Wharton dove and satisfied himself that what Miss Rodgers had touched really was the body of a man, and after repeated efforts the rescuers were successful in bringing it to the surface. They were astonished to find that breath still remained, although the victim was unconscious. When he had been resuscitated after an hour's work, he said he was John Tushocki. He is 23 years old. He was unable to say how he came into his plight, but it is believed by those who were at the beach that in diving from a post he struck a great rope, stretched as a life line, and was rendered unconscious.

SMUGGLERS ON ISLAND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—A band of Chinese smugglers, using Fighting Island, a deserted bit of land ten miles down the river, inside the Canadian border, as the base of their operations, is believed to have been broken up by the capture of three young Detroit men and two Chinese in Lansing. It is the belief of the authorities that the gang, checkmated at every turn, hit upon the deserted island as headquarters, and that Chinese to be smuggled were taken in hand upon their arrival in Windsor and secreted on the island until the opportunity offered to take them across the line in a launch, where they were to be taken away in automobiles.

AFTER THE BIG GAME.

JEROME SEES HAND OF HIGH FINANCIERS BEHIND PERSCH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—In opposing a plea for a reduction of the $50,000 bond under which Donald L. Persch, a note broker, is being held on a grand larceny indictment, Dist.-Atty. Jerome today declared his belief that the wrongful sale of Heinze mining stock collateral, in which Persch is alleged to have figured, was but one of the allegations of conspiracy in which men "in high finance" had combined to "crush a rival."

Persch was arraigned to plead to the indictment charging him with having procured from the Windsor Trust Company, and sold, about $100,000 worth of mining stock which M. M. Joyce, a broker, who frequently acts for F. Augustus Heinze, had deposited as collateral for a loan.

John F. McIntyre, Persch's attorney, declared that Persch had been "a cat's paw in the hands of wiser and more experienced men."

Persch's attorney was unable to get the court to consent to the reduction of bail.

Mr. Jerome said if before Monday Persch should consent to tell the District Attorney's office the facts of the entire transaction, in which it was claimed he was an "instrument in the hands of dishonest people," the District Attorney's office would be glad to consent to consider the reduction.

MILITARY MANEUVERS.

ARMY OF REDS ADVANCING TOWARD CAPTURE OF BOSTON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—At the conclusion of today's maneuvers in the war game, in which the army of the red under Brig.-Gen. Tasker H. Bliss is striving to defeat the army of the blue commanded by Brig.-Gen. William A. Pew, Jr., and capture Boston, the army of the red had made a material advance.

At the extreme left of the blue line three regiments are facing practically the entire red army. Gen. Bliss's southward movement was cleanly executed and gave evidence that the red scouts had fully posted Gen. Bliss on the position of the blues. In the red's advance there was never a sign of hesitation when the blues' outposts were encountered and captured or driven in.

At Middleboro Green, Maj. Charles H. Cutler of the blue army with three skeleton companies of the Eighth Infantry was encountered and rendered non-combatant in quick time. While the Connecticut squad of cavalry engaged the blues' front, Maj. Grierson of the reds, with his three troops of the Tenth United States cavalry (colored,) dismounted and acting as infantry and supported by two-machine guns, turned the right flank of the blues, while at the same moment Maj. Briegman with the New York cavalry executed the same on the left.

If it had been actual warfare it is believed that there would not have been a blue soldier left half an hour after the engagment had begun.

Today's battle took place under conditions strongly resembling those of the peninsular campaign about Richmond in the Civil War. These country roads, for days inches deep in the dust of a long summer drought, were changed into rivers of mud by the most severe northeast rainstorm of the summer. The soldiers suffered severely.

HAWAIIAN STEAMER WRECK.

HONOLULU, Aug. 17.—The Interisland steamer Niihau went ashore early today on the coast of the Island of Molokai, and has been abandoned by her officers and crew. The vessel will probably prove a total loss, though the steamer Claudine has gone to the scene of the wreck to attempt to float her. The vessel is of 600 tons' burden.

Coroner's Jury Orders Arrest of Five Men in Colorado Wreck Investigation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Aug. 17.—The Coroner's jury which investigated the head-on collision on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad at Husted, Colo., Saturday morning when ten people were killed and threescore injured late today returned its verdict.

The verdict finds that the wreck was due to criminal negligence on the part of the train crew, composed of Engineers Lessig and Hollingsworth, Fireman Wright, Conductor Dalton and Brakeman McIlhearn. The verdict also declares that the evidence shows that a defective system for issuing train orders was employed by the railroad at the time of the wreck.

An order was sent to Denver to arrest the members of the train crew.

...first meeting of the American ...e of Pharmaceutical Facul...

...ties was held last night at the Alexandria and was presided over by Prof. Charles Caspari of Baltimore, in the absence of the president. There were about twenty-five prominent college professors at the meeting and many matters of vital interest to pharmaceutical colleges were discussed.

The president's address was read by H. E. Kalusowski, but the recommendations were not approved, except the one relative to the admission of pharmacists to practice.

The Pharmaceutical Syllabus Commitee made an exhaustive report, stating that the syllabus would be ready for publication by next spring and for adoption by the next annual conference.

The syllabus is one of the most important matters ever taken up by any of the professional colleges of the country. The object of the syllabus is to specify the course of studies and the hours devoted to each of the studies in all of the colleges, members of the association, which now number thirty-three. The syllabus specifies the minimum to be enforced by the colleges and will serve as a criterion for the State Boards of Pharmacy in granting licenses to pharmacists.

The object is to place all of the colleges members of the association on practically the same footing and eventually to make it one of the requirements of applicants for license as practicing pharmacists that they must be graduates of the colleges of the association before they will be granted licenses.

The following officers were elected: Prof. W. M. Searby, San Francisco, president; E. H. LiPierre, Boston, vice-president; George C. Dellman, New York, secretary; J. A. Koch, E. D. Eberle and F. K. Strope, members of the Executive Committee.

The Committee on Syllabus was continued with the exception of Dr. James H. Beal of Ohio, who resigned, and was succeeded by Dr. C. S. N. Hallberg of Chicago.

LADIES SEE SUBURBS.

The entertainment provided for yesterday by the Ladies' Auxiliary was an automobile ride during the forenoon. Over 200 of the visiting ladies were taken for a two-hours' auto ride taking in Hollywood and the southwestern part of the city.

In the afternoon the visitors were taken for a trolley ride to the fruit farm of Bishop & Co., where light refreshments were served.

BUSINESS PAPERS.

The section on Commercial Interests, held two meetings yesterday, one in the afternoon and the other last night. Many interesting papers were read regarding the various ways to advertise, fill prescriptions, carry on a mail-order business and decorate stores in a manner attractive to the general retail trade.

The meetings were conducted by Harry B. Mason of Detroit, chairman, who made an interesting address. The first paper read was that of Lewis Fiemer: "The Druggist's Mailing List."

The other papers read were, "Preparation and Use of Show Cards," A. R. Eberle of Michigan; "Winning the Farmer's Trade," J. W. T. Knox of Michigan; "Some Thoughts on a Live Subject," E. H. Landish of Illinois; "Credits and Collections," William Mittlebach of Pennsylvania; "Selling the Dispensing Doctors," W. M. Bowman, Ohio; "How Best to Increase Prescription Trade," Jacob Diner, Ohio.

The following officers of the section for the next year were elected: W. M. Bowman, Toledo, O., president; G. H. Leichthardt, Sacramento, Cal., vice-chairman; W. R. Phillips, Fruitland, N. J. Frazier, Wichita, Kan., W. J. Dean, Santa Ana, Cal., members of the committee.

IMPORTANT SESSIONS.

The programme for today comprehends two sessions of the section in education and legislation, one at 10 a.m. and the other at 3 p.m., in Blanchard Hall. This section of the association is one of the most important, and many interesting questions will be discussed, among which will be the liquor question, also the opium and cocaine problems; modification of the food and drug act, etc.

At 8 o'clock in the evening there will be a joint meeting of this section together with the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy and the Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties, at the Virginia Hotel at Long Beach.

The amusements provided for today are a trolley ride during the forenoon for the visiting ladies to San Gabriel Mission, where light refreshments will be served under the big grape vine.

In the afternoon the ladies will be taken to Long Beach for a dip in the ocean. At 7 o'clock in the evening there will be a banquet at the Virginia for all members of the association and their wives. This will be one of the principal social functions of the week's entertainment.

After dinner the ladies will be entertained at cards and dancing, while the gentlemen will hold their joint conference in the dining-room of the hotel.

MR. OWEN'S ILLNESS.

Frank D. Owen, one of the prominent druggists of Los Angeles, who has much to do with the preliminary arrangements for the convention, has been unable to attend the meetings on account of serious illness. He was very sick, indeed, on Monday, but as better yesterday.

FOREST FIRE CHECKED.

DUTCH FLAT, Aug. 17.—A forest fire in the pine grove near this place swept down on the buildings at Lake Alta today, compelling the guests to seek safety in flight with what garments they could gather in their arms. The building was threatened for some time, but the fire train from Blue Cañon finally arrived, after a broken wheel on the tender had derailed it and caused considerable delay. The fire is under control tonight.

LAST HOPE IN MIRACLE.

Blind Boy Commits Suicide After Seeking Aid of Blessed Virgin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Peter Kelly, a blind boy, committed suicide at his home in Brooklyn early this morning. When found he was dead.

Peter became blind when he was 2 years old from cataracts, and as he grew older he became more and more downcast over his blindness. A woman neighbor told Peter the other day that he would surely be cured if he would only bathe in the ocean on the day of the feast of the Blessed Virgin.

This he did and yesterday was to be the day of the miracle, but when Peter awoke yesterday he was still blind—the miracle had failed. He brooded through the day and then decided to end all.

LIFE'S SEAMY SIDE.

GOLDFIELD MOB SEEKS SLAYER.

Murderer of Another Man's Wife Spirited Away.

Citizens Infuriated by Suicide of Bereaved Husband.

Sheriff With Auto Hurries His Prisoner to Tonopah.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Aug. 17.—Infuriated to the point of mob violence by the suicide of Thomas Heslip, a widely-known mining man, who ended his life by taking cyanide of potassium today while crazed with grief over the death of his wife, who was shot and killed by Patrick C. Casey last night, a band of citizens organized later in the day, determined to storm the County Jail in which Casey was confined and string him to the nearest telegraph pole, and to work a similar vengeance on Martin Sheridan, who has been awaiting trial for wife murder for six months.

It was the purpose of the mob to dynamite the jail, which withstood an attack last night, just after Casey killed Mrs. Heslip and wounded Mrs. Frank Mann, the attack being planned for tonight. The plan was defeated by Sheriff Calahan, however, who smuggled both prisoners out of the jail and carried them to Tonopah in automobiles, manned by heavily-armed guards.

Because of the fury of the citizens, the District Attorney has called the grand jury to act on both cases without delay to placate the townspeople. The district judge has promised that the cases of Casey and Sheridan will be brought to trial immediately.

PRISONERS SAFE AT TONOPAH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Aug. 17.—Patrick Casey, charged with the murder of Mrs. Heslip at Goldfield, last night, was lodged in the County Jail today, after having been smuggled from the Esmeralda county prison to save him from lynching.

Sheriff Calahan of Esmeralda county telephoned to Sheriff Owens of Nye county, asking that officer to meet him twelve miles out on the Goldfield road. An automobile loaded with deputies hastened to the scene, to discover that the Goldfield machine had broken down. Repairs were made, and the whole party hurried to this city, where Casey was placed in the County Jail, under strong guard.

There is little talk of lynching here, and it is believed that the prisoners will not be molested unless some of the Goldfield men come to stir up the local public, which, it is admitted, would be an easy matter to accomplish.

Martin Sheridan, who is held on a charge of wife murder, also was brought here with Casey to avoid possible mob violence.

READY TO GO BACK.

Denver Mint Employe Charged With Abstracting Gold Willing to Waive Formalities.

Charles W. Dakin, who was arrested here on a charge of stealing gold from the United States mint at Denver, was arraigned before Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday. As soon as requisition papers are received the prisoner will be taken to Denver for trial.

Dakin has expressed a willingness to waive all formalities, and has made an alleged confession to Secret Service Agent Hazen. Hazen received telegrams of congratulation for his clever arrest from W. H. Moran, acting chief of the Secret Service Bureau at Washington, and from R. K. Goodard, in charge of the Denver district.

According to a dispatch from Denver, Dakin allowed particles of gold to spatter upon his clothing, and scraped them off when he went home each night. He is said to have secured $700 worth of refined gold in this manner.

HORSE THEIF IN HARD LUCK.

Steals Same Animal Twice in Same Day and Then Finally Loses It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stealing the same horse twice in one day, once taking it away from the wife of the owner, and finally losing it, was the discouraging experience of a horse thief yesterday.

The horse was first taken from a pasture on the Powell Valley road. A young man driving a horse to a buggy was seen leading the horse from this place, but the animal broke away from him and with true horse sense started for the home of his master, William Etchel, in Lents, with the young thief in the buggy in close pursuit.

On reaching the Etchel home the horse ran into the yard and Mrs. Etchel came out and caught the rope. In a moment the persistent admirer of the horse was at her side. He pulled the rope away from her and trotted off in triumph, leading the captive animal behind him.

Mrs. Etchel gave the alarm and Sheriff Stevens and several deputies searched the country as far as Gresham, having been misled by a false trail of another man who was leading a horse. But about 9 o'clock last night the horse was reported found on the Base Line road, the territory the Sheriff had covered earlier in the evening.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Sick Man Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—August Mau, a cement worker, committed suicide today by hanging from the bathroom door at his home on Montcalm street. He was despondent because of long-continued illness.

Boys in Stabbing Fray.

NOGALES (Ariz.) Aug. 17.—Last night at 9 o'clock Enrique Paredes, clerk in the Sandoval bank, and Arturo Rodriguez, clerk in the El Paso store, 14 years old, quarreled. Paredes stabbed Rodriguez in the stomach with a pocket knife. The victim was taken to the hospital and may die. Paredes was arrested and placed in jail at Nogales, Sonora, waiting the result of the injuries to his victim. Both belong to prominent families here. The stabbing was the result of onlookers urging the boys on during a quarrel. No officers were present.

BIG FOREST FIRE RAGES.

BANFF (Alberta) Aug. 17.—A terrific forest fire is raging in the Castle Mountains, sixteen miles west, near Liggan. The government fire fighters left yesterday to combat the flames. Bankhead and the whole district for ten miles up the valley is enshrouded in smoke.

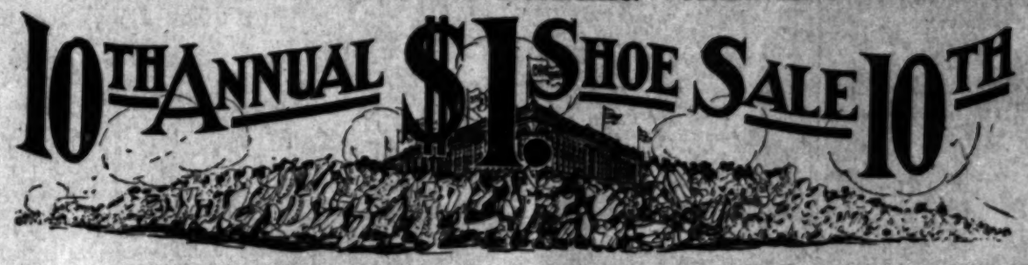
Broadway Department Store
BROADWAY COR. 4TH. LOS ANGELES. ARTHUR LETTS

Nearly 4000 Pairs Stockings To Go Today At 25c Pair

10TH ANNUAL $1 SHOE SALE 10TH



Begins This Morning at 8 O'Clock---Over 12,000 Pairs for Women and Children

Entire Second Floor Annex Devoted to the Sale

More Than a Hundred Extra Salespeople---Dozens of Additional Cashiers and Bundle-Wrappers

The above announcement carries with it a vital significance that is appreciated by the public of Los Angeles and vicinity in a way that no other sale has ever approached. The fact of the matter is this sale has grown to such mammoth proportions that it is no longer a question of how many pairs will be sold, but how can we accommodate the great crowds that will attend; 5200 square feet of floor space will be given over to this sale, where scores of racks will be filled to overflowing with shoes, the like of which you have seldom or never seen at such a price.

Our representative went to the market with instructions to buy fewer shoes than on former occasions, but to see that the quality, the style, the variety, and the sizes were there. For this reason he eliminated the shoes for men and gave all his attention to the betterment of the lines for women and children. And in presenting this lot of nearly 13,000 pairs for women and children, we believe we are puting out shoes that are the very top notch value-giving.

Sale Will Start This Morning and Continue Through Thursday Only

A short time, you say, in which to sell all these shoes. No, it isn't, for with the army of salespeople, the additional floor space, the convenient arrangement, there shouldn't be any here to sell after Thursday night.

Note This Fact Every shoe will be marked in plain figures, showing the size, so that a child may be able to buy them.

Special Attention to Misses' and Children's Shoes

We want to call particular attention to the misses' and children's shoes. It's without a question the most wonderful lot we've ever retailed at such a price. You'll find the very latest ideas in Oxfords, Pumps and Shoes. Even dealers will wonder how we can do it. School days are fast approaching, and the opportunity of buying two and three pairs at the usual price of one should appeal to every mother.

No Shoes Delivered During This Sale—All Shoes Will Be Fitted

Celebrated Makes

Not only are the shoes far in advance of anything you'd expect to buy at such a ridiculous price, but that you may appreciate the full significance of what this sale means, we state below a few of the celebrated makes:

Charles K. Fox Shoes, Queen Quality, Duttenhoffer & Sons, Bliss, Perry & Co., and the famous Luddy and Currier makes.

Styles Included

There are Oxfords, Ankle-Strap Pumps, Sailor Ties, Button and Lace Shoes, representing the very finest of patent leather, calf and vici kid, with hand-turned and welted soles. Not ordinary sale shoes at this price, but footwear that will open your eyes.

CHINESE RAILWAY LOAN IS RAISED TO INCLUDE AMERICA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PEKING, Aug. 17.—American participation in the Yankow-Sze Chuen Railroad loan was definitely settled at the office of the foreign board today by Henry P. Fletcher, the American charge d'affaires, and Lian Tun Yen, president of the board.

The loan is to be increased from $27,500,000 to $30,000,000, and of this latter amount American bankers are to get one-quarter, the other three quarters going to France, Germany and Great Britain.

Americans are to have equal opportunity to supply material for both the Sze Chuen and the Canton lines, and the branches; they will appoint subordinate engineers and they will have also one-half of all future loans of the Sze Chuen-Hankow Railroad and its branches, with the corresponding advantages.

The details of this settlement will be arranged after the arrival here at the end of the week of Willard D. Straight, the representative of the American financiers interested.

The settlement reached today prevents the actual American investment in the abandoned Hankow-Canton line, but nevertheless it is the opinion here that American capital has been placed on an equality with other capital in China.

WASHINGTON GRATIFIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The news from Peking that America would participate in the Hankow Railroad loan was received here with intense satisfaction, it being a victory for the State Department.

SHORT SUSPENSE.

SUTTON FINDINGS MAY BE ANNOUNCED PUBLICLY TODAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Early announcement will be made by the Navy Department of the findings of the court of inquiry which has been investigating the death of Lieut. James N Sutton, Jr., of the Marine Corps.

Today the Judge-Advocate-General of the navy, Capt. Edward H. Campbell, was handed a copy of the findings of the court by Maj. Henry Leonard, the judge-advocate of the court of inquiry, who returned with them from Annapolis last night.

Capt. Campbell placed the results of the court's work formally before Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop. The latter and Capt. Campbell are looking into the testimony and the findings before taking final action. Mr. Winthrop may announce his decision in the case tomorrow. He certainly expects to do so by the following day.

Broad discretionary authority is given the Secretary of the Navy in acting on the findings of a court of inquiry, and he may approve or disapprove, in whole or in part, send the case for further inquiry, or order a new court if in his judgment the circumstances warrant it.

Second to the verdict of the court as to how Sutton met his death is the interest as to wheher it will report that some of the officers concerned were shown by the testimony to have been guilty of breaches of the regulations governing the marine corps, particularly as the time has not elapsed—two years—in which punishment for such alleged infractions may be meted out.

KIDNAPERS FOIL POLICE.

Work on Viviano Case Abandoned, But Family Is Working on Compromise.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following Chief Creecy's announcement that the police have quit work on the Viviano kidnaping case, members of the family announced today that Pietro and Vita Viviano are in Chicago following up clews of their own as to the whereabouts of the two missing children, Grace and Tomasso Viviano. What the nature's of these clews is the family refuse to state.

The cousins Viviano were recently sent to Pennsylvania on a false scent. Another futile clew took them to Detroit. The children were kidnaped almost three weeks ago.

A letter from the abductors notified the parents that they would be killed unless $25,000 ransom was paid. The police believe the Vivianos have gotten in communication with the kidnapers and have gone to Chicago to compromise with them.

WILD FLINGING.

ANGELS ROAST FRESH ACORNS.

Tozer Gets the Victory on Errors of Oaks.

Tonneson Heaves Good Game, Fanning Nine Men.

Fierce Throwing Scores Daley With Winning Run.

Los Angeles, 4; Oakland, 2. Eleven innings.

Bill Reidy's bunch of Oakland players may have to fight to keep out of the cellar, but it took Los Angeles almost two hours of hard work and eleven swats to trim them yesterday, and at that the struggle would probably have gone on until dark if several of the Oaks had not tried some ground and lofty flinging in the eleventh round, after two men were out. Five or six men handled the ball in about five seconds, and they made such an awful mess of it that Daley scored the winning run with a continuous race from first base to the plate.

The locals made no less than eleven hits off Tonneson, and yet all but one of their four runs was helped by an error. The Oaks seemed to boot the ball at the wrong times, but when they did not they made some wonderful catches in the field, and yet had no license to win, for they had very bad luck in hitting Tozer. He had but one bad inding, and the Oaks made just enough runs in that one to drag the game out.

The popular little Jimmy Byrnes appeared here for the first time in an Oakland uniform, and while he made a poor throw to second, he hit a single that scored two runs, and had a pretty running catch of a high foul against the grand stand. He ran under the ball and muffed it, but when it bounced up from his hands he caught it.

There was nothing particularly brilliant about the game, but the fans saw some good baseball that kept them busy all afternoon. The hitting of Godwin was one of the best things, for he made three pokes in five times at bat, and helped in two runs. Jansing missed a home run by an inch for his double in the ninth inning hit the top of the fence and bounded back into the grounds. Delmas made the longest single of the day when he hit the ball high up on the left fence, but this one also bounced back so that Duff Lewis held Del at first. In the way of fielding, Lewis's catch of Daley's short fly back of third in the ninth, and Kelly's long running grab of Delmas's fly to left in the second, were the features.

The locals started in the first, when Daley was passed and ran to second on Godwin's poke to center. Pete would have been an easy out at third on an attempted steal, but Hogan dropped Byrnes's throw, and after Wheeler's strike out Beall scored Daley with a hit to left. In the sixth Howard's pass and steal, Smith's out, and Delmas's hit to the left fence, scored the second run.

Then came the seventh for the Oaks with its three runs. Hogan began with a grounder to Delmas, and was safe at first when Wheeler muffed Del's throw. Then Tozer walked Cameron, and Jansing attempted a sacrifice bunt to Tozer, who tried to catch Hogan at third, but failed. Then, with the bases full, McKune bounced the ball safely for an infield hit to third, scoring Hogan, Cameron ran to third, and Jansing to second on this, and Byrnes scored both with a safe bounce over third.

In the ninth, Orendorff led off with a triple to center, and scored when Jansing let Godwin's grounder get away from him.

Nothing happened in the tenth or the first half of the eleventh, but in the last half, with two out, Daley walked. On his attempted steal to second, Byrnes made a wide throw, but Daley would have been out had not McKune dropped the ball. It rolled behind him into center field, and Kelly grabbed it and threw it to Tonneson, who muffed it. While it was on the ground, Daley dashed for the plate and beat the throw that Hogan made to Byrnes.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Jansing made his first appearance here as an Acorn. He did fairly well at short, although he let one go through him. Jansing's arm is about as goo' as Delmas's and he should be a rival of the Angel infielder at the position as soon as he accustoms himself to the going.

Godwin celebrated his return to the game in fine style. Although he is a poor man at the bat, he is an excellent fielder and always has his heart in the game, which is more than can be said of several others on the team.

Byrnes has always been popular on the circuit in every city except Sacramento. It may be different in Oakland now that Jimmy may suffer a few lapses of watchfulness for the Acorns. The little fellow is a bit too careless at times.

Orendorf has done some timely hitting lately and with this quality he is as good a catcher as there is in the league. Berry is the only one in his class and the Seal seems to have just a trifle the better of the Angel in general effectiveness.

No less than twenty-four of yesterday's put-outs were made by flies or fouls. The pitcher who makes them hit them in the air is the one that is likely to win. The sky balls are more likely to be fielded cleanly.

Wheeler is the most valuable utility man on the Coast and right now can play all around some of the regulars in the league. Some believe that when Dillon gets back Wheeler should be put on third as he is as good a fielder as Smith and is a far better and more timely batter.

Jansing and Byrnes each sent two flies to center field. Daley was Petie on the spot and in addition gathered in a couple more.

Tonneson scattered his hits well through the game. In seven of the eleven innings Los Angeles got a hit in each, only one of which scored a run. In two innings there were two hits, each pair of which tallied a run, with the aid of errors. In only two innings did the Angels fail to connect safely, and a run was scored in one of them.

Cameron did not sustain the reputation as a slugger he made while north on the last trip. He failed to get a hit yesterday.

All the Angel errors were made by the battery and first baseman, players who are supposed to make the least mistakes. Infielders, other than the first sacker, made all but one for Oakland. Tonneson got the other.

MARTINKE MAKES POOR SHOWING IN STREAKED GAME.

Brackenridge Is Pounded All Over the Lot and Accorded Very Poor Support—Ehman Is Never Bothered and Always Was There. Stovall Is Star in Fielding.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Reinforced by three new men, Myers, Heister and La Longe, the Senators today batted Brackenridge for ten safeties and won the first of the series from Vernon by a score of 6 to 1.

Sacramento's grand twirler, Ehman, had the visitors popping constantly and allowed but three singles, none of which helped in securing Vernon's lone run, and although ragged field work on occasions threatened to unnerve each pitcher, both held out until the end.

Several sensational catches served to put vim in what might have been a listless contest. In the seventh Gandil sent the ball far back to the fence corner, but Stovall went after it, pulled down the sphere, turned a somersault and came up triumphant with a put-out to his credit. In the error column for Vernon, Martinke was the principal offender. He had difficulty in stopping grounders or reaching the flies.

Heister, Sacramento's third baseman, was responsible for Vernon's lone tally. Vernon scored in the fourth, getting Martinke across the rubber when Heister made two bungles. The new local third baseman threw wild to first and gave the visiting left fielder a safe position on second bag. On a hit and run signal Mott bunted and Heister missed the ball after making a one-handed stab and Martinke raced home.

The locals opened on Brackenridge when La Longe singled to left in the third. Ehman forced him at second and was on first ready for the sprint when Shinn's bat met the ball for a three-base liner just out of Martinke's reach. Ehman scored and Shinn trotted home when Gandil singled to center.

Shinn started a rally in the fifth. Doyle doubled, Gandil tripled to left along the line, and Myers singled. The quartette of hard-hit bingles coupled with an error and a wild pitch by Brackenridge and Myers's stolen bases added three more to Sacramento's string.

After the third Vernon had no opportunity to score, Ehman at all times being invincible. In the eighth Myers singled, beating out a bunt. Martinke dropped Raymer's fly and attempted to cut off Myers at second, but failed, allowing the fleet local man to reach third. The final run was scored by the ex-outlaw when Flanagan flew to Coy in deep right field.

New Players Shown.

Bill Reidy has three new men in his line-up who have never been seen here before. Johnson the right fielder and pitcher, and Thomas, a pitcher, are from the Inter-Mountain League, while Kelly is a recruit from the Sacramento outlaw team. Kelly and Johnson played yesterday, but did not get the place on dire with any brilliancy, although there were no hard chances offered them. They may be stars, but in any event Bill Reidy shows he has some class in trying to improve his team. Jansing and Byrnes should not lose many games for him.

Largest Crowds Ever.

Manager Henry Berry of the Los Angeles team, said, yesterday, that the last week during which the Seals played here was the best in a baseball way in the history of the city. There was more enthusiasm shown than in any previous series for years and the attendance was also the largest for the turnstile count showed that more than 27,000 persons passed into the grounds in addition to the deadheads. Making a liberal allowance, it is safe to presume that there were about 26,000 paid admissions.

SHRUBB SEVERELY HURT.

WINNIPEG (Man.) Aug. 17.—In last night's race Alfred Shrubb, the runner, strained the tendons of one of his legs and is so seriously injured that he has cancelled all his season's engagements, principally in Seattle and along the Pacific Coast.

MECHANIC HURT BY RACING CAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—Clifford Litterell of Dayton, O., a mechanic attached to the Stoddard-Dayton automobile racing crew, was probably fatally injured late today, when he fell under the wheels of one of his group of cars, while going to the motor speedway to prepare for this week's races.

The cars were proceeding in file at a rapid gait, when Litterell, who was riding in one of them, jumped out. He stumbled and fell in front of a car following his. It passed over him, crushing his chest. Sixty-five cars are entered in the races.

CADETS TO PLAY RUGBY.

Harvard Military School Faculty Is Seriously Considering the Adoption of the English Game.

Harvard Military School probably will fall in line with Polytechnic High School and Los Angeles High and play Rugby football instead of the American game. The matter is now being considered by the faculty, and while the "profs" say they will not announce their decision until shortly before school opens, the latter part of next month, the trend of opinion indicates that the cadets have had their last fling at the old game.

The slaughter of the innocents in the Hollywood-Pasadena game last year, in which several of the Hollywood boys qualified for long sojourns in the hospital, gave the game the worse black eye it has sustained here for several years, and it is said it was that unfortunate occurrence that moved the Harvard faculty to consider substituting the English game for the American-style play.

Kinter Hamilton, who has charge of athletics at Harvard, is not a strong advocate of Rugby, but believes it would benefit the school and the students if Harvard adopted it. In the event of the old game being abolished, a Rugby coach will be engaged; otherwise the football team will be coached by one of the present members of the faculty.

A very wonderful man I am.

Things move along so rapidly nowadays, that people who say, "It can't be done," are interrupted by somebody doing it. There is one consolation, Rainbow Chasers and Bargain Hunters get at least a run for their money. Did you ever buy a gold brick for $500.00, send it to the mint and have them send you $1000.00? Did you every buy a $20.00 gold piece for $10.00, and have the bank give you four nice new $5.00 gold pieces for it? Did you ever buy a $40.00 suit for $20.00, and be absolutely certain it was worth $20.00. Selling goods at half price would be lots of fun, unless you had to do it in order to make a living. We are offering the greatest clothing values for fall that were ever offered by any legitimate concern in America. We are doing it deliberately and honestly. We are determined to show the Los Angeles merchants that it pays to be honest, and do straight store business. We are going to show the buying public that there is one firm that deserves their patronage, whether they trade with us or not. Gee, but it seems good to be back home again.

BIG PUGS BUSY.

Barry and Burns Are Reported in Good Condition for Their Scrap Next Tuesday Night.

There have been fierce fights in this city, but from the way Barry and Burns are doing their training the local fight bugs are looking forward to a knock down and drag out battle when these two big ones come together at Naud Junction. Long runs on the road and hard boxing every day mean something and both men appear to be in good condition.

Barry did almost eight miles of road work yesterday and after his usual gym stunts boxed twelve rounds, four each with The Turk, Fred Walker and Angelino Marie. He is a demon for work and as he promises to jump in and fight this time without any backing up, the bugs may look for something.

Burns was just as busy at Vernon for his first stunt was eight miles of road work. His boxing consisted of four rounds each with Jim Tremble and Jack Guier and both say that if they can judge from his strength he will give a good account of himself with Barry. Terry Mustaine is expected in this city tomorrow and he will go at once to Vernon to help train Burns, for the Coalinga idol intends to leave nothing undone to get himself into shape to meet such a good one as Barry. The fight should not last over five rounds, if it goes that far, for both men are hard hitters.

SEEKS ADVANTAGE.

KETCHEL IS VERY HEAVY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Training quarters have been prepared for Stanley Ketchel, and when he arrives here the latter part of this week from California he will start work at once in taking off weight for his ten-round bout with Sam Langford in September.

There may be a serious hitch in the arrangements because of the matter of weight. Langford says that he will weigh about 158 pounds at 6 o'clock. Ketchel now weighs about 185 pounds, and as he intends to weigh at least 170 pounds when he fights Jack Johnson in October, it is not believed that he will want to go below that weight for Langford, as he would have to rebuild quickly for the Johnson fight.

The Fairmount Athletic Club insists that there will be no interference in its efforts to produce the fight here. The club is protected by a Supreme Court injunction, which restrains the police from entering the building.

NOBLE GOES NORTH.

Los Angeles High School Coach Is to Study Rugby at California During Next Three Weeks.

Ralph Noble, athletic coach at Los Angeles High School, has gone to the University of California, where he expects to pass three weeks in studying Rugby football in preparation for the coming season.

Noble will have a hard job on his hands in turning out a team that will be able to hold its own with Polytechnic, Redlands, Pomona and the other high schools that adopted the game as soon as the northern universities began to play it. Few of the old football players at the hill school have had any experience at the English game, and Noble will have to work with the rawest kind of raw material.

Geissler, Harrigan and some of the other gridiron men tried their hand at the game once or twice with several players from Stanford and California, late last spring, at Fiesta Stadium, but that was about all the experience they have had.

Noble knows the game fairly well and, with the knowledge that he will acquire from Coach Schafer of California, who has just returned from a long trip to Australia, believes he will be able to form a strong Rugby team out of his band of old football stars, if they will play.

TRAEGER SOUGHT.

Coach Rheinschild of St. Vincent's Wants Former Star to Assist Him This Year.

Bill Traeger probably will assist Walter Rheinschild in coaching the St. Vincent's College football team this year. Rheinschild is anxious to engage Traeger and, as Bill is not flirting with any of the other colleges, it is likely that he will keep in the harness by helping to turn out the Catholic eleven.

Rheinschild says that St. Vincent's will play all its home games on its own campus this year. For two years it has played at Fiesta Park, but as the U.S.C. Law School claims to have first call on the field this year, the Saints expect that their contest with the barristers will be the only opportunity they will have to gambol on the Fiesta tanbark.

The Saints are to play Utah College at Salt Lake City October 30. The contract calls for a return game here with the Mormons next year. Rheinschild is still anxious to get into the local intercollegiate conference, and even if he doesn't succeed he expects to arrange games with some of the individual teams.

OLDSMOBILE'S FAST MILE.

Claims Record for Dirt Track, But Course Is Four Miles to the Lap in Cheyenne.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An Oldsmobile car driven by Martin Fletcher won the 200-mile free-for-all automobile race here today under the auspices of the Cheyenne Motor Club.

About 20,000 persons witnessed the exciting event which ushered in the Frontier Day's celebration.

The official time of the winner was 3h. 39m. 47s., smashing the record by 23m. 52s., it is claimed, for a dirt track. The laps were four miles each.

A remarkable feature was that the winner did not stop from start to finish. The Renault car was second and the Marmon came in third, twenty-eight miles in the rear. All other entries, numbering twenty, dropped out of the race.

E. A. Griffith, driver of the Colburn forty, was seriously injured when his car skidded and overturned while he was running sixty miles an hour in the hundredth mile. The fastest lap of four miles was made in three minutes and eighteen seconds.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association has been called for this city December 28. Delegates representing sixty colleges throughout the country will be in attendance. At that time the rules established by the various committees of the association will be passed upon and steps taken to further promote the interests in athletics. An important matter to be discussed will be the objections made by a number of faculties that athletics are taking too prominent a part in many schools.

NOT PROGRAMMED.

RATE JUSTICE IS MADE ISSUE.

Trans-Mississippi Congress a Promised Battlefield.

Delegates Press for Better Means of Regulation.

Open Vast Tracts to Men of East, Is Walsh's Plea.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Aug. 17.—Coupled with the possibility of renewed hostilities between the Pinchot and the Ballinger forces, the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress promises to become the battlefield of a fight for better rate regulation in the West.

The statement that the war on railroad rates may break at any time and become the predominant factor in the deliberations of the congress was made today by Col. Ike Pryor of San Antonio, Tex., chairman of the Executive Committee. He declared that Galveston and Denver business men will open the fight with a resolution demanding that an equitable revision of rail and ocean rates between New York and Denver be made.

According to Col. Pryor's statement, the ocean rate between New York and Galveston has been low enough to provide Denver shippers an incentive to bring their goods to the Texas port for shipment over local lines to Denver, thus obtaining a reduced rate.

It is now charged that the railroads have increased the local rail rate between Galveston and Denver to a point where it is a matter of choice whether goods are brought via ocean or entirely by rail.

Col. Pryor also was authority for the statement that the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy will find no place in the deliberations of the congress unless some hot-headed delegate springs a resolution on the floor which will precipitate a verbal battle.

Thomas F. Walsh, the millionaire mine owner of Colorado, and John Barrett, director of the Bureau of American Republics, were the principal speakers of the afternoon. Mr. Walsh uttered a plea for the opening of vast tracts of western land to the eastern farmer and the city-bred man. He said he believed that the answer to crowded tenements and city ghettos lay in the irrigation of the arid West.

SOUTH AMERICAN RECLAMATION.

Mr. Barrett spoke of improvements in reclamation among the Latin-American countries. His address was, in part, as follows:

"The approaching meeting of the Presidents of the United States and Mexico at El Paso, the possible acceptance of invitations to be extended to the Presidents of Panama and Cuba to meet the President of the United States at New Orleans, the widespread growth of interest in the construction of the Panama Canal, and the increasing investments of United States capital in Latin-America give significant emphasis to the importance of developing closer trade relations and of improving the facilities for the exchange of commerce between the United States and her sister republics.

"The legitimate and successful exploitation of this vast field south of us depends upon four important conditions: First, tariff regulation which permits of a reciprocal exchange of commodities; second, first-class mail, passenger and express steamship service to build up and care for this trade; third, the establishment of banks controlled by United States capital as agencies of business just as necessary in foreign lands as in the United States; and fourth, familiarity and acquaintance with the habits and customs of the Latin-American peoples and local conditions of their demand and supply.

"Discussing each of these partly, it can be said that the new tariff law is far more favorable than the Dingley bill for increased exchange of products between the two Americas; that it is almost mandatory as a protection to our own interests in competition with the rest of the world that the next session of Congress shall pass an ocean-mail bill that will provide us with the same kind of facilities on the seas for promoting commerce as we have in fast express, mail and passenger railroad trains on land.

"The exact share of the United States in the exports and imports of Latin-America for 1908 was $480,000,000—a sum many times larger than our trade with all the countries of Asia and in excess of that with most of the countries of Europe—and yet it is only in the infancy of its possibilities. Still, we have a tendency to neglect Latin-America as an unimportant market.

"An important corollery to this Latin-American situation is the indisputable necessity of the United States now preparing to get the benefit of the advantages that will be offered to it by the completion of the Panama Canal in 1915. There can be no greater folly than to spend several hundreds of millions of dollars in the construction of this waterway and then find ourselves at the time of its opening unprepared, with only a few steamships flying our flag, with interior waterways and harbors unimproved and with a general ignorance of the markets to be approached through the canal, as will be the case if we do not give our attention and bend our energies to make the most along these lines during the next five years."

OTHER SPEAKERS HEARD.

La Verne W. Noyes of Chicago, president of the National Business League of America, delivered an address on the American consular Service, in which he expatiated on the value of the consular agent to the American shipper in producing a market.

Truman G. Palmer of Chicago spoke on the sugar beet industry.

Insurance was the topic at the evening session, and the principal address was delivered by Samuel Bosworth Smith of Chattanooga, Tenn., president of the American life convention. In speaking of insurance in the West, he said the people in the Middle West and trans-Mississippi States paid in premiums to life insurance companies $171,000,000. He attacked the tax laws proposed in various States and particularly the tax on corporations proposed by President Taft.

E. T. Campbell of St. Louis spoke on fire waste.

Thomas B. Love of Austin, Tex., spoke on the Robertson law of Texas.

It is expected that 2000 more delegates from the West and the Northwest will arrive tomorrow and that, with the coming of this addition to the delegates, the real work of the congress will begin.

Tomorrow will be the first day for the introduction of resolutions.

While it is not believed there will be any discussion permitted on the floor of the congress, hostilities may result between the reclamation parties if such discussion breaks away from the presidential gavel.

SWIMMERS THROWN DOWN.

National Tournament at Seattle in Which Holborrow and Lee Intended to Compete Postponed.

Frank Holborow and Marcus Lee, who left for Seattle Monday night to represent Southern California in the national swimming championships at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, may become "stranded." Les Henry received a telegram yesterday from the athletic director of the exposition saying that the swimming tournament had been postponed indefinitely, and that he was sending a letter stating the reason. The tournament was scheduled to be held August 24.

Henry is "sore." He went to a lot of trouble raising the money to send the men North, and if they have to wait in Seattle a couple of weeks in order to get a chance to swim, the local swimming association will have to "fork up" another bunch of coin.

TRAVELLER IN TRAINING.

Eugene Traveller, the wrestler, has gone to Venice to train in Jim Barry's camp for his match with five other wrestlers which is to take part at Chutes Park next Sunday. He wants to get the benefit of the cool sea air during the hot weather. He says he wants to get into the best possible shape as he does not know what kind of men he will run up against Sunday. He is to throw the five men one fall each or forfeit the purse.

RESCUED BY LIFE-SAVER.

Crew of Seven Taken from Schooner Arlington Ashore on Long Island.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—After clinging for several hours to the bowsprit of their stranded vessel, swept by the heavy seas and all but drowned, seven men, including the captain of the schooner Arlington of Boston, were rescued by a life saving crew this morning.

The schooner, a three-masted vessel, piled up on Long Beach before daylight during an easterly gale. Her decks were swept by the seas, and her crew took refuge on the bowsprit, while the Long Beach life saving crew tried vainly to shoot a line over the vessel, or to launch a lifeboat.

After several hours of effort, a lifeboat reached the schooner and the crew was rescued.

Madden Pierson, a Swedish sailor, who set off on a life raft from the stranded schooner, was later washed ashore, alive, at Rockaway Beach.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pinhead on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm, and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I poulticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was well I poulticed it. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further.

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal a sore or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them, and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Burkhart, 236 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills 25c per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Classified Liners.

Times Classified Rates. The rate for inserting Want ads in The Daily Times is 1¢ per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½¢ per word, each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," Church Notices, Miscellaneous," and "Bath and Massage."

"Liner" (Classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rates 1½¢ per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment; for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS—

Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line in a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during that period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

ASKS SANTA MONICA'S AID.

Palms Chamber of Commerce Interested in Improving National Boulevard.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 17.—The Palms Chamber of Commerce is interested in the permanent improvement of the National boulevard from Santa Monica to a connection with the Washington road and has asked the aid of the Council in carrying out the project. The Palms people are at this time improving the leg of the road which runs through that city. The Supervisors have promised to give attention to the county's portion of the boulevard just as soon as the work on the other parts of it is assured. Sawtelle expects to connect with the boulevard via Fourth street's southern extension.

The programme to be carried out here on Admission Day, in honor of the completion and dedication of the new concrete pier, has been completed. The entertainment will open at 9 o'clock in the morning, when the city officials, guests and Native Sons will assemble at the City Hall. The line of march will be to Linda Vista Park, where there will be music and addresses. Then there will be a march to the pier, where there will be a series of swimming races; the first contest will be a half-mile race for women, to be followed by a dash of fifty yards and a high dive for women. After luncheon, there are to be motor boat races, swimming races for boys, a drill by the Venice life-saving corps, surf boat races, and swimming and diving contests. There is to be a balloon race, and, at night a spectacular tableau and display of fireworks.

CHAMBER'S SUGGESTION.

Advises Los Angeles Organization as to Development of Ocean Commerce.

VENICE, Aug. 17.—To the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce the Venice Chamber of Commerce today sent a letter of congratulation upon the consolidation of the greater city with Wilmington and San Pedro, thereby securing an open door to the commerce of the Pacific. The letter contained several suggestions concerning the development of commerce. Reform in the United States navigation laws was urged. Agitation for a government steamship line to Panama and Mexican ports was advised, and the utilization of Venice and Santa Monica Bay as a deep-sea harbor was recommended. The letter referred to the fact that the Secretary of War had already granted a permit for the harbor development of Venice and that the price by contract for pier, slips and breakwater had been fixed at $1,440,000.

Evidently the fight game has seen "its finish" at this port. Last night the Trustees of Ocean Park refused to favorably consider the application of William Aldridge to resume his boxing contests in the arena that was constructed out of the wreckage of the former roller-skating rink.

NEW METHODIST HOSPITAL.

To Be Formally Opened Today—Addresses by the Mayor and Prominent Ministers.

There will be a great rally of Methodists and friends of philanthropic work today under the fine old oaks on the grounds of the New Methodist Hospital, which will be formally opened at No. 2826 South Hope street.

The spacious mansion, formerly the home of ex-Mayor Henry T. Hazard, has been transformed into an up-to-date hospital, and the public is invited to inspect it.

The opening exercises will begin at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and Mayor Alexander, Dr. Charles E. Locke, Dr. John L. Pitner and Rev. S. A. Thompson will make short addresses.

A luncheon will be served on the grounds at 1:30 o'clock p.m. President George F. Bovard of the University of Southern California will deliver an address in the afternoon and the Valentine Orchestra will give the musical programme.

The Methodists of Southern California are behind this hospital and it is their intention to build up a great institution. It is expected that a building costing not less than $160,000 will be erected within a year.

CAMP PERRY SHOOTING.

Excellent Scores Being Made by Soldiers and Marines in National Matches.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CAMP PERRY (O.) Aug. 17.—After the Ohio Adjutant General's $500 cup had been won today by Lieut. Townsend Wheelen of the Twenty-ninth United States Infantry, with a score of 99 out of a possible 100, the national rifle contestants proceeded to the skirmish field to shoot for a silver loving cup, a gold medal, $50 and nine additional cash prizes in the Peters trophy match. In this match there were 307 contestants.

Private J. E. Burns of the Sixth Massachusetts, and Lieut. C. M. Gale of Illinois made perfect scores. For third place Lieut. Townsend Wheelen and Midshipman A. D. Denny of the navy team tied at 99. Private Robinson of the Marine Corps team was fourth with 98. The Dupont individual tyro match, open to those who never won a first, second or third prize in the individual matches of the National Rifle Association, or who had never been on a winning team in the national team match was won by Private T. Worshall, a Georgia member of the marine corps.

ZEIDER COMES HIGH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles A. Comiskey has spent pretty close to $100,000 so far this season for new players and now has something like twenty-five youngsters on his staff.

The old Roman's most expensive purchase to date is Rolla Zeider, the young third baseman from California, whose phenomenal work this year has put the San Francisco club in the lead. His playing is the talk of the Coast League. This player Comiskey drafted last year but turned him back to San Francisco. There were no strings on Zeider when he went back. He became the sole property of the San Francisco club.

After Zeider started to play such phenomenal ball scouts flocked to California to look him over, but Comiskey beat them to him, though Zeider cost him a pretty penny. It is safe to say that Zeider will be one of the highest priced youngsters that will graduate into major leagues next near. He will cost Comiskey $5500 and two A-1 players that he must deliver to San Francisco before next season arrives.

BERGER ON HIS WAY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sam Berger, manager for James J. Jeffries, awaiting bids for the Johnson-Jeffries heavyweight championship fight, left for the West tonight to meet Jimmy Coffroth of San Francisco and Tom McCarey of Los Angeles and get their bids for the title battle.

Denver is also after the fight and Berger will stop off there on his way to the Coast to talk over bids. Berger fears that Denver cannot hold so important a fight, but will listen to what promoters have to say.

"California will likely get the match," said Berger. "George Little, Johnson's manager and backer, says he would like to bet up to $20,000. Well, it is foolish to talk bets now, but while the men are training for the battle I will give Little all the betting he wants. He can double that amount if he desires. Understand me, that Jeff is not going to bet any $20,000 but he has friends out West who will go double that strong."

While a city ordinance makes it a misdemeanor to appear on the streets thus attired, it has never been strictly enforced for the reason that many of the summer visitors reside near the shore and in going for their dip travel the streets for a short distance.

Cubs Get Happy Smith.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 17.—"Happy" Smith, right fielder of the defunct San José State League club and now a member of the Oakland State League team, tonight signed a contract with the Chicago National League club for the season of 1910. Smith batted .354 in the first half of the State League race.

ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

Three thousand "Old Believers" who settled in California during 1904-6 have successfully petitioned the Russian government for permission to settle in the Pri-Anuvi District of Siberia. Members of the same sect from Austria, Roumania and Bulgaria purpose doing likewise.

The direct train service of the Siberian express between Vladivostok, Moscow and St. Petersburg has been abolished. Passengers must change cars at Irkutsk, as formerly done.

The port office at Vladivostok is to construct a new naval building at a cost of $112,000. Barracks and officers' quarters will be erected.

China's Board of Communications is negotiating the taking over of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company, in connection with the preparations for creating a modern navy.

China has used natural gas for many centuries. Gas wells are found in Szechuen contiguous to the salt wells and the gas is used only for evaporating brine. With such small use the supply will probably last forever.

By treaty engagement of some years ago and subsequent law, opium cannot be put on the market in China by American merchants nor carried there in American ships. No other nation has so bound itself toward the Celestial Empire. Also by a later treaty (October, 1903,) we agreed not to send morphia and the instruments for its use to that country.

The Chinese Board of Agriculture, Industry and Commerce is establishing a factory to manufacture authentic weights and measures for uniform use throughout the empire of China.

Chinese merchants have subscribed $3,045,000 gold as capital for a Chinese-Mongolian Bank at Taonanfu, Manchuria, for the remittances on hides and cattle from Mongolia—a great future field for commerce in the Far East.

One by one, electric light plants are being installed in the many cities of China; the latest is Wuhu—3000 lights.

Lahore, India, will have the annual Indian Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition in November, 1909. The prospectus may be examined at the bureau of Manufactures, Washington, D. C. Foreign machinery exhibits desired.

India is a growing market for reapers, winnowing machines, plows (for irrigated land,) chaff and fodder cutters, hoes (single and double-wheeled) and similar labor-saving tools, implements and machinery.

The American Consulate at Rangoon, Burma, India, asks for catalogues of builders' and general hardware, reinforced concrete building material, machinery, rice-milling machinery, ladies' shoes, motor cars, motor boats, baby carriages, go-carts and bicycles.

Moving-picture theaters are becoming popular in Asiatic cities.

India's climatic conditions are such that grain, seeds, hides, sugar, copra, etc., are dried without difficulty, naturally. Plants for that purpose would sell.

Petroleum has been found in Kolantan and other parts of the Malay Peninsula, also in the north of Siam.

Saltpeter is largely found in the numerous caves of the limestone hills of Lophturi, Saraburi and Prabat, Siam.

Apple raising is becoming an important industry in Tasmania. Shipments last season exceeded 1,000,000 cases, worth about $1,094,000, an increase of 200,000 cases over the shipments of the previous season.

Australian butter goes to Great Britain and the other countries of Europe, South Africa, Hongkong, the Philippines, Japan, China, South Sea Islands, New Caledonia, India, Ceylon, etc. Its export totaled 267,643 boxes of fifty-six pounds each, in the twelve months, ended April 30, 1909.

Foreign merchants in business at Bangkok, Siam, are forced by bad debts to form an association for the restriction and shortening of credits (now 3, 4 and 6 months) and to safeguard the wholesale import trade of that country.

American capital and energy is already bringing wealth out of the primeval forests of the Philippines, which have slept the sleep of centuries. Philippine lumber production is lessening the imports of Oregon pine and California redwood. In 1909 fiscal year the Philippines took $206,734 worth of American lumber and $33,697 worth of American furniture.

Filipino labor, under American direction, is both efficient and economical, says a Philippine lumberman in the Manila Times. Ignorant Tao, used only to the antiquated methods of Philippine agriculture, have been taken off their carabaos (water buffaloes) and molded into expert mechanics.

The International Banking Corporation, an American concern, has opened a bank at Peking to assist in the development of American enterprise in China.

At Bontoc, P. I., the Igorrotes, a wild tribe of the mountain province, are building some fine provincial buildings, a treasurer's home, and a club.

School after school in the Philippines reports increased enrollment this year. Provincial high schools are being built. Domestic science is being featured at the schools in the various provincial capitals.

The new hotel at Manila will cost 900,000 pesos ($450,000,) toward which the insular government will buy 600,000 pesos ($300,000) of the hotel company's first mortgage bonds, provided 300,000 pesos ($150,000) is raised by sale of stock. A sinking fund will retire the bonds in twenty-two years, when the stockholders will own the entire property, free of mortgage bonds.

Forty million acres of available forest lands, owned by the government, exist in the Philippines. This exceeds the available forest areas of either Germany, Austria, France, Hungary, Norway and Spain. The Philippine Bureau of Forestry, under Maj. George P. Ahern, is guarding the public interest in this valuable heritage. The islands stand sixth in the list of the world's forest countries.

BAD DREAMS

Caused by Coffee.

"I have been a coffee drinker, more or less, ever since I can remember, until a few months ago I became more and more nervous and irritable, and finally I could not sleep at night for I was horribly disturbed by dreams of all sorts and a species of distressing nightmare.

"Finally, after hearing the experience of numbers of friends who had quit coffee and were drinking Postum, and learning of the great benefits they had derived, I concluded coffee must be the cause of my trouble, so I got some Postum and had it made strictly according to directions.

"I was astonished at the flavor and taste. It entirely took the place of coffee, and to my very great satisfaction, I began to sleep peacefully and sweetly. My nerves improved, and I wish I could wean every man, woman and child from the unwholesome drug—ordinarily coffee.

"People really do not appreciate or realize what a powerful drug it is and what terrible effect it has on the human system. If they did, hardly a pound of it would be sold. I would never think of going back to coffee again. I would almost as soon think of putting my hand in a fire after I had once been burned.

"A young lady friend of ours had stomach trouble for a long time, and could not get well as long as she used coffee. She finally quit coffee and began the use of Postum and is now perfectly well. Yours for health."

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

BOTH SESSIONS FAIRLY ACTIVE.

ASSOCIATED AND UNION FIRMER ON SMALL SALES.

Fifty-six Shares of Former and Twenty of Latter Change Hands. Amalgamated Weak — San Diego Home Telephone Recovers More Lost Ground—Mining Deals.

A fair degree of activity prevailed during both of yesterday's calls on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Associated Oil and Union showed a tendency to strengthen on small sales, San Diego Home recovered a little more of the ground lost in the sensational drop of last week. Extensive trading in Clark Copper was the feature of the mining department activities.

Fifty-six shares of Associated changed hands at 34.75@35.00, and the stock closed at 34.87½@35.25, advanced ¼-point in both bid and asked prices over Monday's close. Twenty of Union sold at 102.75.

Amalgamated Oil was the weak spot in the petroleum list. Ten shares of the issue were marketed at 75.50 cash, and an additional 10 at 75.00, regular delivery. The close at 74.75@75.25, was declined ¼ point in each quotation. Mexican Petroleum was a trader at 1.30 to the amount of 500 shares.

Transactions in San Diego Home Telephone amounted to 40 shares at 22.50@22.56. Ten shares of Home Telephone preferred were transferred at 88.25. The rest of the utility list was out of demand.

A single Associated Oil bond sold at 95, and the bond list was, for the greater part, firm in quotations. Most of the bank stocks were strong and the leaders in the recent high bidding continued to hold their places.

Thirty thousand shares of Clark Copper were handled at 13 7-8@13¾, and 11,000 additional shares at 14, buyer 30 days. Three hundred of Dixie sold at 25; 2000 of Johnnie Mining and Milling at 11 7-8@10½; 100 of Jumbo Extension at 22; 2000 of Bonnie Clare at 7½@7¾; 1000 of California Hills at 5 1-4, buyer 30 days.

Old-Timers Feeling Happy—Market for Nevada Issues Weak—Consolidated, Florence and Fraction Lose—Tonopahs Fluctuate Within Two Points.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 112 West Third St.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The tone of the market was weak today, except in the case of the Comstocks. Goldfield Consolidated lost 7½ points and closed 4.67½ bid. Florence lost 18 points and closed 1.07½. Daisy was unchanged at 21 bid. Jumbo Extension lost 2 points, closing 32 bid. Fraction lost a point, closing 64 bid. Sandstorm was off one to 9; Booth lost 1 to 13; Blue Bull lost 1 to 7; Atlanta was unchanged, 17 bid, at 15; Kewana lost 1 to 10, and the balance of the cheap stocks closed where they were last night.

As it took very little buying to put the market up, so a little forced selling depresses the prices.

The Tonopahs all moved within two points limits, compared with yesterday, and the trading in them was comparatively light.

In the Bullfrog stocks, Mayflower was in demand at 16 cents at the close, and Bonnie Clare sold up to 7.

The Rawhides, Manhattans, Fairviews and issues of the other outlying camps were out of demand.

From one end of the Comstock list to the other gains were made. Ophir advanced 10 points, closing 1.40; Mexican was up 7½ points at 1.12½; Gould & Curry, 4 at 31; Consolidated Virginia, 20 at 1.40; Savage, 5 at 59; Hale & Norcross, 5 at 60; Yellow Jacket, 15, at 1.20; Belcher, 14, at 80; Confidence, 15, at 1.75; Sierra, 15, at 55; Exchequer, 15, at 35; Union, 7, at 53; Challenge, 7, at 35, and Potosi, 5, at 52.

There was more interest manifested today in the Comstocks than in any of the Nevada issues. The trading in these stocks is confined largely to the old timers, who have been trading in them for the last twenty-five years.

Following are the closing bid and asked prices:

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words in the line are a fraction over seven. The basis for charge, therefore, will be 7 words after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling the present "want" ad rate has been in effect, for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 80,000 daily and 90,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No other in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

MYSTERY.

FACTS POINT TO BLACK ACT.

Believed That Rich Veteran Was Murdered.

Stranger Sought With Whom Saulters Quarreled.

Autopsy Proves Many Ribs Were Fractured.

Circumstances indicating that William Saulters, a wealthy veteran of the Civil War, whose lifeless body was found in Center Place early Sunday morning, was murdered, have been brought to light.

Two theories as to the motive for killing him are advanced. One is that he was slain by enemies he made during a lawsuit, several years ago, in Tacoma, Wash.; the other is that he was murdered to get possession of valuable papers over which he quarreled with a stranger in his room a few hours before his body was found.

Detectives have been detailed on the case, but if a murder was committed, there has been ample time for the guilty person, or persons, to get out of the State.

Relatives are now on the way to Los Angeles from Tacoma to insist that the mystery surrounding the death of Saulters be cleared up.

Patrolman Crow stumbled over the body in Center Place, about eighteen feet south of Sixth street, soon after midnight. As there were no signs of violence save a discoloration of the right eye, he decided that it was a case of heart failure, made a report to this effect to his superiors and the matter was dropped.

CHEST CRUSHED.

When the coroner's surgeon performed an autopsy, yesterday, he found that Saulters's chest had been crushed. Seven ribs on each side were broken, and the ends penetrating the vital organs.

The only manner in which the injuries could have been inflicted was with a heavy weapon or by a heavy man jumping on him, according to the surgeon. He says that the man could not have been run down by a vehicle as there were no marks on the arms and the clothing was not soiled.

Saulters had lived in daily fear of men whose enmity he gained during a litigation in Tacoma. He resided at No. 615½ South Spring street with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith. To them he had frequently said that his life was constantly in danger.

"They told me they would get me some day," he said. "I beat them in the suit and they were so angry they threatened my life."

The veteran never left the rooming house at night alone, except to go to a moving picture show close by. He usually took with him the 9-year-old daughter of the Smiths.

QUARRELS OVER PAPERS.

Saturday evening, about 7:30 o'clock, Saulters was seen in his room by the Smiths. He was quarreling with a man over papers spread out on the table. The nature of these is not known as they have disappeared. It is possible that they were bonds or stocks, as he was known to have a large number of both. He usually kept them in a safety deposit vault.

The Smiths went out early in the evening, and when they returned, the veteran was not in. They retired, but Mrs. Smith arose about 11 o'clock. At that time, she says, Saulters and the stranger were walking down the hall toward the former's room.

"That was the last time I saw him alive," stated Mrs. Smith yesterday. "Half an hour after midnight, a policeman came to the house and said he had been found dead. I feel confident that he was murdered."

Another suspicious circumstances is that only $4 was found in the clothing. Saulters always carried from $25 to $50. He was known to have had a good deal of money in his possession Saturday. He was not accustomed to spend much.

The police have a description of the man who was with the veteran Saturday evening, and are attempting to locate him as they believe that he can clear up the mystery.

One feature of the case is that the shoes taken from the body were covered with brick dust. He could not have accumulated this unless he had gone a considerable distance from his home. This lends color to the theory that his body may have been hauled to the spot where it was found.

Saulters, who was 74 years old, formerly resided in New York City. From there he went to Tacoma to live and he came to Los Angeles about a year ago.

D. P. Foley, a nephew of the dead man, is now en route to this city from Tacoma. He has telegraphed the coroner to defer the burial until after his arrival.

WANTS FIRE-PLUGS.

New Improvement Association Will Also Fight for Other Municipal Advantages.

The first meeting of the Brooklyn Evergreen Improvement Association was held last evening at its headquarters at Forest avenue and Malabar street, and seventy members joined. The officers elected are: George F. Welch, president; W. F. Taylor, vice-president; Otto Shultz, secretary; J. W. Owen, treasurer and John R. Lemon, J. B. Sawyer and G. F. Stevens, Executive Committee. The association will meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

The purpose is to improve that end of the city just within the limits and north of Evergreen Cemetery. A campaign will be started at once to have five plugs installed, streets put in shape, and other municipal improvements started.

BULLET WOUND FATAL.

Jack Vernon, playing at the Grand Operahouse, was painfully hurt about the side last night when, in the course of a melodrama, he fell from a barrel, sustaining bruises that knocked the breath out of him. Vernon was playing a role in which, with his hands tied behind his back, he was rescued just as he was about to be hanged. Vernon lost a finger off his left hand at the same theater June 17, when, in the height of one of the climaxes of a particularly lurid play, one of the supernumeraries thrust a revolver into [illegible] fired the trigger.

AFTER GOOD LOOK.

HARBOR LOOKS GOOD TO GEN. MARSHALL.

Gen. W. L. Marshall, Chief of Engineers, U.S.A., starting for San Pedro yesterday morning. He says we have a great harbor, but expresses the fear that the landholders who ask exorbitant prices will hold up the proposed fortifications, now of paramount import.

AFTER a day spent in looking over the port Gen. W. L. Marshall came back to Los Angeles fast night pleased with the harbor. But he is not pleased with the outlook for fortifications, which is a large part of the purpose of his visit.

"If the owners of the land selected for fortification work do not get lower on the prices," said Gen. Marshall, "I do not know whether they will have any fortifications very soon. They are asking far too much for it, and they will have to revise their figures. There is $250,000 appropriated for land, and it will not go very far at the prices asked."

Gen. Marshall said he thinks perhaps the land owners will change their minds when they find the government will not pay a dollar more than the land is worth.

This is the only disappointment he found, he said, in his trip.

"It is a great harbor, and will be greater," said he. "The progress now made is encouraging in the hope that it will approximate its possibilities by the time the Panama Canal is ready for use. You need a big harbor for what is in sight for you. But you also need abundant facilities to distribute what the ships will bring to your docks.

"I was much impressed by the whole trip. I find that there is enterprise in the air. I also found about six kinds of climate, but they were all good. They were all hot, too, especially for a man who has to tote 300 pounds around with him. But that doesn't worry me when I have as good company as I had, and am treated as royally."

This morning Gen. Marshall will meet with the Harbor Commission to learn its views on the government improvement of the harbor.

"I want the commission to tell me every idea that it has," said he. "It is the intention of the department to build a great harbor, and it will take years and a great deal of money. It will not be finished during my incumbency as chief of the corps, but I am going to give it a good start."

After the session the general and Mrs. Marshall will visit friends here. Tomorrow they hope to make a whirl of the environs of the city and see the wonderful change that has been made since the general rode horseback through the country forty years ago.

The inspection, yesterday, was made in company with Lieut. Leeds and D. E. Hughes, of the local government engineering force, in the government launch. It began at Long Beach. After a visit to the Craig shipbuilding plant, the launch was taken for a trip through the various channels in the inner harbor and the west basin. The government dredger now at work deepening the turning basin to a depth of twenty-five feet and filling the tide lands on Smith's Island in the west basin, was also visited.

At the Fifth-street landing the party was met by delegations from the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade and taken to a café where a luncheon was served. Seated at the tables with Gen. Marshall and Lieut. Leeds were W. D. Stephens, J. A. Anderson, Homer A. Hamlin, D. E. Hughes and George H. Stewart and A. P. Fleming of the Harbor Commission. They were joined by Congressman McLachlan, who accompanied the party on the trip to the outer harbor and to the fortification site. Representing the San Pedro commercial organizations were E. D. Blanchard, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, W. F. Bickenbach, E. D. Seward, Harry Armour, M. L. Campbell, Louis Hansen and Richard Quinn.

The one point upon which Gen. Marshall laid particular stress is the matter of distribution. It would be useless to build a harbor and leave it to the mercy of a single corporation that might charge as much freight between the harbor and Los Angeles and the interior as is charged from San Francisco, he said.

STOCK EXCHANGE BANQUET.

Given in Honor of New Members Who Formerly Belonged to Late Mining Institution.

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange gave a banquet at Levy's last evening, in honor of the twenty-five brokers who were voted into the organization after the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange ceased to be.

"With our new members and the elimination of the many complications that arose from the existence of rival exchanges, there is every reason to believe that the Los Angeles Stock Exchange will make rapid strides forward," said L. F. Parsons, assistant secretary and treasurer of that institution. J. B. Neville was toastmaster and M. J. Monette, who had been president of the late mining exchange, was a speaker.

Those present at the banquet included: Joseph Ball, Fielding J. Stilson, A. H. Conger, L. A. Crisler, Harry Brooks, D. C. Sullivan, A. C. Wagy, C. J. King, C. S. Miner, J. B. Neville, G. G. Ellis, O. H. Burbridge, E. H. Newland, R. C. Rupp, Isaac Springer, Lee A. McConnell, John E. Warbie, J. O. Knight, James E. Blagge, H. Campbell, Albert Searle, A. H. Woollacott, T. R. Wallace, L. L. RAIN IS FREAKISH.

Just a Sprinkle Falls in Los Angeles, But Mountain Places Get a Drenching.

A rain which was in places only a light sprinkle and here and there a heavy downpour visited Southern California yesterday. In Los Angeles there was just a sprinkle at 11 o'clock last night.

In the country about San Gabriel, Alhambra and El Monte there was a smart shower at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A light rain fell at intervals during the afternoon at Monrovia. Along the foothills it was heavier.

In San Bernardino, beginning at 10 o'clock last night, there was a steady downpour that continued for an hour. Old residents there say they do not recall any night rain of that kind at this season of the year.

There was a generous fall at Highland but Redlands reported itself as still a dry town. There was a heavy precipitation in Bear Valley.

In Santa Ana there was in the course of the day yesterday at intervals enough rain to dampen the streets and make them slippery. Stockmen say they are not wanting rain for, coming now, it would rot the grass.

There were light showers at Corona, sufficient to lay the dust. Elsinore got a light fall.

STARTLING.

POLICE DROP INTO JACKPOT.

Others Batter in Club Door With Their Axes.

Amazed Poker Players Have Moment of Fright.

"Social" Institution Falls Under Law's Ban.

C. O. Cartlich, who for fifteen years has defied the police, came to grief last night at his gambling place at No. 143 South Broadway. Police officers actually dropped from the ceiling into his poker game while others were battering in the doors with axes.

Cartlich, better known as Oscar Cartlich, conducted the "Central Social Club," as the place was known. Below the sign appeared: "For members only." Pasted on one of the door jambs in the club was this notice: "Do not go out without calling the door man. This means you. Savvy?"

To invade the place, which has long been suspected of being headquarters for gambling, was always easy, but to catch the game in full blast and secure the evidence required by law was another matter. About two months ago the police tried it. Plans had been carefully laid and the club was being watched closely by officers, who were supposed not to be known to the gamblers. At the appointed time detectives gathered at the corners of the street and at every approach to the building. But, as on many other occasions, the "quiet tip" had been given, or else the lookouts of the club had detected the officers.

That night "The Central Social Club" was not molested. Not one of the sleuths would even look up toward the windows. They had good reason to know that to enter the place at that time would be only to find a lot of tables and chairs in deserted and apparently unused rooms. The "cops" got even by raiding a little cigar stand around the corner of Second street, where gambling was being carried on for petty bets.

Cartlich was allowed to sleep for weeks in fancied security, but several days ago, officers were again assigned to catch him.

Last night, at about 11 o'clock, the signal was given announcing to the police that a game of stud poker was in full blast and that there could be no "get away." Two officers had cut through the roof and let themselves down on the ceiling of the main gambling room. They cut through the slats that held the plastering and scratched the plaster away between the joists and a large square was held up only by the paper, with a nice little hole that permitted them to watch the game. When the time came for action, an officer, armed with an axe, went to the front door. Policemen were so stationed so as to cut off possibility of escape.

At the first sound of the axe on the door, the five men sitting in the stud poker game looked up in blank amazement. The next instant they were covered with a showed of plaster and broken slats as officers dropped down through the ceiling.

At the Police Station, Cartlich furnished $300 cash bail and gave the name of "C. O. Anderson." Others arrested, gave their names as E. C. Davis, R. J. Horner, George Warren and H. Henry, gave $100 bail each. There were other men in the club (about a dozen of them,) but they were eating lunch, and none of them was disturbed by the police.

About a dozen boxes of poker chips, cards, chairs and poker tables were confiscated.

TRANQUIL.

PAUPER IS POET AND OPTIMIST.

OXFORD MAN "PAYING FIDDLER" AT COUNTY HOSPITAL.

With Stray Nickels Publishes Book of Verse That Dazes Other Patients. English University Graduate Smiles and Smokes as He Tells of Suffering.

Cheerfully "paying the fiddler" for a period of twenty-four years, J. S. Hughes, a graduate of Oxford University, England, and a former editorial writer, has written on his bed of pain at the County Hospital a book of optimistic verse. It is intended to show to his fellow-sufferers that there can be no unhappiness when the mind is tranquil.

"I am as old as Methuselah and even older, and was equally as aged when I was but 30," chuckled Hughes, yesterday. "However, I am now doing what is called paying the fiddler and, being a gentleman and a gamester, I do not whimper at being held to my bargain. Although twenty-four years of suffering have not as yet released me from my debt, I will continue to pay without a murmur until the slate is wiped clean by the great nullifier."

The invalid, with a skinny hand, reached for a cigarette and smiled as he remarked:

"All of my major vices have been taken from me, but I am grateful to have a few minor ones left and am duly thankful that I can still daze myself with an occasional cigarette."

The writings which the former journalist believes will serve to point a moral to his fellow-sufferers in the hospital are so abstruse that even Browning might have been puzzled as to their meaning.

Some unappreciative persons who occupy cots near that of the author think it would have been better if he had not saved all his spare nickles and dimes in order to have his book published.

Here are a few lines which Hughes read to several of the patients:

"I turn from ooze, missed nurse, to thee,
To drop a tear upon thy grave—
To thee, who yearned for liberty,
Where Niobe Erin Liffy laves.
Who mocked all kings and mollusc things
Which ding dong dead men into ban
Of lies that fight for upward flight
And onward of evolving man."

The nurse who had the lines quoted to her, stated that they are a base libel. She avers she is not dead and that she has taken care of the poet ever since his arrival at the hospital from the County Poor Farm, last spring.

GLADLY GIVES HIS BLOOD.

To Save Grandmother's Life Young Man Gladly Takes Risk of Delicate Operation.

To save the life of his grandmother, Harry Adams gave his blood yesterday morning. The delicate and dangerous operation of direct transfusion was performed at the Home Sanatorium, Fifty-sixth street and Central avenue. Eight surgeons participated.

Mrs. Lucy Adams, who is 76 years old, has been suffering from cancer of the nose and throat. It was impossible to operate upon her. Recently she became so weak that only the infusion of healthy blood could save her life.

Her grandson was approached on the subject, and at once offered to take the risk. His left wrist was opened and the artery cut and bound to an artery in the left arm of his grandmother. Both patients are doing well.

CUPID WORRIED.

GIRLS PROPOSED TO EN ROUTE.

FOLLOWED HUNDREDS OF MILES BY ARDENT SUITORS.

Three Maidens of Beauty Unable to Make Up Their Minds—Faithful Attendants Have Money and Persistency—Result Sure, But When. That's the Question.

Pursued hundreds of miles by wealthy suitors and proposed to in almost every city along the route, Misses Clara Nelson, Gussie Lang and Helen Doyle have arrived in Los Angeles, not determined to make this the spot where wedding bells will chime.

Whether these young women like the novel sensation of being proposed to by the rapid-fire system, or whether they cannot quite make up their minds to matrimony, are questions their friends are asking. The young men appear with regularity whenever the girls leave their hotels. Wayne Moore of Omaha, son of a late banker of that city, is the faithful attendant of Miss Nelson. The young woman, who is staying at the Astoria Hotel, admits that she has accepted Moore and that there will be a marriage. But when—ah, that is a question she just cannot answer. When she arrived in Seattle she thought that would be the best place for the ceremony. She couldn't quite decide, so she waited until the train reached San Francisco. There she almost settled the matter, but while waiting she found it necessary to pack up and leave for this city. Would the ceremony be performed in Los Angeles? Miss Nelson has asked herself as many times as Moore has asked her, but she may wait until the train pulls into Salt Lake City.

This indecision might dampen the ardor of some, but it has not worried Moore. When the girl continues her travels this long-distance suitor will pack his grip and follow.

The three young women travel in company; likewise the three young men, who have learned that misery loves company.

Moore is staying at the Alexandria. Lemuel Hill, known in Omaha as "Lem" Hill, owner of the Iler Grand Hotel, an accomplished young bachelor and alleged suitor for the hand of Miss Lang, and Lester Jones, also wealthy and handsome, from Spokane, Wash., and likewise an alleged suitor with Miss Doyle as the object of his affections, are also at the Alexandria.

The girls are all attractive in appearance. Miss Nelson is understood to have posed for several of the Gibson pictures of the beauty of American girlhood. This caused her to be selected as one of the actresses in a pretty little playlet entitled "Gibson Girl's Review." Misses Lang and Doyle also take part. Their resemblance to the real Gibson girl of black and white is startling. Miss Evelyn West is a fourth member. In Omaha Moore and Hill recognized in two of the girls friends of their boyhood days. They have been on hand every night since, no matter where the act happened to be played.

In Spokane Miss Doyle met her fate and Lester Jones joined the bachelors' traveling brigade. In San Francisco Miss Evelyn West tampered with fate. The man who sought her hand is prominent in society and is connected with a large refinery. That much she will tell, but she refuses to divulge his name. In Los Angeles a fifth wealthy bachelor, well known in the world of business, has added himself to the list. But he is in love with Miss West, so complications may arise when the San Francisco man hears of it. The girls appear at a local playhouse. When they leave the theater the faithful ones are waiting for them, and when they leave their hotels the faithful ones are at hand.

Miss Nelson was approached yesterday afternoon, regarding her prospective marriage to Moore.

"Why, how did you hear it?" she said. "We were keeping it secret really we were, and I wish you wouldn't say anything about it.

"It might take place in Los Angeles," she continued. "But I haven't made up my mind as to just where I want to be married. It may be here or it may be in Salt Lake City. I can't really make up my mind."

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—In the Courts and Offices.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Los Angeles and Pasadena have joined hands with Pomona in asking a rehearing of the Pomona telephone case, in which the United States Court of Appeals held companies are not amenable to city ordinances.

AT THE CITY HALL.

JOIN HANDS TO SAVE STREETS.

TELEPHONE CASE TO BE TAKEN TO HIGHER COURT.

Los Angeles and Pasadena Unite With Pomona in Asking a Rehearing of the Suit Decided in Favor of Sunset Company—Cities Must Regulate.

Los Angeles and Pasadena joined hands with Pomona yesterday in an effort to procure a rehearing of the famous California telephone case, originating in Pomona, in which the United States Circuit Court of Appeals made a decision that has aroused nearly every municipality of the State.

The court held that the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company of California, operating under the State law, has a franchise to use highways and streets of municipalities gratuitously and in perpetuity, and that the municipalities cannot exact payment or compensation for the use of them.

This ruling affects so many cities and towns that the progress of the Pomona case, beginning several years ago, has been followed with interest. It began with an attempt to enforce an ordinance requiring franchise compensation for the use of the streets and was attended with police-quelling disorder and injunctions. This was repeated last winter at Pasadena when J. P. Wood, City Attorney, undertook to enforce a similar ordinance and the attempt ended in injunction proceedings in the Superior Court before Judge Bordwell.

Yesterday the Mayor and City Attorney of Los Angeles, and the Mayor and City Attorney of Pasadena, attended a session of the Pomona Trustees and carried out an arrangement whereby the decision is to be attacked by a petition for rehearing. A resolution adopted by the Pomona Trustees thus explains the united action:

"Whereas, the Board of Trustees of the city of Pomona is advised by its counsel, and by counsel for the cities of Los Angeles and Pasadena, respectively, that in the opinion of said counsel the judgment of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in case No. 1674, entitled, 'Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company vs. The City of Pomona, et al.,' is, in the opinion of said counsel, erroneous, and that proceedings should be taken for a rehearing in said court and, if necessary, for review of the judgment of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals; and

"Whereas, the issues involved in said action are of large importance not only to the city of Pomona, but to the cities of California in general, involving, as they do, claims by telephone and telegraph companies, which if substantiated by the highest courts will result in vesting in the streets of many cities of this State perpetual and gratuitous franchises to such corporations, and deprive said cities of the right to collect compensation for the use of their streets by such corporations."

The resolution further recites that as Los Angeles and Pasadena are vitally interested in the correct determination of the question involved and have offered the assistance of their legal departments the offer be accepted and that Leslie R. Hewitt and W. B. Mathews of Los Angeles, and J. P. Wood and W. J. Carr of Pasadena, be associated with Robert J. Loucks in the presentation of a petition for rehearing. In case rehearing is not granted or in case the decision is reversed the same counsel are authorized to press the case in the higher courts. It was agreed that Pomona will pay all the costs of the litigation but is to pay nothing for the additional counsel.

The intervention of Los Angeles and Pasadena was deemed necessary as Pomona had failed to establish its case and if the rehearing was not pressed the larger cities might suffer. The decision, as construed by the legal departments of the two large cities, meant that the telephone companies have a right to enter any streets they wish to, erect poles and lines, or lay conduits, in perpetuity under their State charters. This would mean that the cities could not regulate the use of their streets by either telephone or telegraph companies.

In the petition for rehearing the claim of perpetual franchise, freedom from regulation or payment of compensation to a municipality, will be attacked on the ground that the effect of the State law terminates with the limits of a municipality.

TARDY MEMBERS.

PEASE ROASTS COUNCILMEN.

After waiting nearly an hour yesterday for Councilman Clampitt to make a quorum, the Council took up and disposed of a number of routine matters. The only matters not routine were the words of censure that President Pease uttered. Usually patient and urbane, the president of the Council was rather angry when he found the legislative machinery incapable of motion due to Clampitt's tardiness.

"It is the duty of every member to be here promptly at the hour of meeting," said he. "If any member does not intend to meet this requirement he should resign."

Clampitt apologized saying he had forgotten that three members—Blanchard, Drumgold and Yonkin—are on leave of absence.

Again when Councilman Wallace absented himself from the room without leave the president asserted the rules. It is a habit of members to leave their seats and some times go out of the building without ceremony.

"Under our rules no member may leave the room without permission from the chair," said Pease, emphatically, when Wallace returned.

"It's a good rule and will be enforced in the future," said Wallace. In less than ten minutes he broke it again to answer a telephone call.

"It takes six members to make a quorum and that means every member in the city must attend or business must stop. The session yesterday was the shortest in months, lasting less than an hour.

NURSE COMMISSION.

DR. GIBBONS'S IDEA SPURNED.

A meeting of the Board of Health without Dr. Sherwin Gibbons in attendance was a novelty of the recall administration yesterday. Meetings of the board with only Dr. Gibbons present have been frequent, according to appearances to other members. When the Mayor was absent for a time yesterday and in the absence of both, the "minority" members proceeded to agree with the women of the Los Angeles College Settlement Association that a commission of five was authorized by the Council to take over the work of district nursing. This is directly opposite to the positive views of Dr. Gibbons.

He has declared it to be absurd that a commission of five be named to manage five nurses when it could be better done under the discipline of the health department and in charge of an assistant health officer, as the school nurses are. But the women of the Settlement have no intention to give up their work, for which the city pays the cost, unless the commission idea prevails and the board indorsed it.

The written suggestion of the Settlement is that the new commission be named by the Mayor and be composed of two physicians, one a member of the board and another the Health Officer, two women who shall not be nurses and another who may be "either a man or a woman." The City Attorney was asked to prepare the ordinance.

When it developed that a sanitary inspector had been working in San Pedro last week the board wanted to know by whose authority, as San Pedro had not then been consolidated. By this time the Mayor had reached the head of the table and he said it was not by his authority. Dr. Bancroft, who has charge of the sanitary force, was asked if he had made the order.

"No; it was Dr. Gibbons," answered Bancroft.

"This will not be in the interest of maintaining discipline," said Prof. Stahler. "I move that, in the future, any member who wishes to give orders to the inspectors do so through the proper channel."

And it was so ordered, the Mayor concurring.

Must Follow Specifications.

The City Attorney has advised the Board of Public Works that a contractor in building streets by private contract must observe the city specifications or become classed as an irresponsible bidder, if the board wishes. The decision was in reference to the controversy between the board and Bryant & Austin, who made an improvement of Sixth street, between Main and Broadway streets, and refused, it is alleged, to adhere to the city specifications. The board intends to declare the firm irresponsible bidders in future contracts on Vrooman-act work.

Commercial-street Spur.

The Council has decided not to act on the request for a spur track on Commercial street, running from the Santa Fé tracks to private property and thence to Ducommon and Lafayette streets, as Marco H. Hellman wants it. The petition was sent back to the Board of Public Works yesterday with instructions to give it further investigation. The spur, according to Councilman Healy, will practically give the streets to railroad uses, and he will not support it as it stands. The same spur nearly brought the recall on Healy two years ago.

University Police Station.

Plans for the new University Police Station have been approved by the Police Commission and the Board of Public Works will receive bids in two weeks. The building is to cost $20,000.

Pioneer Who Could Recall Pueblo Days to Be Buried This Morning. Expert Saddle Maker.

The funeral of Antonio Aguilar, who was accidentally killed on Saturday, will be held at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the family residence, No. 1579 Henry street. There will also be services at Sacred Heart Church. Interment will be at Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Aguilar was born in Lower California eighty-seven years ago, and came here when Los Angeles was a pueblo and the surrounding country was divided into ranchos consisting of thousands of acres, with countless numbers of cattle and horses roaming over the hills and through the valleys.

He took up as an occupation the manufacturing of stockmen's riding saddles, for which California was, and is today, famous. In this he became most proficient, having made some of the most magnificent designs ever shown in the West. At the time of his death he had been in the employ of the Los Angeles Saddlery and Finding Company for fifteen years.

He was always a public-spirited citizen, upholding the law and using his influence among his people in the cause of justice and good citizenship.

He leaves a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Albert Scheller, who resides in San Fernando; a son in Lower California, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry Shore, and a son, Louis Aguilar, who live in this city.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

LEAVITT HERE; MEANS TO STAY.

EXTRADITION WARRANT FOUND TO BE DEFECTIVE.

Court Refuses to Hold Auto Dealer for Seattle Authorities on Charge of Manslaughter as Papers Are Signed by Secretary of State Instead of Governor.

That under the laws of California, it is not legal for warrants in extradition to be signed by the Secretary of State, instead of the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, seemed to be the conclusion reached in the Ralph J. Leavitt habeas corpus case, in Judge Davis's court, yesterday, and the complaint against the accused, so far as the present action is concerned, will be dismissed.

Leavitt is wanted in Seattle, on a charge of manslaughter, having, it is alleged, while engaging in a "joy ride" through the streets of that city, run over a teamster and killed him. Leavitt is a well-known automobile man, and won the locomobile race in this city last Sunday, and with it a check for $10,000. He was arrested ten days ago on the warrant that is now found to be defective, and Assistant District-Attorney F. H. Holsheimer came to Los Angeles for the purpose of getting the accused.

But a fight was put up against the return of Leavitt to Washington for trial. It was discovered that the warrant in extradition proceedings had not been signed by either Gov. Gillett or Lieut.-Gov. Porter, but by Secretary of State Curry. When this was learned, the District Attorney's forces discontinued the prosecution, and the statement was made in court yesterday, that under the circumstances, the papers in the case were not regular, and extradition would not lie.

Judge Davis agreed with the contention, but asked that a return be made and the case was postponed until Saturday, when the formal entry dismissing the warrant will be made. Whether the authorities of Washington will in the meantime secure a regular warrant, or whether under the circumstances such vacation would hold, is another story. But so far as the District Attorney's office is concerned, the original complaint upon which the arrest of Leavitt was made, is null and void.

Under the uniform ruling in the local court extradition proceedings must follow the letter of the law, and nothing is ever taken for granted.

SEEKS RESCISSION.

COMPANY WANTS LAND BACK.

A complaint for a rescission of a contract and return of deeds, was filed in the Superior Court yesterday. The Mineral Park Land Company was the plaintiff, and Burdick R. Ellis and Hazel M. Ellis, his wife, were defendants. The plaintiff alleges that on August 9 last, it traded lots 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15, block B, New York Syndicate tract, for $250 in cash and six interim bonds of the Chanute Cement and Clay Product Company, asserted to be worth $5760 and payable $20 every six months.

The petition recites that the defendants declared they had owned the bonds for more than eighteen months; that they had been purchased at Akron, O., and were a good investment; that G. W. E. Griffith, whom the plaintiff knew to be a good business man and banker in Los Angeles, had purchased $5000 worth of the bonds, paying 75 per cent. of the full value; that the plant was in full operation and doing a good business.

Now the plaintiff sets out that it has discovered the representations were false and fraudulent, and ask that the contract be rescinded, and that the defendants be required to reconvey to plaintiff the property involved, and accept the check for $250, originally given by the plaintiff as part of the consideration. It is set out the defendants have refused to return the real estate, and will not take the check.

CROSSED IN LOVE.

EXPERTS SAY HE IS INSANE.

A fine looking young man, with a splendid head and whose face gave every evidence of intelligence, was before Judge Moss in the Superior Court yesterday, on a charge of insanity. He is Ernest Grinton, aged 25, of Sawtelle, and his father, J. C. Grinton, aged 75 years, was the complaining witness.

The evidence showed that ten years ago the son was crossed in love, and that ever since he has been very peculiar. The father, in his evidence, asserted that the son had thrown a milk bottle at him while they were seated at a table, and that on one occasion he had tried to poison him with strychnine, but he detected the danger in time to avoid serious consequences. All of these charges the son denied, and he gave no evidence of a diseased mentality while doing it.

One of the witnesses from Sawtelle, was asked if he considered Grinton insane.

"I certainly do," was the answer.

"Why," was asked.

"Because I think any man who pounds his father, and abuses him, tears his clothes and then says he is only 'playing horse' with him, is crazy."

"If your honor please," said Grinton, when the witnesses had spoken, "there are two witnesses I should like to have summoned in my behalf," and the court ordered that the hearing be postponed until this afternoon. But the Lunacy Commission voted tentatively that he was crazy.

The aged parents of the unfortunate man were witnesses against him, although reluctant ones, and it was plain to be seen that they were suffering more than the son, who did not seem to realize his position.

COLORADO ROMANCE.

TIED UP IN GUARDIANSHIP.

Under the simple title of a petition for the appointment of a guardian filed in the Probate Court yesterday, is an interesting story, closely bordering upon a romance.

Years ago Clara Alward located a quarter section of government land in Weld county, Colorado, under the homestead laws, doing the work necessary to hold possession of it. Afterward she received a patent, confirming her in its ownership. Years of toil of the hardest description were necessary on her part, but when the farm was finally secured, it was found that the victory had been won at the fearful cost of the reason of the woman who had worked so hard to accomplish something that would make her independent.

In October, 1908, the unfortunate Miss Alward was declared an incompetent by the Probate Court of Weld county, Colorado, and a guardian was appointed. A few months ago she was brought to the home of her sister in this city, Emma A. Eastman, who has applied for appointment as her guardian in this county.

It is desired that she be placed under the control of the California courts, for enemies back in Colorado, who knew of her condition, are conspiring, it is alleged, against her, to the end that the farm owned by the woman shall be sold for a song to a neighboring rancher, who has his eyes on the place, which has doubled in value within the past three years. It is in order to circumvent this scheme that the property is to be made amenable to the laws of this State. The case will be heard by Judge Wilbur August 30.

ALL TO CHILDREN, GOES MOTHER'S PROPERTY.

The will of Marianna Cecille Crevolin Garnier was offered for probate yesterday. The testator, a resident of Los Angeles, died at the home of her daughter, Marie Louise Augustine Caillat, at Gap, Hautes Alpes, France, May 26, 1909. The estate bequeathed is valued at $73,899.74, consisting in part of twenty-one and one-third shares of the capital stock of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Los Angeles, valued at $853.33; two hundred shares of the capital stock of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, valued at $48,000; twelve shares of the German-American National Bank, valued at $2340; a note of George Peterman for $14,000, and about $7000 in cash.

Under the terms of the will all of the property goes to the three children, Leon and Peter Garnier and Marie Louise Augustine Caillat, share and share alike. The holdings are to be placed in the hands of a trustee, however, which may be any reputable bank in Los Angeles, and the interest is to be paid the children for their support, when at the end of five years the property is to be turned over to the beneficiaries.

Peter and Leon Garnier, the sons, are nominated by the mother as the administrators of her estate.

FATHER'S MESSAGE.

GIVEN CHILDREN IN WILL.

"My sincere wish is that you children live as in the past without one word of contention or any unpleasantness, and both look to the care and happiness of your mother, who is even now not well, "FATHER."

Such is the message of Oliver P. Gould, whose will was offered for probate yesterday, bequeathing an estate valued at $39,250. To the wife and mother, Mary C. Gould, he leaves nothing, for the reason, as he states, that he has already given her $50,000 worth of real estate, which she holds in her own name. All of the property, real and personal, goes to the children, Erwin N. Gould and M. Augusta Gould, to be divided equally, after M. Augusta Gould has been paid a sum equal to that which the father has already given her brother, $3709. The two children are nominated as administrators, without bond, to look after the property.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

SMALL ESTATE. By the provisions of the will of Hiram H. Benedict of Pasadena, filed for probate yesterday, an estate valued at $6300 is given absolutely to the wife of the testator, Lucretia E. Benedict, who is also nominated as administratrix.

FOR CARE OF CHILDREN. Carrie F. Barnes brought an action in the Superior Court, yesterday, against Robert Johnson, to recover $375, alleged to be due for keeping minor children of Robert and Helen Johnson, at the rate of $25 a month.

INCORPORATIONS. The following articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday: Los Angeles Oil Refining Company, capital stock, $25,000; directors, G. H. Gillons, Thaddeus A. Winter, Julius R. Jacob, L. R. Cook and Mattison B. Jones; Hawthorne Acres Water Company, capital stock $35,000, C. F. Ellis, L. M. Ellis and R. O. Johnson, directors; Western Loose-Leaf Manufacturing Company, capital stock, $100,000, J. O. Phillips, John A. Stum, J. B. Lilly, James Pitcher and Lloyd L. Miller, directors; The White Company, capital stock, $2,500,000, M. G. McAleeman, J. C. Rexroth, L. J. Malin, L. B. Graham and George C. Ford, directors.

SUIT ON AN AUTO. Everybody who buys an automobile does not evidently pay for the machine, for Huntley L. Gordon, operating as the Stearns Motor Car Company, brought an action in the Superior Court yesterday, asking for judgment against F. C. Converse for $2580, the balance alleged to be due on a toy tonneau Stearns automobile. The original cost of the machine was $3380, but of that amount only $800 had been paid by Converse.

SULLIVAN CASE. The complaint against Mary Sullivan, wife of Attorney Stephen Sullivan, charging that she is not a proper person to have the custody of their three children, will be heard in Judge Wilbur's court today. Since the action of Judge Bordwell in extending the probation period of the husband and father, there has been a general straightening out of the affairs of the Sullivan family, and the friends of Mrs. Sullivan declare that she will now prove worthy of any trust imposed in her by the court.

MARSHALL ESTATE. The will of William S. Marshall, filed for probate in the Superior Court yesterday, leaves an estate valued at $7000, for the most part to the wife, Ellena Provines Marshall. She secures all of the real property and one-half of the personal estate, the remainder of the personal belongings going to the children.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

DOESN'T LIKE TO LOSE HER.

YOUNG WIDOW MAKES CHARGES AGAINST SWEETHEART.

She Tells Him He Must Stop His Wooing and He Gets Angry and Raises Rumpus; Police Are Looking for Him—Cab Horse Cause of Alleged Battery Case.

Mrs. Anna L. Fisher complained to the prosecuting attorneys yesterday that her former sweetheart, Roy Shirley, created a great disturbance in the vicinity of her residence, No. 209 North Grand avenue, when she gave him the mitten Monday night.

After listening to her story, the attorneys issued a disturbing the peace compaint against the disappointed suitor and it was filed in Justice Chambers' court. He is now sought by the police.

It was not long ago that Mrs. Fisher and Shirley believed that they were true "affinities," according to her admissions to the lawyers. But love is a fickle thing. As Shirley's affections increased, Mrs. Fisher's heart throbs for him diminished.

It was a terrible blow to him when he was told that he need not come any more. The young widow says he used language that would not tend to soften any one's heart and she wants him punished for taking his dismissal so rudely.

Cab Horse Causes Row.

An old cab horse was the innocent cause of W. H. Duncan being arraigned before Justice Chambers on a charge of battery yesterday. Duncan denied the accusation and will be tried today.

M. O'Day, driver of the Natick House bus, is the complaining witness. In securing the complaint he told his experiences to the prosecuting attorneys:

"As I drove up to the Natick House I saw Duncan standing by the curb. When I swung the team around the nose of one of the horses brushed against him. He began swearing at me. When I jumped down he struck me twice. Two or three people grabbed him and others held me."

Only Battery Charge.

W. C. Garry was before Justice Chambers yesterday on a charge of battery on Harry Babbitt of No. 2211 McClintock avenue. He pleaded guilty and was sent to jail to await sentence tomorrow.

Garry was formerly employed by Babbitt and was discharged. This rankled in his mind and he followed the latter on Main street Monday night.

"What do you want?" demanded Babbitt.

Garry responded by stabbing him in the breast. The injured man was taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment.

He Will Eat, Anyway.

Unusual cruelty to two horses caused Justice Chambers to inflict severe punishment upon Barney Gesenhans, yesterday. The magistrate fined him $75, with the alternative of spending seventy-five days in the workhouse. He is now in jail as he has not been able to pay the fine.

Gesenhans kept the horses in a corral near the Plaza. The officers who arrested him testified that he had fed the beasts only rough marsh grass, fit only for packing purposes, and that the animals had frequently gone for more than twenty-four hours without water.

Gets Fifteen Days.

When Martin Scenters left a Main-street rooming house, where he had procured lodging for a night, he carried away a bedspread under his coat. The police caught him. He was taken before Justice Chambers yesterday and sent to the chain-gang for fifteen days.

Fell Into the Trap.

Ben Solomon, an ex-convict and former "fence" for thieves, was fined $20 by Justice Chambers yesterday, for conducting a second-hand business without a city license. The police had suspected him for some time, but he was so cunning they could not catch him in a transaction. Convinced that he was evading the law, they laid a trap for him and he fell into it, buying brushes which had been marked. Solomon's establishment was at No. 616 Buena Vista street.

Will Set Date for Trial.

Charges of rebating and raising prices without the consent of the City Council were denied before Justice Rose by eight officers and employés of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Company yesterday. The justice will fix upon a date for trial and announce it October 18.

Hearing Is Postponed.

The preliminary hearing of George P. Arnerich, one of the proprietors of Good Fellows' Grotto, on a charge of bribing Patrolman Brown, was not held before Justice Rose yesterday, as scheduled. E. J. Fleming, the defendant's attorney, declared he was subpoenaed as a witness in the Broadhead case and could not be present in the lower court. The case was continued until September 4.

GENTLEMAN OF OLD SCHOOL.

Funeral Will Be Held Today of Chivalric Southerner and Member of Well-Known Family.

Alfred Erskine Lea, father of Gen. Homer Lea, died Monday at his home on Westlake avenue. He had been a sufferer for some time from a cancer. He passed away peacefully in his chair, while talking with a member of his family.

Mr. Lea, who was a chivalrous, old-fashioned gentleman of the South, was a descendant of one of the oldest families of Virginia and Tennessee. He was born in 1845 on the Lea estate on French Broad, in East Tennessee.

Thirty years ago he retired from business and since 1894 he had been living in Los Angeles, where he educated his son.

Mr. Lea was a man of the highest honor and his every act was subjected to a rigorous self-scrutiny.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow. By the special wish of the dead man, the pallbearers will be selected from the school friends of his son, Gen. Lea.

MINES AND MINING.

MINERS LAY OUT NEW TOWN.

ENTERPRISE OF HERCULES AND RAY CONSOLIDATED.

These Two Corporations Form Townsite and Water Companies to Build Up a Community of Miners and Those Who Supply Their Wants—A Big Enterprise.

The new town of Ray, Ariz., has been platted about a half-mile north of the present postoffice of that name, and upon the property of the Hercules Townsite Company, a corporation just organized to build the new town, and to transact a general townsite business. Its officers are: W. P. Dunham, owner of the Arizona Hercules Copper Company, president; E. Stenger, general superintendent of the Ray Consolidated, vice-president, and E. G. Thomas, treasurer of the Arizona Hercules, secretary and treasurer.

Dwellings and store buildings will be erected at once and rented. The company says the ore reserves already in sight guarantee mining operations on a big scale for more than fifty years, and up to the present time, in the total acreage of the three largest companies of the camp, viz., the Ray Consolidated, the Arizona Hercules and the Gila Copper Company, less than one-fifteenth has been developed by the system of churn drilling adopted by the management.

There has also just been organized the Hercules Water Company, with the same officers. The waters of Mineral Creek are conducted from the intake, about four miles above the town, to an immense reservoir, situated on the Hercules Townsite Company's property. Duplicate filter systems will be established, and an ample supply of water may be relied upon all the year for all purposes, including the various mines. An arrangement has been effected between the Arizona Hercules and the Ray Consolidated to divide the Hercules Water capital stock between these two corporations.

Mercantile business will also be conducted by the Hercules Townsite Company, which proposes in the near future to issue 6 per cent twenty-year bonds. It is more than likely that they will be offered in Los Angeles, probably at ninety, and will carry a stock bonus in the Hercules Townsite Company.

Nevada Notes.

The Goldfield Consolidated last week distributed $68,000 on its July payroll among some 500 employés; the Florence paid on the 7th a little over $14,000, and other companies some $50,000. This means $125,000 in the district in one month.

George Wingfield has announced that he is prepared to grant leases on all Goldfield property controlled by him outside of the Consolidated property. This will include some of the best ground in the district, such as the Blue Bull, Columbia Mountain, Booth, Conqueror, Golden Boulder, Berkeley, Ethel, May Queen, Kendall, Sandstorm, Lena, Fairview, Milltown, Nevada Boy, Tonopah Gold Mining, Tennessee and Nome Trust. H. S. Stark, consulting engineer for Mr. Wingfield, is authorized to execute the leases with prospective operators.

Within another week the Florence expects to have its new tube mill, four "Card" tables and amalgamating plates in position at the mill ready for work, so as to raise the capacity to 160 tons a day. A tramway from the Little Florence shaft has just been built. The main shaft will be enlarged to three compartments. New ore is being opened all the time, and development is generally reported as very favorable.

Three 1000-foot shafts are being sunk in the heart of Goldfield. One on the Goldfield Annex lease on the Polaverde is down 340 feet, and ten men are sinking it farther; another, of three compartments, is being sunk by Dr. H. H. Muggley of New York, leaser on the Polaverde ground of the Jumbo Extension, and a third is the Consolidated's Claremont shaft, developments in which give assurances of success in deep mining. The three are within a few hundred feet of each other.

Dr. E. A. Wheeler, S. Canman and I. H. Cook, all interested in the Victor lease at Goldfield, have acquired the Murray ten-stamp mill, part of the Proskey No. 1 lease and full control of the Victor lease on the Coalition estate at Rawhide.

B. E. Thomas last week made a good strike on the Columbia lease on Columbia Mountain, held by the company of that name, at the bottom of a 120-foot shaft, where large slabs plastered with free gold are said to have been uncovered.

Hundred-dollar gold ore has been opened in the Comstock-Merrimac mine, near Virginia City, and ten miles from Apacha, the nearest railway station, thirteen miles from Hazen, where it will be shipped for treatment. One foot runs as high as $300 to $400 a ton, with a large streak of lower-grade, which will keep the average at $75 to $100. Selected samples go as high as $2000 to $3000 per ton. The mine is controlled by the same interest as the Broken Hills.

Among displays sent to the American Mining Congress at Goldfield will be at least 350 pounds of quicksilver ore from the Nevada-Almaden Mining Company's property in American Cañon, near Winnemucca, Nev., which is asserted to be among the largest workings of this kind in the United States.

To Entertain Arizonans.

The Chamber of Mines will give an informal reception and smoker on the afternoon of August 27 to the members of the Hassayampa Club, former Arizonans resident in Los Angeles and visitors. There will be a meeting of the Entertainment Committee on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 to consider details.

In buying a cough medicine, don't be afraid to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds and whooping cough.—[Adv.

BITTER.

NOT FOR HER ASYLUM ROAD.

Old Maid Hermit Has a Path of Her Own.

Neighborhood Row for Right of Way in Court.

Woman Charged With Insanity Is Set Free.

Miss Myra L. Eckels, the maiden lady who has for years been known as the woman hermit of Azusa, won a decided victory over her detractors before the Lunacy Commission yesterday, that body ordering her discharge from custody after but a partial hearing of the case. There was apparently no foundation for the claim that the woman was insane.

The case grew out of a long-continued neighborhood quarrel, and a delegation of Azusa citizens was summoned as witnesses for either one or the other side of the action. William F. Dunn was the complaining witness, but his testimony was punctuated with bitterness, and the fact that Miss Eckels had filed two complaints against him alleging trespass, to be tried in the Azusa courts today, militated against his evidence.

It was charged by the attorney representing Miss Eckels that the reason Dunn brought insanity proceedings against his client was to place her in a position where she could not testify in the trespass cases, but this was vehemently denied.

Dunn was given a severe grilling by the lawyer who represented the woman. Seeking to establish the animus existing between the two, the witness was asked:

"Did you not court Miss Eckels, at one time?"

"No, sir," shouted Dunn.

"When were you married, Mr. Dunn?" was the next query.

"On January 24, last," he replied, coloring to the roots of his hair. It was evident he feared what was coming.

NO OLD SWEETHEARTS THERE.

"Are there not three or four women in this room to whom you proposed?" was the next query.

"Not a word of it true," fairly shrieked Dunn, and, rising to his feet, he said: "I would like to see any woman in this courtroom except my present wife, to whom I ever proposed." Nobody got up to answer the soft impeachment, and Dunn, glaring about the place, sat down.

"Are you not angry at Miss Eckels because she would not marry you?" was the final shot. But Dunn was so cross that he could only manage to say "No, sir; no, sir."

Miss Eckels, in answer to preliminary questions, said she was 66 years of age; was born and raised in Pittsburgh, and had been a resident of California for more than twenty years, near Azusa and San Dimas, removing to the first named about three years ago.

Then Dunn took the stand and he spoke strongly against the woman. He declared that she did not own any of the land on which she lived, and that her course had been a continual source of trouble with the neighbors. He alleged that she had a delusion that nobody had a right to go over a country road that ran through her land, although it had been so used for years, and that she had threatened to kill a half-dozen of the ranchmen because they dared travel the thoroughfare.

BITTER AGAINST DEFENDANT.

The witness declared that Miss Eckels starved her stock; and recited the two complaints brought against her by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, for their ill-treatment. It was stated, however, that in the first trial she was acquitted, and that on the second the jury disagreed as to her guilt.

Dunn asserted that the woman lived in a house in which there was not a stick of furniture, and that she slept on the floor, two of the best rooms in the house being devoted to the breeding of Spitz dogs. On one occasion she had nailed up the gates on her place so that it was impossible to get food to the rangers working on the mountains, and that for several days they were without sustenance of any kind. She was also guilty of dehorning her cattle, the witness said.

"Another one of her crank ideas," said Dunn, "was that her boundary line was her castle, and that no one could travel the road that went through the quarter-section she pretended to own. I told her once that she was crazy and she came right back with the remark that Galileo and Christopher Columbus were also considered crazy, and that ended the argument."

It was shown that Miss Eckels had a lease on the 160 acres that she occupied, and as to whether the road was a public thoroughfare, that was a matter for the courts to determine. Such was the conclusion reached by the Lunacy Commission and Judge Moss, and the woman was discharged.

The quarrel will be resumed in the Azusa courts today, when Dunn must answer for driving across the lands of Miss Eckels without her permission.

It is asserted by those who say they are in a position to know something of the financial condition of Miss Eckels that she is worth more than $30,000, most of which she has accumulated by raising cattle and other stock. There is a great deal of sympathy for her in the vicinity of Azusa and Glendora.

The news indicates that Cuba has again wearied of playing at the peaceful republic game.

It is a mistake to say that people are "dying like flies" in the East. The flies are very much alive.

A Chicago preacher declares that Darwin was a faker. That's the very thing that Darwin used to call a preacher.

It is really a pity that we are to fill Southern California with factories, but the increasing population demands it.

The present size of Los Angeles is such that it will not pay to spend any time trying to spread a small Mayor over it.

The Georgia Legislature has voted down the income tax. Times have been pretty good in Georgia for several years past.

It has been reliably ascertained that Mayor Alexander has saved the city an additional 42 cents during the past three days alone.

"We fear no foe," as the song says, but we will all feel more comfortable when those fortifications have been erected at San Pedro.

The Mayor will find that the coming election will be equipped with certain features that differ decidedly from the late recall election.

The country must always have some form of excitement, therefore it might as well be the Ballinger-Pinchot fight as anything else.

A young man in Portland, Or., has written some verses entitled "Tschaikowsky." He does not, however, attempt to make the title rhyme.

It will prove a great surprise to the American people if proof can be adduced to show that there is graft in New York City, as rumored.

If Mark Twain has been cut down to four cigars a day he will probably make a very disagreeable pilot when he totes Mr. Taft down the Mississippi.

Another thing that will still further endear Uncle Joe Cannon to the American people is that he has steadfastly declined to take the Chautauqua circuit.

The druggists' convention followed the undertakers' convention in Los Angeles instead of vice versa, as some people think it ought to have been.

An Oregon Indian named Chief No Shirt has reached Washington, where, at the present writing, his name will be welcomed as a refreshing innovation.

When a young man gets a chance to press the girl he loves to his bosom he doesn't give a hang whether he breaks the cigars in his vest pocket or not.

The scientist who declares that this is not a good country for blonde women probably neglected to investigate prosperous conditions in and around Pittsburgh.

The Duke of Abruzzi may as well understand that Americans do not think a man can be much of a sport who doesn't marry the girl he wants to marry.

People will soon become so accustomed to the new Lincoln pennies that they will not hesitate to place them in the church collection plates instead of nickels.

While on a diet of bread and beer Mr. Harriman secures control of 12,000 additional miles of railroad. The lesson is that every man should look to his diet.

Another difference is that ice water as a hot weather drink kills a man in the East, while all it does to a man in this part of the country is to make him fat.

Salt Lake hotels have declined to entertain Johnson, the negro pugilist, but the Salt Lake constable stands ready to grab him the moment he exceeds the speed limit.

The statement has been made that too many Los Angeles schoolmarms are getting married. No, no; not though they all married. The world will not lack for teachers.

If no money except the money to be spent on public improvements were in sight for the greater Los Angeles it would still be one of the most prosperous spots on the map.

No doubt the Mayor would be glad to still further save money for the city by agreeing to serve in the office indefinitely without making it necessary to hold another election.

A news item says that a tablet has been raised at Vienna to the memory of Auenbrugger, "the father of percussion." That's a nice thing for a man to be the father of, isn't it?

If you will take the trouble to notice, you will see that it is the mother of a large family and not the male parent thereof who can always recall the exact day and date on which the children were born.

Mosquitoes in a Texas town forced passengers in a railway train to crawl under the seats of the cars. We knew something would be started in Texas as soon as Mr. Bryan had definitely decided to reside there.

WHAT OF CUBA?

Cuba must answer for herself as to what her fate is to be. The United States stepped in to save Cuba from sufferings she had found intolerable under the rule of "Bloody Weyler," and when at great money expense and some loss of life the "Pearl of the Antilles" was made a nation with home rule secured, our government withdrew the American troops and bade Cuba Godspeed on her way to peace and prosperity.

But the people of the island did not please to walk in the paths of peace. The same dislike to Spanish rule developed toward their own government, and an insurrection followed. The interference of the United States between Cuba and Spain was not all disinterestedness. The traditional policy of our government is that outlined by Washington. We do not seek international difficulties, but prefer to go on with the development of our country free from all "entangling alliances" and imbroglios with other nations. We aided Cuba to gain her freedom because the internal warfare carried on in the island spread out into our coast towns and imperiled our peace at home and with Spain. It is just as much a disturbance of our peace to have an internal insurrection in Cuba as if the trouble were with Spain. It is less excusable now than then. In fact, there is no excuse for trouble in Cuba under present conditions. The existence of unrest there simply means that the people of the island are not fit for self-government.

As we could not endure perpetual warfare between Cuba and Spain, so we could not endure factional warfare between the Cubans. For the protection of our own peace we sent an army into the island to put down the insurrection and kept it there until peace was thoroughly restored, a new government whose officers were chosen by the Cubans installed and in absolute control of affairs. Then, permanent peace seemingly hopefully safe, the American army was again brought home.

That is only a few months ago, and now we hear of a new uprising in Cuba, the faction comprising the "outs" not content to wait for a new election at the proper time to displace the "ins" in a constitutional way. Force is to prematurely settle a question which reasonable methods should settle at the proper time.

If warfare between Cuba and Spain was not to be endured by us ten years ago, and internal trouble intolerable five years ago, still less can we stand for an insurrection at this time. We had few interests in Cuba then; we have many now. Ten years ago we had no obligation to protect the interests of the English, the French or the Germans in Cuba. If we had not as nearest neighbor stepped in then, any of these countries might properly have done so for the protection of the interests of its subjects. This is so no longer. We stand sponsor to the world, to Mexico as much as to Great Britain, to Argentina as much as to France, for the good conduct of Cuba, for the safety of investments made there.

But what shall we do? Shall we interfere in Cuba for the third time, the second time between Cubans and Cubans? Shall we again go to the cost of sending an army over to the island to put down the insurrection, restore peace, see a new government set up and then withdraw to let the same serio-comic drama be played all over again with a new set of actors? We think not. In a game of common baseball the rule is "three strikes and out," and we think it is time for our government to call peremptorily to Cuba "Play ball," and to enforce the rules of the game. If an American army has to be sent into Cuba for the third time, in our opinion it will be the end of the tragedy-comedy. That army will not come back. A governor-general will be sent to Havana and he will keep an army there of sufficient strength to maintain order, to protect property and permit of the peaceful development of the natural resources of the island, in order to permit of making profitable the railroads and other enterprises undertaken by foreign capital. We are responsible to our own people and to those of all the world for the good conduct of Cuba. If we do not perform our duty the other governments will see that peace prevails in the island. We will not jeopardise the Monroe doctrine, nor run the chance of international complications with other nations. For our own sake at home and for the protection of our rights in the western hemisphere we will see that our full duty is squarely met and perfectly performed.

It is "up to Cuba." The patriotic, peaceful, reasonable people of the island must take the matter in hand and show their capacity for home government. They must do it, or we shall do it. But if we have to go in there again, it will be for a long time if not "for keeps."

GO SLOW WITH SHIPS.

The Times has been an ardent advocate of a great navy for our country for twenty-five years. We have never held back a moment in advocating the construction of the best warships on the seas and of enough of them to insure our safety against foreign invasion.

At the same time we have been forced to recognize the advantages we have had in lagging somewhat behind other nations in the building of war vessels. We have had their experience to guide us, and in this way, while others may have had more ships, we have had a fleet the most up to date. Millions of dollars have been saved to us by this conservative policy. We have had few ships unfit for service, and our good ones have all been a match for the best. In recent years Germany has followed the same policy, so that now the United States and the German Empire have fleets that outclass that of France, and run closer to being a match for the British navy than any in hundreds of years. Japan is in the same happy condition. These Orientals have not a large fleet, but most of the ships of Japan are of the very highest type of efficiency.

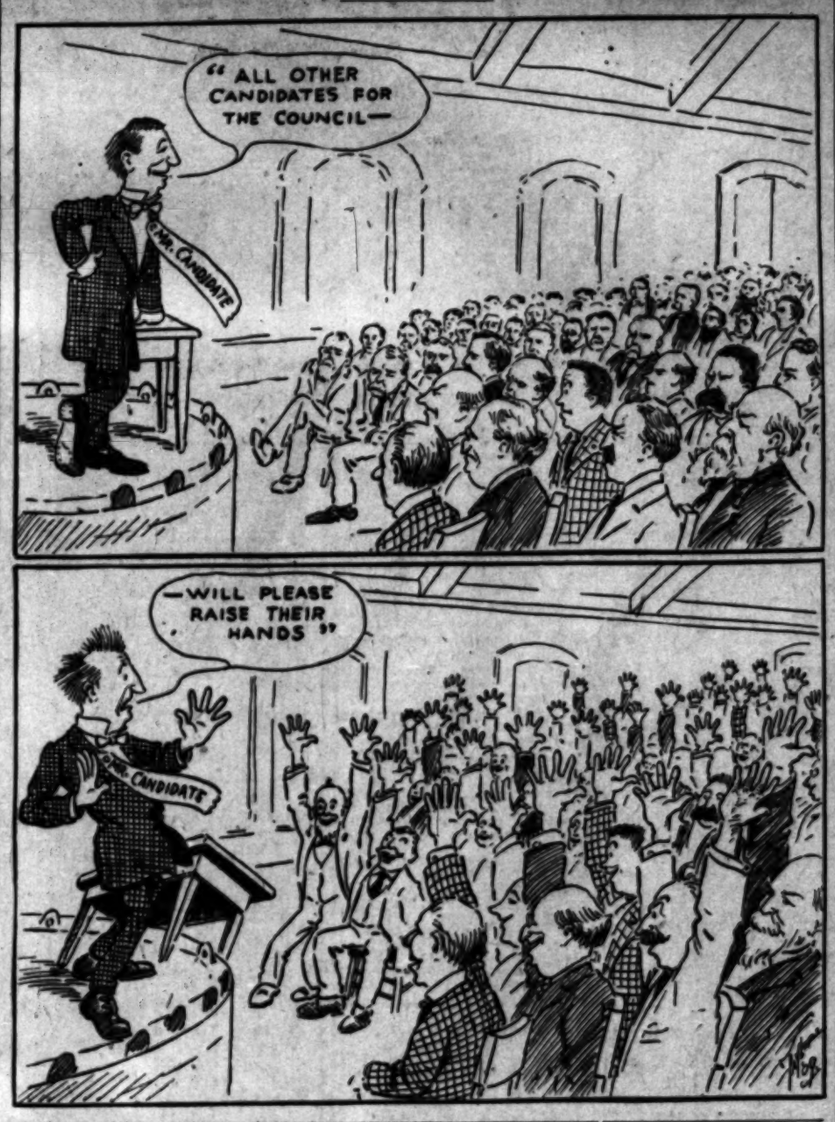
We are now talking of constructing a battleship which will outclass the best afloat under any flag. Following our policy of having the very best there is, we should say this is probably a wise step. One ship of the highest efficiency is worth in battle from ten to fifty of the out-of-date classes of ships. A great battleship of large steaming radius, with the heaviest batteries and swift of movement, in battle might easily sink a fleet of less efficient ships. In the war with Spain Dewey stood out of reach of the fleet at Manila and sank ship after ship, never receiving a shot. At Santiago de Cuba Sampson's fleet was scarcely reached by a shot, while all Cervera's ships were sunk, set afire or driven ashore. In the battle between the Japanese and Russian fleets one Japanese vessel did about all the fighting, sinking one after another of the enemy's vessels.

Since these naval encounters great changes have taken place in warfare affecting the efficiency of ships. This week we read of a dirigible torpedo boat invented by a French engineer, which, if as effective as claimed by the inventor, will render great battleships useless. Then we have almost daily accounts of the nearer approach to effectiveness in airships of various construction. It is reported from Paris that a company has been organized for aërial navigation, with airships carrying ten to fifteen passengers at the rate of 100 miles an hour, and capable of remaining in flight ten hours. One of these machines has traversed the Straits of Dover, and these French passenger ships could cross the English Channel at any point, or even the North Sea. The flying machine men tell us with all confidence that they will soon cross the Atlantic.

These ships will carry men and projectiles of as much precision of fire as a rifle, sufficient to destroy any battleship existing. If these dreams, so familiar fifty years ago to those who were fond of reading "Locksley Hall," come to be facts, there will be a complete change in warfare. Fleets will not be thought of for the water, but those for the air.

We Americans must not take too much for granted and get left far behind in constructing a navy, but we must follow our usual conservative course and not run too far in advance of our times. Ten years ago the Oregon, when that ship made a run from San Francisco to Key West and Capt. Clark sent word to Washington that there was not a screw loose in his ship, but he was ready to fight in an hour, proved that he had, all things considered, the best battleship in the world. Today the Oregon is condemned to be a training ship. If we build next year a ship that will outclass the navies of the world, in ten years it will be a "has been." If the "airy navy, grappling in the central blue," is to be a fact, all our seagoing ships will become junk.

AT THE PRECINCT MEETING.



END TO UNION DICTATION.

The barber shop proprietors in Bakersfield, one of the very few cities left in the southern half of California where many lines of business still submit to union domination, have risen in revolt against the latest exhibition of union dictation and have served notice in no uncertain tone that they propose to be masters in their own shops, as is their unquestionable right.

Recently the barbers' union issued orders to those who pay the wages of its members that they must raise the price of a shave to 25 cents. The proprietors were not consulted—simply were given orders like humble servants and were expected to obey meekly as in the past. Strangely, perhaps, the union bosses failed to realize that things have changed a little, even in Bakersfield, from the days a few years ago when they drove out of the city a non-union barber who came to work for a boss who would not submit to dictation.

A card published in the Bakersfield papers, signed by fourteen proprietors, says that their prices will remain as they are after September 7—the date fixed for them to change—the union to the contrary notwithstanding. The card concludes with: "We demand the right to set prices in our own shops"—the word "demand" in heavy black-faced type.

If the union persists, it is likely to be the beginning of the end of its rule, altogether greatly weakened during the last few years, in that long-suffering town of Bakersfield.

PRISON REFORM.

The American Prison Reform Association, now holding its annual session at Seattle, is an organization that has excellent reason for its existence. If there is one institution in America that stands in need of reformation it is the American jail.

The most damning accusation brought against our prison system is that it operates almost entirely without discrimination. Usually—in fact, almost invariably—the same system of treatment is applied to the fiendish murderer and the conscienceless and hardened thief as to a thoughtless boy who has been committed to jail for his first trivial offense. Our prison system seems to be endowed with no more intelligence than an imbecile.

A visitor to almost any of the jails of this country wouldn't know from what he might observe with his eyes that there is any difference between the inmates. They are all locked up behind bars or confined in the unspeakable "tanks." The dangerous criminal and the mere harmless offender all look alike to the jail system.

The crime that the American law commits is to perpetuate criminals. The law throws a man into prison and then forgets that he is in existence. It does nothing whatever to make a better man of him and does a great deal to make a worse man of him. Moreover, the only way the law knows to deal with an offender is to put him in jail. Civilization is thousands of years old, but it is still as stupid, in many respects, as were our rude forbears of the stone age.

The atmosphere of the American jail reeks with coarseness, vulgarity, crime and brutishness. Often the trouble is not taken to select as prison officers men who are equipped and of the proper character to reform prisoners. Wardens, keepers and turnkeys are generally selected because of the services they have rendered to office holders and politicians.

It is true that the rules permit reform organizations to visit prisoners on Sundays, to sing hymns to them and to preach to them. But we doubt if these good people accomplish much. You seldom can get at a man's heart by singing to him and preaching to him while he crouches behind the bars of a prison cell.

The reform of a criminal is a process that demands time and untiring patience. His reformation cannot be brought about by brutal, blasphemning, coarse officials and keepers. He cannot be reformed by a system that actually prohibits even an attempt at reform. The whole business is wrong, and something must be done to make it right.

HOROSCOPE.

BY COZETTE.

Now doth a star occult inspire
Old embers with unkindled fire.

Uranus in trine, and Neptune in sextile, to the moon, mark this day.

This position of Uranus takes away much of its power for afflicting domestic affairs, married people and law, but still leaves enough menace to make it advisable to avoid quarrel and to guard against small beginnings of temper that may grow to large results of anger.

The planet is fortunate this day for undertakings out of the everyday routine, for changes of method and occupation, and for improving existing conditions.

Neptune, ruling for permanence and continuity, greatly aids the benefic aspect of Uranus toward betterment in all things. This should be, therefore, an exceedingly fortunate day for making good resolutions and proceeding forthwith to carry them into effect.

Ruling the eccentric and romantic faculties of mankind, Uranus favors art and science and helps students.

The planet favors the solution of spiritual problems and aids persons of insight to a better understanding of each other.

This day should be good for finding old errors that have long puzzled the searcher, for adjusting tangled accounts and for coming to settlement of disputed statements or of causes over which there has been long disagreement.

Teachers, lecturers, professors, historians, accountants, collectors, antiquarians, astronomers, students of the occult and moral sciences, mathematicians and naturalists should find the day auspicious for research and solution of problems.

Those with this birthdate are under aspects that usually grant great executive ability with spontaneous thought. They should cultivate self-rule to the utmost, that these qualities may be developed in the best direction.

Children are born today under signs indicating a highly developed psychic nature. They may suffer from a disposition to enlarge little troubles.

UNCLE WALT, WARBLER.

BY UNCLE WALT MASON OF EMPORIA.

Where Grows the Sunflower.

Out in the country the farmers are singing, out in the fields where the corn's growing rank; soon in their autos they'll come to town, bringing oodles of money to put in the bank. Shocked is the wheat, and the people who buy it also are shocked at the price they must pay; prices of produce stir people to riot—everything's soaring, from butter to hay. Out in the country the milk cow feels classy, prancing around on her long brindled legs; out in the country the hen's growing sassy, knowing the price that is placed on her eggs. Where is the farmer of old, who was ploddin' nearer the poor-house whenever he stepp'd? Where is the tiller and toiler downtrodden, over whose woes we have frequently wept? Where is that husbandman, painfully draggin' out an existence of sorrow and debt? Coming to town in his gasoline wagon, loaded with all kinds of bullion, you bet! Out in the country the prospect's beguiling, music and laughter are heard on the breeze; women are singing, their husbands are smiling—money is growing on bushes and trees!

MEN AND THINGS OVER TH[illegible]

A Crowning Delay.

King Ferdinand's coronation as Czar [illegible] has again been delayed on account of [illegible] preliminaries not having been complete[illegible] Bulgarian government. An Imperial Spiritualist.

Czar Nicholas is by no means [illegible] called deeply read, but he takes a gr[illegible] literature of the lighter kind, and [illegible] with the remark: "Were I not—well, [illegible] I should be the greatest bookworm i[illegible] One of his most curious hobbies—and [illegible] not curious when one considers his e[illegible] ous temperament—is the study of s[illegible] loves to get hold of spiritual mediums [illegible] ants and he is very superstitious [illegible] Some time ago a certain spiritualist [illegible] at the court, and it was rumored that [illegible] this man used frequently to arra[illegible] gether. Avalon.

My love besought me at the droop of [illegible]
When twilight showed its fading [illegible]
"Where is that isle of old called Ava[illegible]
The blessed isle where summer [illegible]
And happiness makes its eternal [illegible]
Has it, by some strange magic, [illegible]
Beyond the portals of the dusk and [illegible]
Hid from our mortal ken perchance [illegible]

Gazing within my love's upturned eyes
As violet-deep as is the evening [illegible]
And fairer far for me to look [illegible]
Unhesitant I answered in this wise—
"O tender heart of hearts, where's [illegible]
There evermore to me is Avalon."

Simpson's death is thought to have followed a series of efforts to escape from pursuers who had chased him for miles following his escape from the local jail, where he had been confined during a fit of temporary insanity brought on by heavy drinking. It is thought that he had laid down to rest and died from exposure.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

I seldom take up arms or the pen for the gas companies. Heaven knows they are abundantly able to take care of themselves, fight their own battles and collect their own bills. But I heard a tale the other day that is so funny I cannot resist telling it. A certain family returned to town after a month's camping. The first thing that greeted their eyes as they reached home was the gas bill sticking out of the mail box. Paterfamilias pulled it out muttering, "Big as usual, I'll bet, and not a burner lit in this house for the past month."

When his eye fell on the figures he simply exploded with wrath. It was quite double that of the preceding month. He cussed the gas company fore and aft and from side to side. He was so mad that he dropped his load of suit cases and bags and rushed right down to the gas office before entering the house. He tore up things generally but all the satisfaction he got was the customary, "My dear sir, the meter registered it. We will send an inspector out and see if it was not correctly read."

He tore home again and met his wife at the door. "Oh, John," she said, "don't you remember you heated some water in the teakettle for a shave just before we started for camp that morning? Well, dear, you forgot to turn the gas off and it's been going all the month day and night."

Camp Cooking.

While I was in camp I learned the secret of some nice breakfast and luncheon dishes easily prepared. Here is one of them which was particularly good. I watched my hostess prepare it and this is how she did it. First she tossed into the hot buttered frying pan some chipped beef and let it fry a few minutes. Then she added a cupful of seasoned cooked tomatoes and a tablespoonful of grated cheese. She let it cook together a few minutes and then stirred in a couple of eggs which she broke whole into the frying pan. Last of all she added about one-third of a cupful of condensed milk and stirred the whole until it was smooth and thick. It was a delicious breakfast dish and quickly prepared.

Another thing I noticed in the camp culinary department was that the man who made the biscuits buttered the tops before he slipped them in the oven. This insured a brown and crusty top when baked.

* * *

Camp Conveniences.

It's astonishing, too, the possibilities of an ordinary box in camp kitchens and pantries. The pantry is usually a tree adjacent to the spot set aside for dining-room or kitchen purposes. Nailed to the tree, one above another, are starch boxes and dry goods boxes—as many as you can beg, borrow or steal—and the more boxes you get the more shelves you have. A newspaper answers for a curtain and nails driven on either end of the boxes serve for hanging up stew-pans and cooking utensils. I saw an ingenious hat rack made by nailing up the limb of a tree and cutting off its projecting branches to the length of ordinary hooks.

A roll of chicken wire makes a fine bed and is easily carried on a three-day camp. Roll a pair of blankets inside the wire, which should be cut long enough to accommodate the height of the person whose bed it is to be. When you strike camp for the night, stretch out the wire and nail it top and bottom to logs or tree branches which will lift it from the ground a foot or so, spread your blankets on it and there you are—mounted above snakes and ground insects on a woven wire mattress, if you please.

* * *

Camp Clothes.

Best of all—when you are in camp you break away from the tyranny of clothes. One rule governs the etiquette of dress—khaki, denim and gingham—these are the materials most fashionable. She whose skirts are below her boot tops is hopelessly out of style. One woman who had never been camping before paralyzed us all by coming into camp with white embroidered petticoats. She was begging for the loan of a short khaki skirt when I came away.

Elk skin boots reaching half way to the knee and khaki or denim bloomers, worn with a collarless blouse, is the ideal camp dress.

It's a splendid place to finish up your old shirt waists—I mean those which have begun to break around the collar. Just cut the collar band off and round the neck out a little, facing it back with a bias band—and there you are. A bright girl in camp told me that she made it a regular practice to wear out her old waists and underclothes and finish up her three-fourths worn handkerchiefs each year in camp. It saves laundry bills, for she simply casts them aside when they are soiled. One usually accumulates half a dozen such sets of garments in a year and camp is just the place to finish them up.

She's a picturesque creature—the model camp girl—in her short khaki skirts, her tall elk skin boots, her jaunty khaki or straw hat with a gay scarf twisted round the crown perched on her head, one brim turned up and the other down. The mountains are full of them just now—climbing the trails, wielding the tennis raquet or knocking the croquet balls about—for all of these up-to-date mountain camps have their tennis courts and croquet grounds—riding horseback and burro-back, fishing the streams, swinging in the hammocks and lounging under the trees.

Camp Manners.

"Leave hammers at home, bring manners along" is another version of "enter without knocking; stay in on same condition," and it applies to camp life with great force. A woman—I can't say she was a perfect lady—arrived one day at the foot of the cañon. Several private automobiles were there about to make the run to the camp. The one public automobile was crowded and several would-be passengers were forced to wait till the second trip. Among them this woman. Not to be balked she coolly appropriated a seat in one of the private machines.

"Madam," said the owner, "this is a private conveyance."

"Is it going to the camp?" asked Madam.

"There's where I've started for," replied the owner.

"Then I go, too," replied his passenger. "I reserved a seat and some one else has taken it in the public auto."

All argument failed to remove her. She could not be pried off the seat, but held on relentlessly, claiming that her preengaged seat applied to any or all autos in sight.

When she rode triumphantly into camp it happened that every single tent, cottage, bed and cot was taken. She had failed to engage quarters and was forced to return in the next stage down the mountain.

The Call of the Camp.

Nowhere on all this continent, I believe, do people heed so conscientiously the call of the camp as here in California. Scarcely any one but breaks away for a few days at least to take a vacation in the mountains or beside the seashore. The custom is growing, too. One finds in camp as many ranchers and their families as city people. After the summer work on the ranch is done, the whole family pack up their camping outfit and make for the beach or mountains. I noticed a particularly attractive camp consisting of two or three tents. Growing ferns in rockeries constructed from stones picked up along the dashing stream added to the beauty of the place. I learned that it was occupied by a prosperous Claremont rancher and his family and I saw the head of the house deeply intent on broiling chicken on the hot stones he had ingeniously arranged for the purpose.

The People at Play—it is these midsummer holidays by sea and stream that make for happiness and health. A fortnight in camp will do more to drive away the terrors of nervous prostration than all the sanatoriums, all the physicians' prescriptions, all the osteopathic rubbing and all the Christian Science treatments in creation. Get next to nature. She knows how to soothe tired nerves, smooth the wrinkles in your brain, and straighten out your digestion. Give her a chance.

Fashions and Fads.

Large earrings are to be worn.

Jacket fronts appear again in bodices.

The rage for raffia shows no sign of abatement.

There is a Victorian tendency in evening costumes.

All sorts of black flowers are appearing in millinery.

Earrings have a great vogue on the other side of the water.

China silk waists will be worn until frost drives them out.

Wings trim many of the small hats for wear with tailor mades.

Dainty pink parasols are embroidered with flowers or lavender.

Medieval frocks apparently are leading back to the draped skirt.

Newest coat collars are large round affairs of Irish or Cluny lace.

The pannier dress is coming back, to the dismay of the short woman.

Ostrich feathers hold their own, but most of those now seen are curled.

Light, old rose tints are genuinely girlish colors for millinery purposes.

The veiling of one color over another is one of the fashions of the moment.

Curious and fascinating dog collars are made of old coins fastened together.

TO PROTECT PUBLIC.

Charity Committee to Indorse Worthy Philanthropic Bodies and Movements.

The plan of official indorsement of any charitable or philanthropic organization was determined upon at the meeting of the Charity Conference Committee yesterday morning in the directors' room at the Chamber of Commerce building. This action was taken as the result of an address given at the last meeting by Perry W. Wiedner, acting secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

The resolutions adopted yesterday state that the Charity Conference Committee will not indorse any organization, nor any plans to raise funds by any organization, unless careful investigation has been made by the Committee on Indorsement and Publicity and a favorable report submitted.

Any charitable or philanthropic organization desiring the official indorsement of the Charity Conference Committee must submit its application in writing to the secretary of that body, together with a detailed account of income and expenses (including salaries paid) and any further information that may be asked. Each indorsement will be valid only during the current fiscal year of the organization.

The Committee on Indorsement and Publicity was instructed to communicate with all commercial bodies and request their coöperation with the Charity Conference Committee.

Before the meeting adjourned Roy Smith Wallace, a member of the Child Welfare Committee of New York City, who is visiting his uncle, Councilman Wallace, spoke of the care given poor children in Gotham.

A new committee on correctional institutions was appointed and the report on the National Conference of Charities and Corrections at Buffalo was made by Delegate Spencer K. Sewell.

INJURED BY EXPLOSION.

Engineer, Although Severely Burned, Saves Employer's Property from Destruction.

J. A. Waite displayed remarkable coolness yesterday morning, when his clothing was set on fire and he was severely burned by the explosion of a gasoline engine.

In spite of the fact that he was suffering intensely, he gave his attention to saving the property of his employers from destruction by flames before he sought surgical aid.

Waite was formerly a street-car conductor. When his health became impaired, he obtained a position as engineer for the Hawthorne Wafer Company at the plant near his home, No. 2857 Howard street.

While he was starting the gasoline engine yesterday, there was an explosion and the flames enveloped him. He attempted to get out the door, but it had become wedged. He then crawled out of the window. His clothing was blazing from the waist up. He attempted vainly to beat out the fire with a sack and finally extinguished it by rolling on damp grass.

Seeing that the interior of the engine-house was on fire, he turned a garden hose into it and put out the blaze.

Waite was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the surgeons found that his arms, shoulders and back were severely blistered.

A LITERARY EXCURSION.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

LONDON, July 24.—Probably no French writer is better known to English and American readers than Pierre Loti, or to give him his full name and rank, Capt. Louis Marie Julien Viaud of the French Navy. The author of "Madame Chrysantheme" and Japoneries d'Automne" is no lover of English rule in the Orient, but he has been the lion of the hour during his visit to this country during the last week.

He was a guest last Friday at the dinner for the King and Queen, given at the American Embassy, and on the following day he had the unusual honor of being received by the Queen at Buckingham Palace.

It may come as a surprise to those who are familiar with the extremely modern and exotic character of Loti's writings to hear that he is a great admirer of Shakespeare. He is a humble follower of the bard of Avon, however, and a few years ago he produced in Paris a French adaptation of "King Lear," which, it is said, is quite one of the best translations of England's immortal dramatist in any foreign language. During his stay in England he made a pilgrimage to Stratford-on-Avon and examined with keen interest all the Shakespeare relics there.

At home in France Loti steeps himself in Orientalism. He spends his days wrapped in the costume of an Arab either writing or admiring the wonderful collection of oriental furniture and art treasures, which he has heaped up in his house at Rochefort. The house contains an Indian room, gloomy with the solemn figures of the gods of that country; an Arabian room, rich with divans and cool with fountains, and above all a mosque—a real, miniature mosque, where Loti spends hours stretched on an Eastern rug, in the study of the Koran. The mosque is on the roof of the house and every stone which entered into its construction was brought by Loti from Morocco. After it had been constructed Loti discovered that it looked on a wall and the roof of his neighbor's house instead of permitting a clear view of the heavens as demanded by the ritual. Loti at once had it demolished and rebuilt facing the right way.

Edward Clodd who was Meredith's lifelong friend has been telling some interesting stories about him, which have not been published heretofore. There has always been more or less mystery about Meredith's birthplace and parentage and for some reason he was always averse to talking about his origin.

"It happened," says Mr. Clodd, "that I was staying with him on the night when the last census was taken; March 31, 1901. He expressed satisfaction that I was there to save him the labor of filling in the details, and when these, so far as the servants was concerned, were duly entered, he was asked where he was born. 'Is that necessary?' 'Yes.' 'Well, put Hampshire.' 'Oh, that's too vague, you'll have the paper returned for a more definite answer.' 'Well, say near Petersfield.' And that was the nearest that I could get.

It is now established definitely that he was born at No. 73, High street, Portsmouth, and that his father was a naval outfitter.

The Rev. Dr. William Barry, the famous Catholic theologian, novelist and essayist, has been writing to a literary weekly complaining strongly of the plague of "bad books," which he declares is raging on every side. The books of which he complains are chiey fiction, the work of minor authors, but it is true, in the aggregate they have a very large circulation, and the advertisements by which they are liberally pushed are a frank appeal to the morbidly curious.

"I never leave my house," he says, "to journey in any direction, but I am forced to see, and solicited to buy, works flamingly advertised on which the gospel is adultery and the apocalypse the right of suicide. These highly charged explosives, a few years ago simply French, are now multiplied and multiplying in our English market. Is there no public opinion strong enough to forbid the display of them at railway stations?

"The woman clamors for free love, though she would be its most unhappy victim, an Ariadne in Naxos left behind at the sailing season by Theseus, intent on fresh adventures. Her partner talks polygamy, drugs himself with pleasure, and keeps the key of death in his pocket. Horrible as are the devil's tracts commending license at the springs of life, I am yet more appalled when I read dainty, eloquent sermons, which glory in self-murder.

"That immense upgrowth of pernicious books will bear fruit in character; it has done so already. What is the use of our reasoning on 'righteousness, temperance and judgment to come' in half-empty churches when the great circulating machines of literature pour out by the myriad volumes which deride self-control, scoff at the God-like in man, deny the judgment, and by most potent illustration declare that death ends all?"

Dr. Barry concludes by calling on the Home Secretary to investigate the situation he describes and to act on the information which he can collect without any trouble. Calling on the Home Secretary in this country is equivalent to calling on the police commissioner or District Attorney in America.

Much sympathy is felt in London for C. Arthur Pearson, proprietor of the "Daily Express," the "Standard," the "Evening Standard" and a string of provincial papers, as well as a number of weekly and monthly magazines, for his inability to take part in the Imperial Press Conference, which has just ended, and the festivities connected with it. There is no keener imperialist in England that Mr. Pearson, and no man has worked harder on the preliminaries which have made the conference the great success it has been. He expected to take a leading part when the editors of the Empire arrived in London, but just before their arrival Mr. Pearson had to undergo a series of operations on his eyes, and although they have been wholly successful, the surgeons have forbidden their patient to expose himself to any excitement or his eyes to any strain for some time to come. The garden party which had been arranged for the editors at Mr. Pearson's magnificent country home at Frensham Place was given in due course, but everyone felt that the party without Mr. Pearson was like Hamlet without the ghost. He was ably represented by his charming wife and his brother-in-law, Malcom Fraser, who is one of the editors of the "Standard."

Mr. Pearson is one of the giants of London journalism. He and Lord Northcliffe, who is better known as Sir Alfred Harmsworth, control nearly all the London papers that are worth having, and both are immensely rich men. Both started with nothing and developed a genius for finding out what the public wanted in the way of newspapers. It goes without saying that the rivalry between them is of the sharpest and sometimes of the bitterest kind. It reached its climax when the "Times" came into the market about a year ago. Mr. Pearson secured the first option, but when the old-fashioned shareholders, fearing that the "Times" would be modernized and "Americanized"—dreadful word—took the matter into court, Mr. Pearson rather than embarrass his friends threw up his option and withdrew from the fight. Lord Northcliffe then stepped in and captured the "thunderer" so quietly that no one except those who were actually parties to the bargain knew anything about it until it was too late to do anything.

It is giving away no secrets to say that Mr. Pearson will get his peerage from the next Conservative Government. He has been a thick and thin Protectionist and it is due chiefly to his efforts that Protection has now become the leading plank in the Conservative platform. Joseph Chamberlain always referred to him as "my chief hustler" in the early days of the Protective Tariff fight. He might have had a knighthood or even a baronetcy when Mr. Balfour went out of office three years ago, but he had no fancy for being Sir Arthur. It must be "My lord" or nothing.

Mr. Pearson's elevation will complete the trio of newspaper peers, which was broken by the death of the late Lord Glenesk, the proprietor of the "Morning Post." The other newspaper peers are Lord Northcliffe of the "Mail" and a host of other papers, and Lord Burnham of the "Daily Telegraph." Lord Burnham started life as Edward Lawson Levy. Then he became Edward Levy Lawson and his son, the heir to the peerage, is now the Honorable Harry Lawson, Mayor of Stepney, and M. P. for one of the East End constituencies in London.

CHARLES OGDENS.

A NEW CITY HALL "SUGGESTION."

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.

To the Honorable City Council of Los Angeles: I am informed your honorable body contemplates the purchase of a new City Hall for "Greater Los Angeles."

Will you pardon a suggestion? Looking forward, not only to less than a quarter of a century, within which time this city will have passed the million mark in population, but to half a century, when this city will rank third in the Union, as to population.

The city can learn an object lesson from the silly, unbusinesslike manner in which our government building and postoffice was carted about, from one rented property to another, for many years; (and when in such quarters, on Broadway near Sixth, I pleaded with the officials to buy an entire block near by for $125,000, now worth three millions,) but instead, the purchase was made of a two-by-four lot on Main and Winston, upon which it erected a crazy castle, covering the entire lot, of sufficient size for a town of 30,000 population, and in a few short years, torn down at an enormous expense. The government then allowed itself to become an object of charity and accepted a lot in a commercial cemetery, and now, erecting a "misfit" building to cover the entire lot, with no room for good light, air or to beautify with shrubbery, and in a location that will not justify surrounding buildings, in keeping with "Los Angeles Beautiful."

It may give credence to this suggestion for a future location, and of interest to your honorable body to call your attention, first, to a communication, over my signature, filed with your City Clerk some twenty-three years ago (and, while the City Council was casting about for a site for a City Hall just before the present miserable structure was built,) wherein, in behalf of Father Myers, I offered to the city for the sum of $100,000, the entire block, extending from Sixth to Seventh, from Broadway to Hill street, which offer was not only promptly rejected, but severely criticised as a wild, idle dream.

The block, today, free from buildings, is worth more than four millions of dollars. Before another quarter of a century shall have passed, with the Owens River water to increase our productions, with San Pedro harbor complete to afford vessels to load and pass through the Panama Canal, to unload said products so cheaply in the markets of Europe; with the great irrigating system now on foot in the West to induce a stampede West from the worn-out eastern farms; with the national capital removed to the center of population, in the Mississippi Valley—then, Horace Greeley's fondest hope will be more than realized.

Los Angeles can be made the "handsomest city" in the nation's garden.

The business center of the city will be somewhere on or near Pico street, between Main and Figueroa streets, therefore, why not now purchase not less than an entire block in that location, upon which, within the next three to six years with the return of prosperity, sell the present lots and build a beautiful City Hall, with spacious grounds to ornament, to the end that the citizens of that day can say: "The Council of 1909 were broad-minded men of good judgment."

Let me implore you, never, never disturb the Sixth street park, as a beauty spot and public comfort.

SOCIALISTS VISIT KING.

This Is Against the Rule in Germany and Party Voters Censure.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN (Germany) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a meeting of the Socialist leaders just held in Stuttgart a resolution was adopted making it a violation of party principles for a member of the organization to visit a royal personage.

Seven Socialist members of the Wurtemberg Landtag recently took part in an excursion, concluding with a visit to the ruling sovereign of the State, King Wilhelm. The leaders of the party have now adopted a severe vote of censure, declaring that the visit was a breach of fundamental Socialist principles which must not be repeated.

The chairman explained that the party had nothing against the King of Wurtemberg personally, and considered him a reputable person who was trying to administer his office according to his convictions, but it was impossible, said the speaker, for Socialists to have personal relations with a monarch. The case is arousing lively interest among German Socialists and the action of the Wurtemberg members of the party is considered by them to involve a dangerous precedent.

The Wise Way to Buy Soap.

The following is a piece of valuable advice from a celebrated singer, who is famous for her beauty as well as for her voice: Don't trust your nose when you buy soap for your toilet. A delicate and delightful scent may cover a multitude of impurities. Many finely scented soaps are made of rancid fats, or loaded with injurious chemicals that will ruin your skin. Some are doubtless pure, but how can you tell? Buy Harfina Soap and know that you are safe. Its odor is that of the pure, healing pine tar balsam of which it is made—one of the most soothing balmy and curative products in Nature's laboratory. Its effects show how good it is. It is deliciously refreshing. It soon makes the skin clear and velvety—no more roughness, redness, irritation and unsightly yellow 'dead' tints. The clear, clean bloom of a healthy skin is a prize beyond price—don't trifle with it." Don't you want to see what this famous soap will do for your skin? Ask your druggist or any of the following druggists for this splendid soap, 25c a cake, or sent by mail on receipt of 25c. Send for book, "The Care of the Skin."

THE flowers that bloom in the spring, tra, la, have no brighter fame than Miss Anna Bloom had yesterday when she played a big song card which counted for 12,000 and took her up in the score from fifteenth to thirteenth place, yet some people will insist that she is an unlucky number. It was the number until gentle Anna took it away from her and sent Grace, whose gain for the day was only 996, back to fourteenth place. Incidentally she also took a fall of David Boardman, whose gain of 1000 put him back a peg to fifteenth place. These three changes are the only ones that occurred in the line-up as the result of Tuesday's ballot-ing.

The Bloom started at the top of the column on June 26, where she remained just two days. Since then her gain has been gradual until she got over the 10,000 mark several days ago, but failed to go on the up-grade again. She crossed the 100,000 mark by a nice margin and is ready to plume her self for a still higher position. She has secured a club of five new yearly subscriptions yesterday and received credit for 10,000 points.

It will be next to play a trump card. Remember that "clubs" are the trumps in this game. The commission of a club of five new yearly subscriptions to the Daily and Sunday Times carries the getter of it to 10,000 points. A club of five new most of whom are entire strangers to her, and all of whom it is a physical impossibility for her to thank in person or by letter:

To those who have helped me:

Finding it impossible to answer all letters, but earnestly desiring to thank every one for their kindness, I must resort to this means of thanking all individually and collectively for their assistance. It is heartily appreciated and gratefully received.

Truly everybody's,

FLORENCE LAMBERT.

CHEERING MESSAGES.

Following are a few of the many cheering messages Miss Lambert has received:

Virginia Irene Stivers of No. 920 West Thirty-seventh street writes to Miss Lambert: "Dear Miss Florence: I can sympathize with you very much in behalf of the contest, because I myself was in the race of 1907 and won the scholarship of the U.S.C. College of Oratory, where I will enter upon my third year in September. Hoping you may always be going up instead of tumbling in the other direction, I am yours sincerely."

Ruth Earle Flynn of Huntington Park writes: "My Dear Miss Lambert: I noticed your name among the contestants in today's paper, that you were a cripple and from Michigan. I, too, was born in the Wolverine State, and am 18 years old. Wishing you success in your campaign, I am yours from Michigan."

"One Who Is Interested" writes from Covina: "As we are from the Buckeye State, we feel very much interested in Florence Lambert. We all hope she will be among the successful contestants."

A friend at Long Beach writes: "Will have a subscription for Miss Lambert in the course of a week or two."

"Just a Friend" writes: "Miss Lambert is a stranger to me, but I am a 'shut-in,' and my heart goes out to her."

Florence A. L. Wood of No. 340 South Lake avenue, Pasadena, writes: "Just as soon as I found you were an Ohio girl, I made up my mind to help you, as I am also an Ohio girl, coming here eight years ago from Toledo. I am sick, so I have not been out for a month or more. I hope these coupons will help you up that wonderful ladder of learning."

MISS PEDLEY'S GRATITUDE.

Miss Florence Pedley of Pomona desires to thank the many friends who assisted her with subscriptions and coupons, many of which were sent voluntarily to The Times for her. Among the places besides Pomona from which she has received support are the following: Los Angeles, Long Beach, Newport, Sunset Beach, Pasadena, Azusa, Covina, San Dimas, Lamanda, Buena Park, Redondo, Corona, La Verne, Lordsburg Spadra, Claremont, etc.

Miss Marion Brown of Los Angeles, aged 12, writes to Miss Pedley: "I choose you for my favorite, as your home, Pomona, is my birthplace."

A HELPER OF THREE.

"A very interested friend" writes: "I have watched the scholarship contest with a great deal of interest and pleasure and hoped to have saved up enough coupons to be of a little material help to the three young girls, two of whom have asked for the slips, and the third whom I have become interested in. As our subscription has been renewed for some time in advance, I fear the few points that I have to send will not count very much, especially divided into three parts as they are, but I send with them my sincerest wishes for the success of each—Miss Wilson, Miss Wagner and Miss Sargent—as well as to the others in the splendid list who are striving so worthily to obtain a scholarship which your paper so generously offers them."

FOR "LITTLE EVA."

Mrs. Lina G. Rhea, 545 East Third street, Long Beach, at the close of last week showed that her heart is in the right place by writing the contest manager as follows:

"Please find enclosed thirty-five coupons. These are for the dear little girlie at the end of the line, Miss Eva Kendall. If I had the money I would send one year's subscription for her benefit. I do hope this little bit will make her happy for a minute, anyway. With best wishes to Eva, I am yours truly."

Miss Lillian Trippensee, one of last year's prize winners, sent in a large bunch of coupons for "Little Eva."

J. P. Kendall of Covina, who is not related to Miss Eva in any way that she is aware of, sent her a six months' subscription.

FOR "MOTHER'S HOPE."

Mrs. A. L. Sivyer of 200 East Avenue 41, in remitting coupons for Caryl B. Runkel, said: "I answer the loud call sent out o'er the land for the lad who is 'His Mother's Hope.' I wish there were forty-five first places, so every earnest worker could be a top-liner."

Mrs. J. H. L., who designates herself as "a friend who knows good boys, having one herself," in remitting coupons for Master Runkel, says: "He is the boy for me, whose thought is for mother. May he win his coveted prize."

ELOCUTIONARY CONTEST.

At the meeting of the Los Angeles W.C.T.U. at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the First M. E. Church, an elocutionary contest will be held by the members of the Loyal Legion of Honor, composed of young people of the Los Angeles Orphans' Home. These young contestants for declaiming honors will be Fred Wilford, whose offering will be "The Mouse and the Boy;" Paul Farrell, who will recite "The Triple Pledge;" Francesa Eagle, with "Nellie's Victory;" Tillie Kohn, "Not Fit to be Kissed;" Marion Holmes will try for the prize with "How a Little Girl Emptied the Jug," and Harley Williams will recite "A Little Boy's Pledge." There will also be a musical programme, given by children who are friends of temperance.

FAINTS AND IS KILLED.

A fainting spell cost G. Tatlow, a laborer, his life yesterday. He fell into a trench twelve feet deep, sustaining a fractured skull and died almost instantly. Tatlow was employed by the F. O. Engstrum Company, which has the contract for putting in the foundation to the new fire engine-house at No. 228 Winston street. He was wheeling concrete from a mixer. Just after he had dumped a wheelbarrow full of the mixture into the trench, he suddenly toppled over. When other workmen pulled him out, life was extinct. The body was taken to Bresee Bros.' morgue.

DRAMATIC FOR HIM.

Michael Hallisey died at the Hospital of the Good Samaritan yesterday as a result of a gunshot wound in the neck, received at El Monte, August 11. DO NOT KNOW BUSINESS.

Court's Idea of Nine Thousand Nine Hundred and Ninety-nine Out of Ten Thousand Women.

"My long experience in the practice of the law and upon the bench has convinced me that not one woman in ten thousand knows anything about business," remarked Justice Pierce yesterday morning. In holding L. E. Bigler to answer to the Superior Court on a charge of embezzlement, the court took the occasion to state that in his judgment the prosecution failed to prove some points in the complaint, and that several things ought to be cleared up. He referred to the promissory notes which the defendant gave the complaining witness as evidence of his indebtedness. While admitting that they must be taken into consideration, Justice Pierce said that account must be taken of the lack of business knowledge displayed by Miss Thomson. He then delivered the oracular remark about women in general being deficient in business acumen.

Attorney John W. Satterwhite put up a strong fight in behalf of his client, but did not introduce any evidence for the defense. He said under the circumstances he prefers to save his testimony for the Superior Court, if the case ever reaches trial.

Flee from an Accident in Pasadena.

Machine Running on Wrong Side of Street.

Office of The Times, No. 24 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Aug. 18.—An automobile demolished a carriage containing Josiah Standing, his wife and two children on Lake avenue last night.

"Oh, mother is killed," cried the little daughter, Hilda.)

Two men heard her cry, and quickly climbing into the automobile, drove away, without offering assistance or even making inquiry in regard to the damage done or the extent of the injuries.

"I sincerely hope that some one will be equipped with a double-barreled shotgun and use it some time when a thing like that happens," said a member of the police department, who is working on the case. "I believe it is the only thing that will teach such men common decency."

Josiah Standing, a carpenter, was driving to his home, No. 1059 Denver street. Near the corner of Claremont Drive and Lake avenue, with the carriage on the east side of Lake, the automobile bore down upon him at high speed. The lights on the front of the machine barely flickered, and, as the hour was 8:30 o'clock, it was dark.

Standing tried to swing into the middle of the road, but the machine caught the rear wheels, tearing them from the body of the vehicle and throwing the occupants to the ground. Mrs. Standing's back was severely wrenched and the children were severely shaken up. Standing hurried to his horse's head, and, believing that his wife was either killed or severely injured, he had not opportunity to even notice the number on the rear of the automobile, which paused a moment and then sped on.

The automobile was on the wrong side of the road and was violating the speed ordinances of the city.

BRALY BUYS HOME.

Arthur H. Braly, banker and builder of the Union Trust building in Los Angeles, has purchased the residence of J. D. Gilleland at No. 201 South Orange boulevard and will make his home here.

The sale was consummated by Ernest H. Lockwood, who states that the purchase price of the house and grounds was $40,000. The furnishings of the establishment were sold separately. The property is situated on the southwest corner of Orange Grove and Mayfin streets, and has a frontage on the former thoroughfare of 125 feet, with a depth of 215 feet. A garage is with a garage capable of accommodating three automobiles, is included in the purchase.

Mr. Braly's father and mother will also come to live here. Gilleland, whose wife died recently, has returned to his former home in the East.

PROTESTS OVER CATS.

"Ring Tail Pete," a feline that is said to be king of a colony of cats, owned by Miss Rogers of No. 75 North Fair Oaks avenue, has been called into prominence.

The echo of his nightly yowls was heard at the City Council yesterday morning when Mrs. H. A. Huff of No. 71 North Fair Oaks avenue, addressed the city fathers, asking relief from her neighbor's felines.

She stated that several of the cats were sick; that some had died and had been allowed to lay about in the yard unburied; that one person had been taken sick and that a physician had stated the sickness was due to the unsanitary condition of the neighborhood surroundings.

Mrs. Huff asked that an ordinance be framed limiting the number of cats which one person may own.

Councilman Barnes stated that he has also received complaints from people who object to burros, pianos, parrots, puppy dogs and goats.

"Ring Tail Pete" was referred to the committee on Sanitation.

CONCERNING FINGER PRINTS.

Police Detective Joseph Shults has returned from San Francisco with a report from the department of that city in regard to the advisability of installing a system of finger-print records of criminals here.

Shults was surprised to find that officers of the San Francisco department attempted to dissuade him from adopting this system. They told that it is not entirely reliable for the reason that a criminal may disfigure the hand or his fingers and thus obliterate marks of identification. Chief of Police Favour has written to a number of different cities in regard to this system and merely has it under consideration.

STORM DRAIN STORMS.

The adopton of plans and specifications for a big storm drain by the City Trustees of South Pasadena, to cost $37,000, it is said, will occasion a storm of another character on the part of property owners within the proposed assessment district.

No objection has been brought into evidence as the resolution of intention has not yet been made public. As planned, the storm drain will extend from a point southwest of Raymond hill on the right of way of the Santa Fé Railroad to a point about two miles to the southeast where it empties into the big serving ditch of the Huntington Land Company, which is already equipped to handle the output for irrigation purposes.

The opposition will bring out the fact that the Santa Fé Railroad, whose big Raymond cut will be drained, and the Huntington Land Company, which, it is said, intends to utilize the storm water for storage purposes, will be the principal gainers by the big expenditure.

D. M. Linnard, just returned from a visit to his mother in the East, has instituted a new summer diversion—a trolley joy ride.

Yesterday afternoon the special car containing a party of thirty citizens, bound for Long Beach, where a plunge was enjoyed in the ocean and a big dinner was served at Hotel Virginia. The "trolley joy ride," under the chaperonage of D. M. Linnard, was started at the Overland Club and has been established as a weekly outing for the rest of the summer for members of the Overland Club and their friends.

CHRISTIANS ELECT AT LONG BEACH GATHERING.

Fullerton Man Receives the Honor. Vice-President for California and for Arizona Are Also Selected. Over-Cautious Motorman Takes Cars Into Ditch.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 17.—By unanimous vote C. C. Chapman of Fullerton was this morning the eighth time, elected president of the Christian Assembly of Southern California and Arizona. Other officers elected are: Vice-president for California, A. C. Smither of Los Angeles, vice-president for Arizona, W. H. Salyer; recording secretary, J. P. Ralston; treasurer, J. G. Warren; directors, E. W. Thornton, J. N. Smith, S. J. Chapman, F. M. Rogers, and D. C. Pixley.

In recognition of his many years' service on the board A. K. Crawford was elected treasurer emeritus. Chairman Ringe of the Enrollment Committee reported registration of 1581 delegates to date.

The Educational Committee recommended that the union of Disciples and Congregationalists in Pomona College be made more vital if possible but agreed to leave that matter entirely with the college trustees. The committee also recommended the sending of ministerial students to the Berkeley Bible seminary.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing the petition asking the elimination of barmaids from the approaching State fair at Sacramento and also expressing appreciation of the liberality of B. F. Coulter of Los Angeles in deeding properties valued at $100,000 to the trustees of the Broadway church and missions.

CARS DITCHED—NOBODY HURT.

Over-cautiousness on the part of Motorman Myers to prevent any accident to passengers alighting from another car, resulted this morning in sending two cars into the ditch at Dominguez tower. There was no injury to any one and minor damage to the cars. The accident occurred at 8:20 o'clock.

The north-bound car and trailer for Los Angeles, Conductor Meacham and Motorman Myers, stopped at Dominguez for orders. Another car south bound was unloading passengers. The target switch is out of order and the towerman gave a "high sign" signal to go ahead. Ringing his gong and watching to see that none of the passengers from the other car attempted to cross the track, Myers plunged into the derailing switch, and sent both his cars off the track into the ditch. Not a passenger received a scratch and not a single pane of glass was broken in either car. The truck springs of both were dislodged and thrown about twenty-five feet. A wrecker was sent for and soon had both cars on the tracks.

LONG WALK.

Richard Sloan and Charles Wilson, two clean looking and manly young men were given beds at the police station last night. They claim to be walking from Atlanta, Ga., to Grant's Pass, Or., and expect to reach there September 15. They must earn their way and not ride one step.

A sunflower stalk, thirteen feet six inches high was brought to the Chamber of Commerce room this morning by W. Penn Watson, who raises monster fruits and vegetables without irrigation. The stalk is crowned by a flower which is ten inches in diameter.

Upon being arrested last evening on the charge of committing a statutory crime Police Sergeant Phillips voluntarily surrendered his star. He was formally suspended this morning by the Chief. Phillips has engaged Attorney Knight to look after his interests and says he has no fear of the outcome. Phillips has a few bitter enemies but a host of personal friends who scout the idea of his guilt and have assured him of support.

Thomas Judson attempted to swim across the plunge this afternoon with a child on his back, but was in danger of drowning when the child became frightened and began choking Judson. Plunge Guard Maxey saw the danger, and went to the rescue, carrying both to safety.

Miss Carrie Hinton, a laundry employé, caught her hand in a mangle today and the hot metal burned her hand while the irons bruised the member until she fainted. The machinery was stopped and the young woman was taken home.

BONNIE BRIDE LOSES CURLS.

BARN DANCE IS STRENUOUS AT AVALON.

Women at Island Retreat Have Code Established for "Rat Shows Very Plainly"—Exigencies of the Situation at Beach Place Gives Rise to Custom of Signaling.

AVALON, Aug. 17.—Lost, three glossy curls belonging to one of the bonniest brides of the season. Mrs. Leo Youngworth, who dropped them in the crowded pavilion. It happened Saturday evening as she was tripping through the barn dance with her husband.

Every one was watching the graceful couple, and every one knew who they were, but who would have thought that those coquettish little curls adorning the back of the pretty coiffure were just pinned on? Perish the thought!

But the barn dance is a strenuous exercise, even for lissome young creatures, and in the midst of an intricate step, which might some forty years ago have been dubbed "cutting a pigeon wing"—something dropped. Mrs. Youngworth was seized with a terrible suspicion, a fair hand flew up to her head, and then she looked back, as did Lot's wife.

She was not turned to a pillar of salt. She only laughed with the rest of the throng, for a bald-headed wag was holding the precious curls to his shining pate, and dancing in the opposite direction.

Moral: Pin your curls on tight if you are to dance a barn dance.

Beach life is hard on hair, unless a woman is fortunate enough to have naturally curly tresses, and the exigencies of the situation at Avalon, where every one enjoys the dip in the deep every day has given rise to a curious feminine signal.

R.S.V.P., dropped casually in the course of a conversation, does not refer to any French phrase, whatever. The fair one to whom it is addressed, turns pale, and soon her hand is busy arranging her hair with little deft pats, for be it known that R.S.V.P. in a girl's parlance stands for. "Rat shows very plainly," and is more effective in producing instantaneous action than any football signal ever invented.

SAVES WOMAN.

A woman's scream startled the bathers near the pleasure pier this morning, and the crowd gathered on the beach looked out to see a struggle in the water and a young woman disappear beneath the waves.

Frank Zeigler an employé of the Metropole, tall and athletic, was standing on the floating wharf near by just ready for a morning plunge. As soon as the cry reached his ear he swam swiftly to the place where the figure had been seen.

He soon reached the frightened woman and swam with her to a barge out among the boats anchored near by. She had been suddenly overcome with a cramp, being quite a distance out, knew she could not save herself and screamed for assistance. The rescuer did not learn her identity, for her friends came with a boat in a few minutes and took her to shore.

"MARRIED."

"Married," was the wireless message, laconic and telling, received by Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Phelps of Los Angeles from their son, George Phelps, a few days ago, and the message was followed Sunday by the arrival on the Cabrillo of their son and his newmade bride, who was Miss Mary Bunk of New York.

No one in Los Angeles had been informed of the marriage, which occurred in New Jersey a fortnight ago, and the news will be of interest to a large circle of family friends.

"We were taken completely by surprise," said Mrs. Phelps, when asked about her son's marriage, "but we have all lost our hearts to the bride." The young people will make their home in Los Angeles.

WOODLESS IS BOAT'S WAIT.

GERMAN LINER ELLA ARRIVES AT SAN PEDRO.

Delayed at Little Guatemala Port in Expectation of Forest Product Which Did Not Come—Brings Details of Conditions Following Earthquake at Acapulco.

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 17.—Fifteen days behind her schedule the German steamer Ella of the Jebsen & Ostrander line arrived here early this morning from Central American and Mexican ports. Most of the delay was due to waiting for cargo at Tulate, a little Guatamela port, where officers expected to load hardwood timber. For two days the Ella rolled in the surf firing line after line from guns to the shore before she could be made fast. Then she waited for eight days more for the timber to arrive and finally left without it. On account of this delay it has been found necessary to make a new schedule for both the Ella and her sistership, the Erna, between Victoria and Corinto.

The Ella called at Acapulco, the Mexican town destroyed by earthquake July 31, three days after the disaster. Several distinct shocks were felt in the bay, while the vessel was there. The town, built of low adobe houses, was practically destroyed, although most of the buildings are still standing, the walls rent with great cracks.

There were thirteen passengers for Los Angeles, most of whom boarded the vessel at Mazatlan. Of these A. L. Walters and family, J. E. Ford and wife, J. A. Dickson and J. E. Sanger are engaged in mining. They report that mining has been very dull in Mexico, but prospects for improvement are good. Mrs. G. A. Ward is the wife of the manager of the water system at Mazatlan and comes to Los Angeles to place her daughter, Mabie S. Ward, in school. K. F. Flanders is a Mexican rancher. Mrs. Maria Yrebarnegaray is the wife of a Mazatlan merchant who came north to visit Los Angeles relatives.

Passengers report much uneasiness in Mexico on account of political conditions. In Sinaloa, particularly there is much dissatisfaction over the election of Iegas Redo as governor to succeed the late Gov. Carredo, who died a few months ago, and who next to President Diaz was very popular in Mexico among Americans and natives alike. His successor is a son of the secretary of the late governor and is not popular, largely on account of his aristocratic tendencies. His election had not been officially announced when the Ella left Mazatlan, but it is known to have been an accomplished fact.

Among the through passengers bound for Seattle is G. M. Dodwell of London, England, a son of G. B. Dodwell, president of Dodwell & Co., limited, the English shipping agents. He has been investigating trade conditions in Central America and Mexico. His company is agent for the Mexican-Oriental Steamship line, now operating three steamers direct from Salina Cruz to the Orient.

The harbor of Salina Cruz he thinks has a great future as has also that at Mazatlan, the terminal of the Harriman line down the west coast of Mexico, where the Mexican government is preparing to build a big breakwater. Mr. Dodwell has not much praise for the other Mexican and Central American ports.

The Ella brought no freight for this port, but is loading 500 tons of plaster, asphalt and cement for Seattle. She will sail north tomorrow.

The report from Portland that a traffic alliance has been formed between the Hill railroads in the Northwest and the North Pacific Steamship Company to permit the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads to get a slice of the California trade was confirmed here today by officials of the steamship company.

Ever since Hill built the North Bank road down the Columbia it is said he has been after this trade. The new arrangement will mean a heavy increase in the business of the steamers Roanoke and George W. Elder, now running regularly between San Pedro and Portland. Freight for Los Angeles originating at any station on the Hill lines will hereafter be routed by steamer from Portland and all freight from California ports for the Northwest will be turned over to the Hill road there.

In closing this deal with Charles P. Doe, manager of the North Pacific Steamship Company, Hill is said to have pointed out that the steamers would get the bulk of the California business originating in or destined for the Northwest. It is said that two more steamers have already been purchased on the Atlantic to be put on the San Pedro-Portland run as soon as the business becomes too heavy for the Roanoke and Elder.

Three city officers whose offices were abolished by consolidation desire to have their books exported before turning them over to the Los Angeles officials. These are City Treasurer Weldt, City Marshal Baker and City Clerk Mason. Requests were made of the City Trustees this afternoon to employ an expert accountant to go over their books. Dr. Phibbs was suggested by the City Attorney for the position. The salary was fixed at $10 per day, with $5 per day for assistance.

The City Trustees gave notice today that the last meeting of the board will be held next Tuesday at which it is desired that all demands of whatsoever nature against the city of San Pedro be presented. Little business was transacted today other than instructing the clerk to advertise for bids for an automobile fire engine.

LIFE AND LIMB TO BE SAVED.

"Pay-as-You-Enter" Cars to Be Used Here.

Huntington Is Enthusiastic Over New System.

Practically Removes Danger of Accidents.

The Los Angeles Railway Company definitely decided yesterday to adopt the pay-as-you-enter system and thirty of the present yellow cars will be rebuilt, conforming to this type, for operation on Central avenue. This proving a success, the whole system will be equipped with the new coaches as fast as possible.

When in the East last spring, Mr. Huntington made a careful study of the "pay-as-you-enter" type of cars used by the Metropolitan system in New York and is enthusiastic over their operation.

The car shown will be improved upon; it will be longer, with open ends and double entrances and exits at each end.

The "pay-as-you-enter" car has been adopted by several of the larger cities. With the exception of Portland, which has twenty-five cars in use and an order out for thirty more, Los Angeles will be the first city on the Pacific Coast to adopt the system. San Francisco may adopt it.

The principal feature is the practical elimination of danger in boarding and alighting from a coach while it is in motion. The conductor is at the rear platform all the time where he can watch closely the movements of passengers. Seventy-five per cent. of street car accidents are caused by passengers attempting to get on or off a car while it is in motion, and experiments in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other cities show this danger is almost eliminated by the new system.

Other important features are facilitating fare collections and maintaining faster schedules. The cars were designed in 1905 and 3000 are in use in the United States and Canada.

The patented arrangement consists of a curved rail forming two separate passage ways for entrance and exit at the rear of the car, and an exit controlled by the motorman at the front. A box is at the rear in which passengers deposit their fare as they enter the car. Passengers are not allowed to enter the car at the front.

Educating passengers to have the correct fare ready to deposit on entering cars is the greatest drawback, but in the East this has been accomplished after thirty days' operation. At the end of the first month, 95 per cent. of passengers provided themselves with change.

The Pay-as-You-Enter corporation does not make or sell coaches; it leases, for the seventeen years of its life, the patent. The cost of remodeling a car is approximately $400.

Pay-as-you-enter cars were first used in Montreal, in 1905, and 300 are now in service.

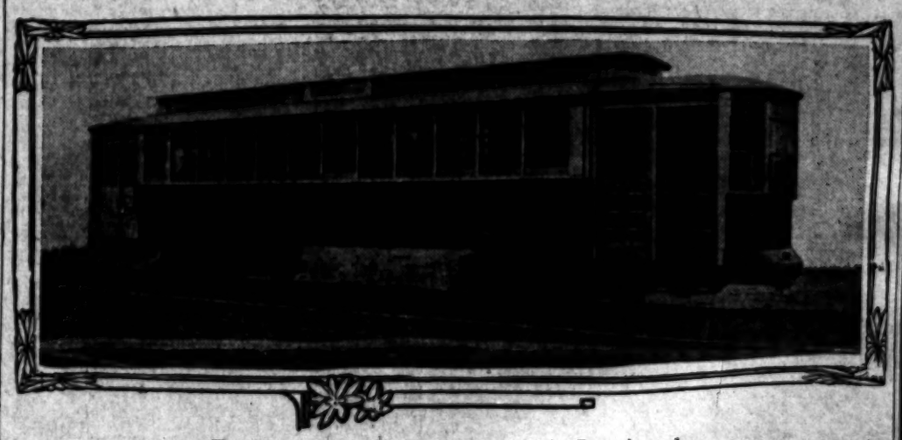
In this country Chicago was the first city to realize the possibilities and 700 are in use.

In Chicago an increase in fare collections of from 6 to 15 per cent. is reported; decrease in fatalities, 26 per cent., and of all accidents, 5 per cent. Platform accidents were practically eliminated during the first year.

New York adopted the style in 1908 and the Metropolitan and Third-avenue companies have 900 cars in operation now.

In Newark, N. J., the entire trolley system is equipped with "P.A.Y.E." cars. St. Louis has 250 in service and Columbus and Cleveland, O.; Washington, D. C.; Des Moines, Iowa; Milwaukee, Wis.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Ithica, N. Y., and Buffalo are using the coaches.

In Ottawa, Edmonton and Calgary the municipalities require the use of "pay-as-you-enter" coaches.



Pay-as-you-enter Cars to Be used in Los Angeles.

Thirty of this type, but with the present open ends, will be reconstructed at once for the Central-avenue line, and all Los Angeles Railway cars are to be similarly arranged as fast as they are rebuilt.

GOES TO ATTORNEY.

Consolidation Matter When Presented to Belmont Heights Trustees Is Referred.

BELMONT HEIGHTS, Aug. 17.—At a meeting of the City Trustees of Belmont Heights last night, the notice of the Long Beach City Council on the pending election on consolidation was presented and referred to the City Attorney for an opinion to be given next Monday night.

The Assessor reported the total taxable valuation to be $1,300,000 and the board fixed by resolution a current tax rate of 40 cents on the $100, which it is thought will raise sufficient revenue for the year.

Complaints that the Belmont Café was not being run according to the ordinance led the Trustees to decide that the place had better be legislated out of existence. An ordinance eliminating restaurants from the liquor ordinance was passed to its second reading.

Coronado rates always reasonable.

This Cat Is a Traveler.

J. Warren Folsom of Lowell, Me., has a remarkable cat. Last spring, Mr. Folsom moved from his mother's home to his own, a distance of five miles. The cat was taken in a box in the evening from his mother's home to his. The cat has developed the habit of going back to its former home and staying a day or two, and then returning to the new home and staying two or three more days, and again going back with great regularity.—[Lexington Journal.

Car Manners Test Religion.

You can tell a genuine Christian by his street car manners, says Bishop W. A. Quayle. "If you are hanging on a strap in a crowded street car and the conductor calls out 'step forward, please,' and there is no place in front where you can step forward, the way you act will be a test of your religion.

"If you are a woman and a man gives you his seat and you act as if you thought it was your right and not his kindness that gave you the seat, the way you act will test you more than answering questions in theology.

"It is not how you treat some big body, but how you treat a little urchin, dirty and in tears, that tests your religion.—[Chicago Tribune.

CASH IS READY FOR HOSTELRY.

NEW ARLINGTON MAY RISE FROM RUINS OF BURNED ONE.

Meanwhile, Dining-room Will Be Installed in Annex, Which Was Not Damaged by Flames—Safe Not Yet Cool Enough to Open—No Tennis Tournament.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 17.—There are reasons to believe that a new hotel will take the place of the Arlington, which was destroyed by fire Sunday evening. Within a few days, it is expected, there will be a meeting between Theodore S. Hawley, representing the Hawley estate which owned the Arlington; Harry D. Clark, who was its manager, and several citizens, who have expressed their desire to own stock in a new hostelry.

There was a mortgage of $25,000 on the Arlington held by the Spalding family, but the insurance was $40,000. The annex, which was built at a cost of $30,000, was not damaged by the fire and as it has rooms for a hundred or more guests, a dining-room will be installed at once.

A new building must, under the city ordinance, be fireproof.

Streams of water were kept playing on the ruins until noon Monday and it will be a day or so more before the safe, which contained several thousand dollars in cash and jewelry, can be opened.

Santa Barbara loses this year its annual tennis tournament. Through a disagreement with the Southern Pacific over rates, the tournament at the Potter, first scheduled for July 14, 15 and 16, was postponed until this month, and now it is found that California's star players, at present competing on eastern courts, will not be back in time to play anywhere before the Del Monte tourney begins, September 3.

INDIANS GET READY.

Red Men on Pala Reservation Prepare for Celebration Near End of Month.

PALA, Aug. 17.—The Pala Indians are getting ready for their annual fiesta in celebration of San Luis Rey Day, the 25th inst. The festivities will begin on the 24th, and continue through the week, with many Indian features, such as war and fire dances, peiote, gome and peon.

There will be American sports also, racing, rooster-pulling and football. Indian boys always play a good ball game, the Pala Indians being no exception. The Indian games and ceremonials will, of course, be the most noteworthy, the more so because it will not be long before they are entirely past history. Even now the songs that accompany the war and fire dances can be given only by the old people, for to the Indian youth they are unintelligible.

Spacious ramadas are being erected to shelter the restaurant booths and dancing platforms. That it will be orderly goes without saying, for since the present superintendent, Philip T. Lonergan, frowned on the liquor traffic, there is no better behaved community in the country than that on the Pala Indian reservation.

Escondido Commercial Body Receives Word from San Diego About Good Roads Bonds.

ESCONDIDO, Aug. 17.—A letter has been received from the Chamber of Commerce in San Diego by the Business Men's Association here to the effect that there is no animosity in San Diego toward the people of Escondido on account of the vote which was cast in the two Escondido precincts against the good roads bonds.

A clash is on between the City Trustees and the Business Men's Association regarding the occupation tax, which the business men wish repealed. The Trustees, however, have amended the measure, and propose to enforce it. The business men contend that they favored the tax for the employment of a night watchman, which service has been discontinued.

The school trustees have secured from five Los Angeles and San Diego architects competitive sketches for the $50,000 grammar school building. The selection will be made within a few days. The probable site of the new building will be on Dakota street, between Lime and Maple.

HOSTELRY BURNS.

Fire Destroys Hotel Edinburgh of Beaumont—Built Nineteen Years Ago.

BEAUMONT, Aug. 17.—In a fire marked by narrow escapes of guests and replete with spectacular incidents, Hotel Edinburgh, the second largest hostelry in Riverside county, was destroyed last night. The building, which was of frame construction, burned very rapidly and gave several guests a nip-and-tuck struggle to save their lives. The loss is estimated under $45,000. There is $10,000 insurance.

The building, which was 85x115 feet, and three stories high, contained seventy rooms, completely furnished. The establishment was operated by David Cochrane, formerly proprietor of the Hotel Holyrood of Riverside. At the time of the fire, Mr. Cochrane was absent from the city, but his wife was in the building when the blaze was discovered.

So intense was the heat that the trees and shrubs in the four-acre park surrounding the building were scorched and disfigured. Fortunately there was no wind.

Hotel Edinburgh was constructed in 1890 by F. P. Sigler, original founder of the town of Beaumont. He spent $44,000 for the building and furnishings.

In the panic of 1893 Sigler became bankrupt, and the property passed to a San Francisco bank under foreclosure. From that time until August, 1907, the building was closed. Then the Beaumont Land and Water Company purchased the hotel, the townsite, lands and water from the bank, and the hotel was reconstructed and refurnished.

STORY OF SWINDLING TOLD IN SAN DIEGO.

Man Arrested in San Francisco, Is Stated to Have Worked His Wiles on Two Men in the Southern City. Tale of Swell Entertaining and Nipped Confidence.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 17.—Parading under the guise of a wealthy silk manufacturer, a man giving his name as William T. Belding of New York, succeeded in fleecing two San Diego men out of $1000 within the short space of a few hours. Belding came to grief in San Francisco, where he was arrested late last night on telegraphic advice from Chief of Police Wilson of this city.

According to a story told by William Cross, a local haberdasher, Belding's operations here were audacious and successful. Arriving Friday an absolute stranger, Belding engaged a fine suite of rooms at Hotel del Coronado. He employed a Jap at the hotel as his valet. As his wardrobe was scant he hired an automobile, brought his Jap servant along and stopped at the store of Cross. He made purchases of silk underwear aggregating $95.

In payment he tendered Cross a draft of $100 on a San Francisco bank. So smooth was the stranger's talk that Cross accepted the draft and furnished $40 in change. This was sufficient to enable the stranger to order a dinner at the hotel. He invited Cross to be his guest, telling the latter that he had $10,000 on deposit in the San Francisco bank. The smooth swindler proved a swell entertainer and after dinner the couple met E. J. Shipman, a wealthy New Yorker, who had heard of the Beldings as silk manufacturers.

Saturday Belding again visited Cross at his store and asked that he be accommodated with an indorsement of a draft for $400. Cross accompanied him to the American National Bank and indorsed the draft. Previous to his visit to Cross, Belding had secured a similar favor from Shipman for a $500 draft. Saturday night, with a few grips as all of his personal belongings, Belding slipped away from Coronado and caught a steamer for San Francisco. Yesterday two drafts, each for $500, were returned to the local bank as worthless. The $400 draft of Cross had been raised to $500. An officer has been dispatched to San Francisco to bring Belding here.

LICENSE-SWITCHING SCHEME.

The alleged secret of the cause of revoking John R. Seifert's retail liquor license is out. The management of the new U. S. Grant Hotel is to profit thereby.

Under the provisions of the charter, no more than fifty-five liquor licenses can be issued. The number has been up to the limit for several years, and, with no prospect of any saloon-keeper going out of business, it became necessary for some plan to be evolved whereby the hotel was to be granted a permit without the cost of buying out some established business.

Seifert is said to conduct a flourishing wholesale business. It was argued that it was not necessary for him to conduct a retail trade. While it was proven to the satisfaction of the Council that he had defaulted his license, Seifert's friends say he was made the "goat" in order that the hotel could be accommodated.

At any rate, the hotel company this morning made application for a license and a member of the Council said there is no doubt that the same will be granted.

President Taft will not visit San Diego in his forthcoming trip West. Repeated efforts on the part of the Chamber of Commerce to induce him to spend one day in this city proved unavailing. A letter to acting Mayor Sehon from Fred W. Carpenter, private secretary, states that it is impossible for the President to stop in San Diego, as the present itinerary cannot be changed so as to give time necessarily required to make a visit here.

Be cool at Hotel del Coronado.

SANTA ANA TRUSTEES ACT ON THE MATTER.

Whether There Will Be a Bond Election for the Purpose or the Adoption of a Plan for Subscriptions Remains to Be Determined. Representative Is Appointed.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 17.—The City Trustees, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and Chamber of Commerce have started in on a campaign for more parks. Whether there will be a bond election to raise $35,000 for the purchase of sites and establishment of parks or a campaign of subscription has not been decided upon.

City Trustee J. Wiley Harris was appointed by the City Trustees last night to represent the board in the campaign.

Harris proposed that the city buy a block adjoining Birch Park on the west. He said he thought property owners in the neighborhood would subscribe nearly the whole amount needed for the purchase.

Trustee V. E. Blodgett suggested that the city make an effort to get twenty-three acres east of the Santa Fé racks, extending from Fourth street to Depot street. Every Trustee favors this project.

SCHOOL TAX LEVIES.

County School Superintendent Mitchell has approved special school taxes for the following districts: Anaheim, $2600; Bay City, $460; Fullerton, $1000; La Habra, $400; Laurel, $200; Loara, $800; Olinda, $2000; Santa Ana, $14,000; Santa Ana High School, $24,000; Springdale, $150. Levies will be made to raise these amounts in addition to the regular school tax. The minimum amount to be raised in this county for schools under the State and county levy is $83,053, as against $50,693 for last year.

VOTE ON SCHOOL SITE.

The city school board last night held a mass meeting with the residents of the northwestern part of the city and left it to a vote of those present as to which of some eight sites offered should be taken for a new schoolhouse. The citizens voted in favor of accepting the offer of A. F. Morton of two acres at the corner of Seventeenth and Greenleaf streets for $4500, provided the city will give the school sewer connections. It will cost $5000 to extend the sewer to the site.

A horse and buggy stolen from F. W. Garlock of South Santa Ana on Friday night was found at Northam Station on Sunday, the horse having been tied to a tree by the thief, who evidently drove to the station to catch a train.

German Bride Who Deserted Husband and Eloped With Sweetheart Is Sadly Disappointed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The immigration officials have shattered the romance of 15-year-old Beatrice Mayer, who left her husband of a few months and eloped to this country with her first sweetheart, Adolph Grohman, a youth of 22. The young couple, who have a plentiful supply of money, and whose refinement apparently verifies their claim of kinship with prominent families at Prague, arrived here on a steamship Sunday. Mrs. Mayer was accompanied by her maid and all of them had first cabin passage.

They would not have been disturbed in their desire to land had not a cablegram preceded their arrival. It was from Mrs. Mayer's husband, and asked that they be detained. A special board of inquiry has decided that the man and Mrs. Mayer and her maid must be deported. Before the board Mrs. Mayer made an impassioned plea to be allowed to land.

"Adolph was my school companion, and we have loved each other for years," she said. "We wanted to marry, but my folks objected. They wanted me to marry a banker. I resisted as long as I could, but in the end they forced me into this objectionable marriage. I never loved my husband, but I do love Adolph. After four months of married life I decided that the only way to avoid a life of trouble and unhappiness was to run away with Adolph."

Federal Supreme Court Justice Charles D. Elliott, who was appointed by President Taft, last May, arrived at Manila yesterday on the liner Mongolia and assumed the duties of his position at once. Justice Elliott went to the Philippines after years of service on the bench in Minnesota.

HOUSEHOLD REMEDIES

which have stood the test of time deserve a place in the medicine chest of every family. Mothers are today administering to their children the remedies their grandmothers used.

For thirty years, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been curing the women of this country from the worst form of female ills, and merit alone could have stood such a test of time and won such an enviable record.

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

The scenario of the recall drama is unfolding and your Uncle Aleck has taken his place in the center of the stage as the real hero. Having been in the wings for a week watching his preliminary petitions in the ante-climax of the first act the venerable office-holder got his cue yesterday and came out for a hand.

Which is intended to mean that Uncle Aleck would be Mayor again. This has been sufficiently obvious ever since he was elected. His ruse of having the fifty-seven varieties of the recall set petition him to consent to be a candidate was transparently puerile.

Petitions, signed by members of the inner circle of the recall set, were circulated early in the game to give color to a demand that he run. At the same time he was so impatient to give his consent that he did not wait for all the petitions to be returned to the executive office.

In the petitions, signed by the fifty-seven, is a paragraph averring that the Mayor, during a crisis, brought the city back to safety. "Having saved the city in one crisis," the petition emanating from Lissner's headquarters manufactures another "crisis" for the special vehicle of Uncle Aleck to make another campaign in.

Uncle Aleck concurred in all this in a public announcement of his candidacy yesterday. He admits both crises and acknowledges that he must again save the people. His allusions to his past and the promise of his future are rather self-glorifying, but he is at his best in the last phrase—"I consent to become a candidate for Mayor."

In this announcement he rigs up several bogies that the recall set intends to spin around at a lively rate during the coming campaign, particularly the "pitfalls" that are being prepared for the unsuspecting municipality.

The whole programme has been engineered by Meyer Lissner and is responsive to his effort to gain control of the municipal government. Knowing how his open identification with the Mayor's candidacy would offend many of the set, he has hidden behind the Good Government Fund, which is to finance the recall campaign. Uncle Aleck is to be the stalking horse of the Earl-Lissner programme in the guise of a "good government" candidate. It might be well to remember the tale of Sinbad the Sailor and the Old Man of the Sea when remembering the "crises" and other things depicted by the recall agitators.

Five more candidates added their names to the list of those taking nomination blanks from the City Clerk's office yesterday. E. E. Johnson, always a regular Republican, started his petition for renomination for Tax and License Collector. John W. Shenk, Assistant City Attorney, is the first of the legal department subordinates to seek the shoes of Hewitt. Three men —W. H. Gilbert, M. L. Starin and C. E. Kenney—will try for the Council. This makes the total number in eight 103, but nearly as many more are promised before the first day for filing—September 13. After that date belated candidates may file petitions until October 7. It is not unlikely that the direct-primary device may present the voters with a ballot as big as a three-sheet poster before the gong sounds.

GAMBLING DEN PASSES.

Famous Palace in New York Where Millions Have Been Staked to Become Restaurant.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The famous gambling-house of Gottfried Walbaum, in West Thirty-third street, the most gorgeously furnished palace of chance in this country, is about to be thrown open to the public as a restaurant. Until Dist.-Atty. Jerome had a memorable interview with Walbaum, the house was the resort of many millionaires and the games played there were for enormous stakes.

The place was furnished after designs supplied by Stanford White, who was killed by Harry K. Thaw, at a cost of more than $350,000. A magnificent carved bronze door, seven inches thick, was brought from Italy at a cost of $25,000, to serve as the main portal. The carving on the staircase cost $11,000. Canvas ceilings by famous artists cost upward of $50,000. Hand-carved tables and chairs throughout the house cost from $500 to $1000 each. Every room is hung with rich portieres and tapestries.

The man who has leased the place will retain the building just as it is and will operate it as another of New York's many all-night restaurants.

GOAT FEVER IN UTAH.

Forty Cases of Illness and Numerous Deaths Among Those Who Handle Animals.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) Aug 17.—Dr. John Sundwall, bacteriologist of the University of Utah, is in pursuit of an unknown germ to which are attributed forty cases of illness and numerous deaths in Kane county, Utah.

Because of its prevalence among persons who herd and handle goats, the disease has been given the name of "goat fever." Physicians who have attended the sufferers have been unable to identify it with any recorded malady. An extremely high temperature is one of the symptoms.

Dr. Sundwall spent several days in Kane county and made an exhaustive investigation of the cases now under treatment. He brought back hair, ticks and other appendages of the goats and is subjecting them to microscopic and other tests. When these are finished he will report his findings to the State Board of Health.

JUNKET TO HAWAIIANS.

OGDEN (Utah) Aug. 17.—A Congressional party of twenty-five statesmen from the East will arrive in Ogden on Sunday afternoon en route to San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands. The party is headed by Hon. J. B. McClellan and many of the Congressmen are accompanied by their wives. They are traveling in a special car.

The Crockery Department Moves Saturday

That's why we want to sell all we can and save the risk of breakage. Lots go AT HALF AND LESS.

You've moved. You've had some of the very choicest of your china possessions broken. You've had just the experience that we want to keep out of just as much as we can. We know that moving the China Department to the big basement is going to add facilities to the department that are unequaled elsewhere, but all that only AFTER the move. We don't want to move more than we can help. We'd rather LET YOU HAVE THE BENEFIT than suffer the loss of breakage with a benefit to no one. That's simple logic, isn't it? We can't begin to tell you of all the bargains we're offering. Here are just a few examples:

$1.25 Decorated Bowls and Pitchers, each 50c
20c Decorated Mugs and 35c Brush Vases, choice 5c

Set of 6 Handled Lemonade Glasses, now only 25c

GLASSWARE is also reduced in proportion to the same kind of markdowns mentioned in the China Section. All goes to the Basement. Buy it cheap, before we break it. We're quite willing to suffer the loss, rather than risk the move.
